U.S. 'Ready' to Leave If Pull-Out Is Mutual

Enemy Says Offers Are 'Deceitful Trick'

PARIS (AP) — North Vietnam and the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front today strongly denounced the United States and South Vietnam for seeking private talks on a Vietnam settlement, but failed to slam the door finally on the proposal.

The Viet Cong's representative, Tran Buu Kiem, called the offer from Saigon for private talks a maneuver ordered by President Nixon to cover a "policy of intensifying the war."

North Vietnam's Ambassador Xuan Thuy, speaking at the 10th full-scale session of the peace talks here, said the offers of private conversations by Nixon and President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam were "a deceitful trick to calm public opinion."

The formal statements had the appearance of rejection but neither said it would not talk privately. Thus, though the statements were bitter and denunciatory in tone, they had the look of hard bargaining for position, which could go on a long time.

Both made it plain that one of the main obstacles to progress was U.S. refusal to talk directly to the NLF as a separate political entity. Both also indicated that Thieu must drop whatever strings were attached to his offer, such as rejection of the whole idea of a coalition government and rejection of the demand for U.S. troop withdrawal.

"Of late," said Thuy, "in the face of the demand of world and American opinion that the new U.S. administration adopt a new policy for a peaceful settlement of the Vietnam problem, President Nixon and some responsible members of the U.S. administration have made vague statements about some progress having been made at the conference, about private meetings and so forth, in an attempt to calm down public opinion."

"For the same reason on March 25, 1969, Nguyen Van Thieu, representing the Saigon administration, the warlike and Fascist administration paid by the United States... declared his readiness to conduct private talks with the NLF. At the same time he opposed the withdrawal of U.S. forces from South Vietnam, refused the establishment of a coalition government and demanded the dissolution of the front."

This, he said, on "orders of the Nixon administration," showed the Americans and South Vietnamese were trying to hinder the talks here.

The vigor of this attack, however, did not preclude a possibility, bruited about in the United States, of current direct contacts elsewhere between Hanoi and Washington.

The front's Kiem accused the Nixon administration of "obduracy and hypocrisy."

If the United States "really wants to settle the Vietnam problem, it must hold direct talks with the NLF," Kiem said. The United States has refused to talk directly with the Front as a separate political entity.

Kiem said President Nguyen Van Thieu offered to hold private discussions to "cope with public opinion in the United States and throughout the world, which indignantly condemns the United States and for

Military Called Hungry for War

WASHINGTON (AP) — A war-hungry military shot through with interservice rivalry is pictured by former Marine Commandant David M. Shoup as encouraging the Johnson administration to widen the Vietnam war in 1964.

The general, who retired from the Joint Chiefs of Staff just before the events he describes in the current Atlantic Monthly, said "an aggressive military" persuaded the civilian leaders to drop their longstanding opposition to a land war in Asia.

Shoup, a frequent critic of the U.S. role in Vietnam, contends the military brass wanted to test new equipment and young troops and to put hypothetical problems to work in the battlefield.

Adm. David L. McDonald, retired chief of naval operations who served briefly with Shoup and remained on the Joint Chiefs during the period described, said he thought no purpose would be served by commenting on the former Marine chief's article.

Rogers Says Agreement Being Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers said today the United States is prepared to withdraw troops from South Vietnam "over a very short period of time" if Hanoi will agree to do the same thing.

He also declared that secret talks in "out of the way places" about peace in Vietnam have produced past progress—and added "we're ready" for more.

The private discussions were in Paris, he said—"That was where the progress was made."

Rogers talked guardedly about that kind of negotiations—past and future—and said detailed disclosure strips away the very secrecy which is essential to success.

Rogers testified the administration seeks mutual withdrawal of forces as a major step toward easing and ending the war in Southeast Asia—and is not thinking in terms of a lengthy period for that withdrawal.

Quick Withdrawal

"I would think if the other side is willing that we ought to have withdrawal as quickly as possible," he told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. "We're prepared, if the other side is prepared, to have a withdrawal over a very short period of time."

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., quoted a State Department official as having told a briefing the withdrawal period would be two or three years, with 50,000 or 60,000 Americans leaving in each phase, should such an agreement be reached.

Gore said that is not a formula for peace, but for prolonged war and indefinite U.S. involvement.

Rogers set no specific time limits on any troop withdrawal agreement, but said he was not thinking in terms of two or three years.

"The sooner we could work out a mutual withdrawal of troops, the better," he said.

"There's no doubt about it, we'll be able to have private talks if the other side is willing to have private talks," Rogers said. "It's like asking somebody to dinner, you can have a dinner if he shows up."

Rogers told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee the United States has a fair, sound plan for peace, seeking an agreement with North Vietnam "on mutual withdrawal of forces" from South Vietnam as a major step toward scaling down and ending the war.

Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., asked whether it will be possible to have private negotiations now in view of a denunciation of that idea by North Vietnam and the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

Only Propaganda

Rogers said that might be only propaganda. He agreed with Sparkman that if a negotiated settlement is reached, it would be a major step toward peace.

Eisenhower Grows Weak

Doctors Say Former President Isn't Responding to Treatment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower "continues to grow weaker," his doctors said today.

A morning medical bulletin from Walter Reed Army Hospital reported the five-star general is "sleeping for longer periods" but when awake is lucid enough to converse with members of his immediate family.

His physicians said late Wednesday his condition was deteriorating and he was not responding to treatment for the severe heart congestion threatening his life.

Their latest report, read to newsmen by Brig. Gen. Frederic J. Hughes Jr., hospital commanding general, said evidences of Eisenhower's potentially fatal congestive heart failure "continue unchanged."

Meanwhile Mamie Eisenhower "remains close" to the general's bedside and is "a constant source of support and encouragement both to the general and others present," it added.

The doctors' reference Wednesday to his failure to respond to treatment "is considered an unfavorable prognostic sign," the bulletin said.

Eisenhower, the doctors said, remains in critical condition and there had been a resumption of the deterioration of his heart's ability to function properly.

Tuesday, the doctors had reported success in arresting the deterioration which was hindering the ability of Eisenhower's heart to pump and adequately empty its chambers.

This was the condition that was resulting in the severe congestion.

In spite of the dim outlook, the general received visitors Wednesday night, including President Nixon who spent a few minutes talking with his former boss.

"The President was pleased to have the opportunity to see the general," said Ronald L. Ziegler, Nixon's news secretary. Ziegler said Nixon was not summoned to Eisenhower's bedside but had decided to come on his own.

Although Eisenhower's doctors continued to refer to his "inherent stamina" and his "astounding... will to live," they did tell newsmen the general could not survive without the treatment being used. They would not elaborate.

Senate Approves New Debt Ceiling

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is expected to sign promptly a bill raising the national debt limit to a record $377 billion, averting a tight squeeze the federal Treasury expected in less than three weeks.

The Senate voted 67 to 18 Wednesday to send the bill to the President after Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois tied his colleagues they had no choice but to pass it. The House approved it March 19, 313 to 92.

It raises the limit by $12 billion but will expire June 30, 1970 and return the limit to $365 billion, forcing the administration to return for another look at its policies next spring if the debt reaches the $374 billion predicted for March and April 1970.

Jordan Accuses Israel

Security Council Meets on Mideast

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Jordan accused Israel today of seeking to wreck Big Four peace efforts by air strikes on Jordanian territory.

Israel denied the charge, asserted that the air strikes were aimed at terror bases in Jordan, and would continue as long as Israeli territory was subject to Arab guerrilla raids.

The exchange took place at an urgent session of the 15-nation U.N. Security Council—the first on the explosive Middle East situation since last Dec. 31.

It came at a time when representatives of the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France were preparing to hold joint talks on achieving a durable Middle East peace.

Muhammed H. El-Farra, the Jordanian delegate, made the initial request for the meeting, claiming an Israeli air raid near Salt Wednesday killed 18 civilians and wounded 25.

He posed this challenge to the Big Four powers, all permanent members of the council: "What are they (the four powers) going to do when it is clear that this Israeli act of aggression is calculated and intended to frustrate and undermine all their peaceful efforts?"

But Yosef Tekoah, the Israeli ambassador, asserted to the council that terror raids on Israeli territory were blocking peace.

He declared that terror warfare "is a loathsome, criminal policy. It violates the U.N. cease-fire. It undermines the peace efforts. It is directed against Israel and harms the Arabs. It is inspired by unmitigated Nazi-like hatred toward the remnants of a people victimized by the Nazis in history's most horrifying genocide."

El-Farra said that Israel had adopted an "arrogant policy" of massive air attacks on civilian targets that included the capital of Amman.

Year After LBJ's Announcement

Bombing Is Heavier Than Ever

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

SAIGON (AP) — A year after President Johnson's order limiting the bombing of North Vietnam, the air war outside South Vietnam is as lethal as ever but almost totally hidden by official secrecy.

The target now is the patchwork of camouflaged roads known as the Ho Chi Minh trail, twisting down through the tribal mountain country of supposedly neutral Laos.

That has been the steady shift since Johnson began pulling back the bombers to get peace talks moving in Paris—restricting the bombing to below the 20th parallel in his March 31 order and ending it completely over North Vietnam Nov. 1.

Neither order mentioned Laos. The effect, however, was to concentrate more and more planes in attacks on the Ho Chi Minh trail, the last remaining area where bombing could get at the major enemy supply line. As the warplanes concentrated, so did the increasingly sophisticated enemy defense network. Mobile, radar-controlled 52mm antiaircraft guns now accompany major supply movements down the trail. Even heavier guns are at so-called chokepoints. Lighter 37mm guns are all over the place.

Not Jungle Raids

"These aren't just jungle raids any more," one flier reported. "There are no 'soft spots.' It's just as bad as it was up north."

Officials refuse to give figures but the lowest responsible estimate of planes lost in the past five months is almost 100 Air Force planes, mostly F105 Thunderchiefs. Navy losses are not known but are very much lower since the Air Force is drawing about 85 per cent of the missions. One knowledgeable officer reported the loss rate has now settled down to about four planes weekly.

The number of pilots lost is similarly classified. An analysis of Pentagon statistics indicates about 45 pilots missing in action in Laos since Nov. 1.

Some sources in Vientiane, a capital of rumors and mysterious people loosely labeled Communist, non-Communist and neutralist, say as many as 100 pilots may be in jungled prison camps of the Pathet Lao, the Laotian version of the Viet Cong. These include pilots downed over several years.

None of these loss figures can be verified from official sources. Neither will officers in Saigon give any firm estimate of enemy losses.

"Country X"

It is worth an officer's job—and perhaps his career—to be quoted about the campaign in Laos. In private, staff officers and pilots make wry jokes about the war in "Country X."

In public, spokesmen give a standard reply to all queries: "At the request of the royal Laotian government, we fly some reconnaissance missions over Laotian territory. These are escorted by armed aircraft with instructions to return fire if fired upon."

This is the official explanation of an air campaign on some days involving the warplanes of three aircraft carriers, perhaps 200 Air Force fighter-bombers in Thailand, assorted reconnaissance and electronic flights, plus a half dozen or more raids by B52 Stratofortresses, essentially the same force, without the B52s, used in North Vietnam.

Too Much Housework By Husband Irks Wife

LONDON (AP) — After 13 years of marriage, Doreen Baker said she couldn't go on living with a man who did all the cooking, cleaning and shopping.

She tried Wednesday to get a divorce from 58-year-old Frederick Baker, charging him with refusing to allow her "the status of a normal housewife." That was cruelty, she claimed.

Her lawyer told Judge Stanley Rees that Mrs. Baker, 41, was allowed only once in her married life to go shopping on her own. When she returned home, her husband examined all her purchases and found these three mistakes—

1. She had bought a shopping bag for 4 cents although there was a good one at home she could have used.

2. She had bought a brand of flour that cost 5 cents more than the kind Baker always bought.

3. She had gone to the butcher shop "on the wrong day" and had consequently bought unsatisfactory meat.

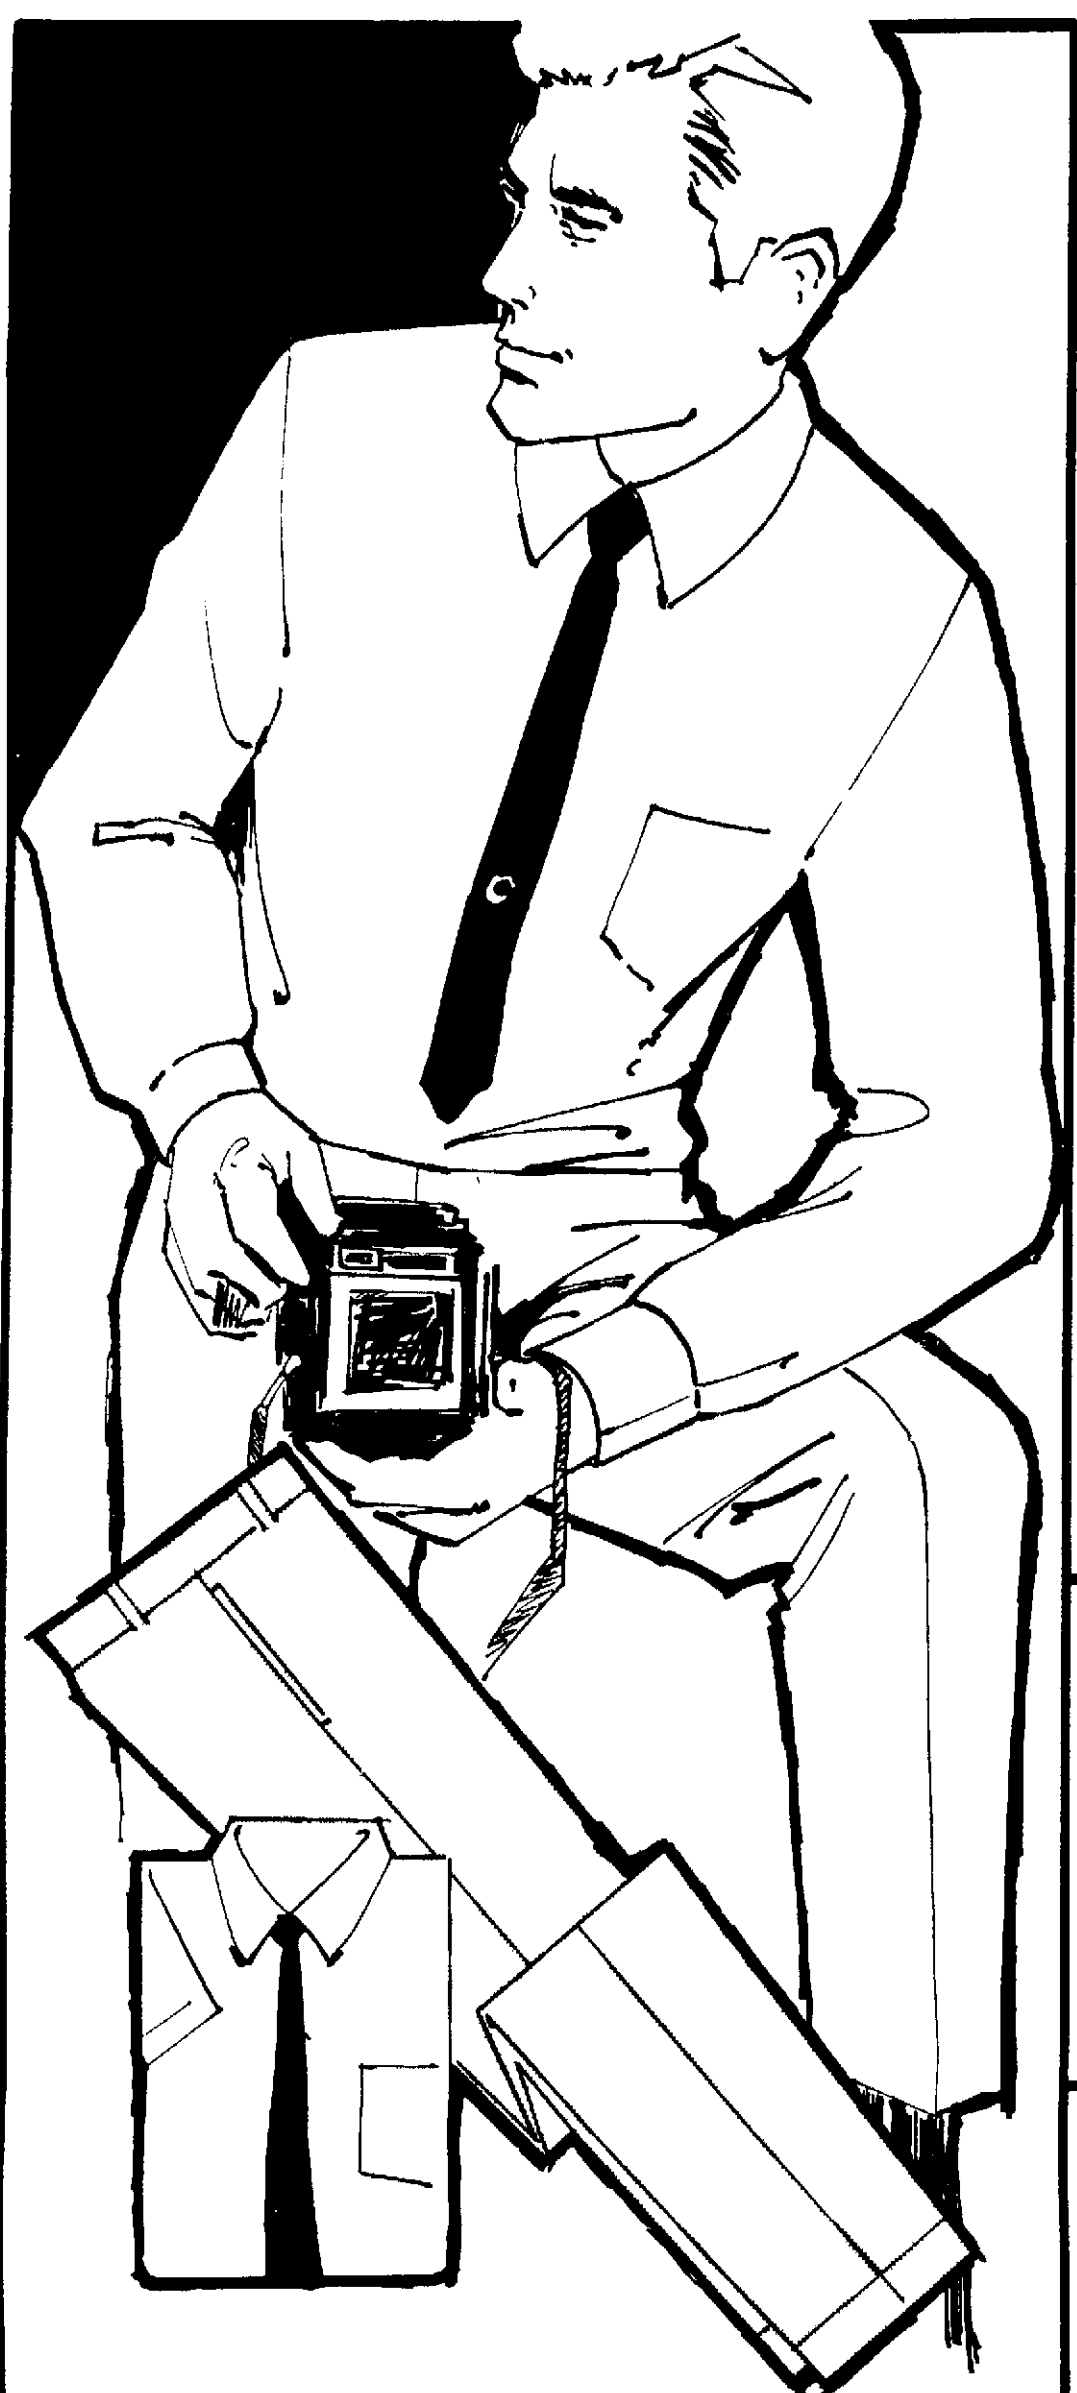

"What probably made it all the harder for her to bear was that he was correct on all three points," the judge commented. But he turned down Mrs. Baker's request for a divorce, ruling that although her husband may have been "irritating and tactless" he was never cruel. The judge added that Baker had written to his wife, telling her if she came home he would share the housework with her.

End of Controls Due on Foreign Direct Investors

Subcommittee Set
To Start Hearings
On Abolition Plan

By LISA CRONIN
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Just about everyone in government and industry would like to see the end of controls on foreign direct investment, but few can agree on when or by how much the controls can be dismantled.

The House subcommittee on Foreign Economic Policy will begin hearings in a few weeks on a resolution introduced by Rep. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., urging abolition of the controls.

Business leaders are expected to argue that the limits on capital spending of American businesses abroad hurt rather than help our balance of payments.

"Most everyone has come around to the idea that these controls have got to go and now it's just a matter of time," said Judd Polk, director of program and studies for the U.S. Council of the International Chamber of Commerce.

'Off the Books'

Polk said he is a member of the "wipe them off the books" school.

"I assume they have inhibited investment abroad since that was their purpose," he explained. "Thus, they have inhibited the realization of earnings which would have added substantially to the balance of payments."

Voluntary limits on direct foreign investment have been in effect since 1965, but in January 1968, President Johnson established a set of mandatory controls, attempting to bolster the U.S. balance of payments position by limiting the amount of money invested overseas.

Mandatory controls were also intended as a psychological move, to prove to the rest of the world that Americans were willing to take strong action to improve the balance of payments.

Eroded Surplus

"By fussing around, we have prevented the nation most capable of investment from investing, we have harmed the New York capital market, and we've eroded our current account surplus," said Polk.

Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans has promised that the Nixon administration is moving toward exempting "many hundreds" of small companies from the controls.

Stans has also promised some form of relief for large corporations.

Those who urge caution in removing controls say that pent-up demand for capital funds abroad would open a floodgate for American investment abroad would open floodgates U.S. balance of payments position.

Proponents of controls also urge that payback on U.S. investment abroad is slow, that production abroad competes with exports and also involves huge export of technology that weakens America's competitive lead.

Can't be Removed

"I don't think there's any possibility for mandatory controls programs to be removed," said Prof. F. Michael Adler of the Columbia Graduate School of Business Administration.

"The trend is for the government to continue to try to control the deficit by manipulating individual accounts," he said, adding that he expected moves toward further controls such as new attempts to limit tourism.

Adler is among those who argue for a global approach to the current monetary crisis.

"Controls are a stopgap measure designed to get a few short-term dollars, but they are unrealistic in terms of U.S. position and role in the world," said Edward Littlejohn, director of public affairs for Chas. Pfizer & Co., Inc.

"The trend has been toward controls because we haven't been willing to face up to the need for a global agreement on political objectives," he said.

"Our political policies are putting strains on our economic system and will continue to do so until some basic settlement is reached."

Antidisestablishmentarianism's Good for You

Dave Hullsbeck and John Gorskie play guitar are Mary Hauch and Barbara Vandenberg.

If you can spell it and if you can say it, antidisestablishmentarianism can be very good for you. But those who attended the spring youth rally of the Winnebago Presbytery learned the real benefits of the word which provided the theme of three days of worship, panel discussions, seminars, talks, banquets, fellowship and recreation.

Appleton's Memorial Presbyterian Church and host families welcomed the youngsters Friday evening and the Appleton Presbyterian Players entertained them with the thought provoking play, "Eyes to See," just a taste of what the morrow was to bring.

Up and at 'em at 7 a.m. Saturday, rally participants heard the Rev. Larry Hill, keynote speaker from Chicago, present a talk entitled "But We Thought . . ." Then it was on to a variety of activities examining youth in ferment, young Protestants, the relevancy of religion and the changing times.

With a multitude of new ideas to ponder and plans already brewing for the next rally, the youngsters met for worship Sunday morning before departing for home.

Prevent Gloves From Mildewing

Rubber kitchen gloves will never become mildewed or stuck together if you remove the wet gloves, turn the cuffs, and place each glove over an empty frozen orange juice can, out of which you have cut the top and bottom.

Prevent Rusting of Steel Wool Pads

You can use steel wool pads to the bitter end—without having them become rusty—if you put them on top of some baking soda in a little dish used just for that purpose.

Devon Schneider and Jim Vosper take a refreshment break at a table manned by Robert Buesing and Judy Uehlein during Saturday evening's "Kaleidoscope," a program of dancing and singing for rally participants.

Fonteyn Gets 10 Curtain Calls in 35th Year

By GODFREY ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — Margot Fonteyn whirled on stage at Covent Garden Wednesday night for a gala performance marking her 35th year with the Royal Ballet.

It was quite a special occasion.

Queen Elizabeth II was in the royal box. Tier upon tier of fashionable socialites around her will have paid up to $63 to charity just to be there.

Bewigged footmen, in their opera house uniforms of blue and gold, were waiting to pour champagne and heap flowers from admirers at the ballerina's feet.

The feature ballet of the evening, danced by Fonteyn and Rudolf Nureyev, had its world premiere. It was choreographed for Fonteyn and Nureyev by Roland Petit to Arnold Schoenberg's tone poem Pelleas et Melisande.

Seems Ageless
To her fans, Fonteyn seems ageless. She first put on ballet shoes at 4, made her first solo appearance in 1934, and has danced with the Royal Ballet ever since.

On May 18 she will celebrate her 50th birthday in New York. A benefit is being arranged for the Royal Academy of Dancing, of which she is president. With a top price of $100, it is hoped that enough can be raised to open a branch of the academy in New York.

Small, slender, delicate-boned, olive skinned, smart in her career. The Australian Robert Dior clothes, Fonteyn at 50 looks much as she always did. She exercises at least two hours every day—six hours on some days—as she has done for 40 years.

Her partnership with Nureyev, she was nearly twice his age of 24. Yet, somehow, the gypsylike dancer from Russia electrified her. She was soon dancing better than ever.

Understood Each Other
Nureyev says of Fonteyn: "I prefer to dance with her because we understand each other perfectly. We know each other so well that I feel our partnership is as perfect as can be achieved."

She says he has given her fresh inspiration. Nureyev says: "I don't care if at 35. She didn't, and now she Margot is a Dame of the British Empire or older than myself. For me she represents eternal youth."

Fonteyn's private life has been scarred by tragedy. She married Roberto Arias, handsome international lawyer and Panama's ambassador to Britain. But in 1964 he was shot by political enemies in Panama and has been an invalid since.

Fonteyn no longer keeps a home in England. When she returns to London after tours with the Royal Ballet, she rents an apartment. Her only real home now is in Panama.

She lives for dancing and never tires of it.

"I think there are always exciting things happening because it's new and different all the time," she said in a BBC television interview last Saturday. "Otherwise one wouldn't stay 35 years doing the same thing. It's only the fact that it changes and evolves and develops that makes it possible."

She once said she would retire at 35. She didn't, and now she isn't setting any date for it.

Decorating Idea
Here's a different living room decorating idea. An accent wall of textured or sculptured ceramic tiles. The play of both natural and artificial light on the three-dimensional tile surfaces can be quite dramatic, says the Tile Council of America.

Britain's Queen Elizabeth II congratulates Dame Margot Fonteyn, center, Wednesday night after a performance of Roland Petit's ballet "Pelleas et Melisande" at the Royal Opera House, Covent Garden. The performance, a benefit for the Royal Academy of Dancing, marked the 35th anniversary of Dame Margot's entry into the Royal Ballet. The fashionable audience roared their applause of Dame Margot's performance and gave her 10 curtain calls. At right, is Rudolf Nureyev, who co-starred with Dame Margot. (AP Wirephoto)

Not Sewing Has Advantages

BY ERMA BOMBECK

When the Good Lord passed out the talent to sew I was in the restroom tacking my hem up with a paper clip. I have never forgiven myself for losing my place in line.

Sewing is synonymous with motherhood and apple pie. It is expected of you. If you can't sew, you might just as well turn in your plunger and quit! I wasn't married two weeks before my husband dropped a shirt into my lap and ordered, "Turn this collar."

"Okay," I said ripping off all the buttons.

"What are you doing?" he gasped.

"Turning the collar into a dust rag," I said.

"Don't you know how to sew?" he asked incredulously.

"If I say 'no' does it mean we aren't legally married?"

"But I thought every young girl . . ."

I've tried. I spent three years with Miss Rhotenamel in practical arts trying to make a white apron and headband for cooking class. My apron had four sides and no front and the second day the elastic gave way and weskit (diseased from hand-dive) fell into a pot of boiling water. The zipper was in back of divinity fudge.

I spent the remaining months embroidering wise sayings on linen tea towels. ("There Is A Balm In Gilead")

In college I had another fling with sewing. This time it was a nun with an acid stomach called Sister Rose.

Sister was picky, picky, picky. She'd get upset over the smallest thing, like if your sleeve fell out after you had machine-stitched it and if you sewed with dirty hands.

Zipper Backwards

I remember at the end of the year I had made a pink skirt wards, which meant you had to balance the skirt like a tent over your head while you zipped it from the inside, then shiny it down to your waist. (To date, it has been the only advantage to being built like a soft boy.)

In a magnanimous gesture I said, "Sister, I am going to donate this suit to the missions." To which she replied coldly, "Don't be surprised if they send it back."

Like my stove, my sewing machine is a prop. I have yet to play anything on it. You'd think it would bother me when other mothers sew on buttons, put in hems and make two inch under-arms for Barbie dolls. It does.

But then I rationalize. Do they have a 20-year supply of dust rags to fall back on? Aha! I thought not.

Dangerous Mixture

Experts say not to mix straight household bleach with vinegar to clean anything. It produces a poisonous gas that can boil over like a volcano.

Telephone Counseling Services Assist Persons in Omaha

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) —
"I have plenty of time," the soft female voice said to the man on the other end of the telephone line. "Go ahead and cry."

The man broke into heavy sobs.
"A lot of pressure is leaving, isn't it?" asked the young housewife.
"I'll bet you've needed to cry for years."

"I have, lady, believe me," the hoarse voice said. "I have, but now I'm going to be fine."

A central switchboard had directed the nighttime caller to the woman's home, one of hundreds of calls handled during the past year by Omaha's two telephone counseling services.

Helping Our Brother

"This is humanity at work in the gut position of really loving our brother," the housewife said. "Is there anything more important than helping where there is no help?"

The services, called Personal Crisis Service, and Guideline operates around the clock.

The Lutheran Medical Center supports Guideline, which is staffed by 10 persons with degrees or several years of experience in sociology, psychology, psychiatry and social work.

Personal Crisis Service, staffed by 54 trained volunteers from physicians to housewives, depends on private donations.

The services attempt to remain nonsectarian in response.

"I've never had a problem theologically," one counsellor said. "The people who are desperate enough to call us want to hear about the God who loves us. It would be an insult to the problem to say,
'Do you want the Catholic or the Protestant version.'" she said.

The services aim to let the troubled know that help can be found.

Directing to Agencies

Much of the counseling involves directing individuals to one or more of the 206 public agencies offering the Omaha area medical, legal and social aid.

"Most callers say they don't want anybody to come to help," she said. "But they really do. That's why they're calling. We tell them who can help. And if they're sincere, they'll call."

Here are some of the people, with names changed, who have turned to the telephone for help.

Mary was afraid to be alone. She had weathered her divorce. But staying alone, with her three children, was getting to be too much.

Her counsellor said, "All she wanted was the assurance that she could make it through one particular night.
And I don't think she was so fearful of the night as she was fearful of the future."

The counsellor reviewed the basic actions Mary could take in securing her house for the night, assuring her that other women also face long nights alone. Long-range planning resulted in Mary finding employment.

Two Colors Suggested for Bath Decor

The bath has become one of the new status symbol of the American home. Decorators and fixtures manufacturers have combined their crafts to produce stunning new rooms. And that plural is intended: the two and a half and three bath house is almost standard in middle income housing now.

For the first time we can enjoy bathrooms designed for the modern age. Believe it or not, sinks have been installed at the same height for almost 100 year, although Americans are now several inches taller than their great-grandfathers!

If you are planning new bathrooms, or redoing an older one, you should approach this decorating job as you would any other room in your home. One excellent way to start is to choose a multi-color floor covering and use its colors for the other components. The Better Floors Council suggests using a vinyl asbestos tile in bathrooms because it is steam and moisture-resistant and very easy to wipe clean. It is also available in an astonishing array of colors and patterns.

Any conceivable color scheme is acceptable in the bathroom, but decorators recommend coordinating with adjacent rooms, which will give the illusion the greater space.

If you already have white fixtures, your choice of colors is wide, but you must work with care around colored basins, tubs and bowls.

Since the area is usually small, don't use too many colors. Perhaps two basic colors for fixtures, floor and walls and one bright accent color in towels, rugs, pictures, etc. And you may now have a bath in any decorating style: shiny modern, colonial, 18th century,
— even Roman.

'Which Way Women?'

"Which Way Women?" will be the subject of a day-long seminar from 9:30 a.m. through 3 p.m. April 10 at the Appleton YMCA. The seminar is being sponsored by the Outagamie County Council of Church Women United and will feature as speaker and leader the Rev. Mrs. Peggy Way, director of field education at the Urban Training Center for Christian Mission in Chicago.

The purpose of the day will be to help women determine how they can most effectively meet the problems facing the community, the church and the family today, and to help determine which methods and organizations are best or best equipped to handle particular problems.

Role of Church

To be discussed will be the role of the church in relation to the secular social action groups. Also problems that lend themselves to personal ministry will be considered and ones that require the restructuring of society. A critical eye will be cast at the women's organizations of churches.

The Rev. Mrs. Way has had unique training and experience. She is an ordained minister in the United Church of Christ, a graduate social worker, and is married to a minister and social worker who is director of the Oak Park-River Forest Family Service Agency in Illinois.

The organization which she directs is an ecumenically sponsored program that prepares clergy and laity for contemporary ministry. Before accepting this position, she was program director of the Chicago City Missionary Society, an agency of the United Church of Christ. She also taught at Elmhurst College and McCormick Theological Seminary, and with her husband, was co-pastor of a Congregational Church.

Mrs. Way has been deeply involved in church related social welfare and has served on the boards of a variety of welfare agencies. Throughout her activities she has been concerned about women's role in the church and the contemporary world and has done a variety of speaking and consulting with women interested in that subject.

Registration and coffee hour will be from 9:30 to 10 a.m. Luncheon will be served at the Y with reservations for the luncheon being accepted through April 7, by Mrs. Hubert Hamel, 36 W. Meadows Drive.

Baby-sitting service will be available.

Enough Rest Key to Inner Beauty

Many a woman who would be beautiful is just not beautifully disposed. Contour, complexion, clothing — all of the beauty marks, may be favorable. Still she misses. To be truly beautiful, one must be disposed to beauty, inwardly as well as outwardly.

A ready smile, an instinct to speak well of others and to be sympathetic to them, a serenity in the face of one's own problems — these are the things of inner beauty. And, as with all beauty treatments, they must be practiced conscientiously and consistently. Think beauty until it becomes second nature.

A beautiful disposition is more easily maintained when one is feeling well physically. Don't get overtired. It leads to irritability and short temper. When you detect such symptoms, take a beauty break. If possible, lie down for a few minutes. Soak cotton squares in good quality witch hazel and press them over the eyes. At the office, keep a bottle of the lotion in a desk drawer. Applied to the forehead and face with cotton squares it makes a quick and cooling pick-me-up.

Lack of sleep can ruin the most beautiful disposition. Get your prescribed sleep no matter what. Postpone that business appointment or cancel that heavy date if necessary. Chances are in your upset state, you wouldn't be very successful anyway.

Make the most of your early-to-bed night. Start with a leisurely, warm bath. Blot the skin dry. Massage tired leg and arm muscles lightly with witch hazel. Let it dry by itself. Use your favorite bath powder. Now, take your time with the rest of the nightly beauty routine and climb between the sheets.

The extra hour or two of beauty sleep this night will shine through all the next day at home or in the office. Your beautiful disposition will be all the proof you'll need that beauty is more than skin deep.

Battlefield Deaths Of Americans Drop

SAIGON (AP) — American offensive battlefield deaths in Vietnam named and Viet Cong troops dropped 25 per cent last week to also were breaking off contact of the lowest weekly toll of the more quickly when engaged by Viet Cong spring offensive, the sweeping American forces. While U.S. casualties dropped day. But the 266 Americans last week, those of the South killed in action pushed the total Vietnamese forces went up for the war to within 300 of total slightly and considerably combat fatalities in the Korean exceeded the American total. The government said 337 of its soldiers were killed and 1,537 were wounded, compared with 325 Green Beret advisers were killed and 1,156 wounded the week before.

Costly for Enemy
The offensive continued to prove costly for the enemy, announced that 1,362 Americans though his casualties also were wounded in action last considerably reduced. The week, 61 more than the previous week. This brought the total North Vietnamese and Viet American wounded reported in Cong killed last week, compared to a revised total of 4,336 the week before.

Heaviest Toll
In the first four weeks since the Viet Cong launched their first spring offensive Feb. 23, 1,406 four weeks of his offensive Americans have been killed. South Vietnamese dead in that the heaviest toll was during the period total 1,442. With the 1,406 first week of the offensive, when Americans killed, the allied to 453 U.S. troops were killed, a 2,848 dead, or a kill ratio of about seven to one in favor of the South Vietnamese and reduction in the number of Americans.

A U.S. spokesman said apparently part of the reason for the South Vietnamese and reduction in the number of Americans. American deaths last week was that the enemy was not following 100 South Vietnamese soldiers ing up his nightly rocket and made it to safety today after a mortar attacks on U.S. bases two-day battle 30 miles north of with infantry assaults as free-Saigon. But 50 were still missing quently as he did earlier in the and 22 were dead

An estimated 2,000 North Viet-namense regulars badly battered the strike force battalion of about 600 men before helicopters put down reinforcing troops. After the reinforcements landed, the survivors began making their way into the land-ing zone.

In addition to the 22 dead and 50 missing, more than 100 of the battalion and several American wounded.

General Says Military Was 'War Hungry'

McDonald said from his retirement home in Florida. "They're Shoup's views, and I presume he feels he can substantiate them.

"But I'm just a has-been. And, I might say, so is Shoup."

Shoup wrote of "belligerent," "glory-seeking" military leaders competing with each other to have their service play major roles in Vietnam. "In Vietnam in 1965," he said, "the four services were racing to build up combat strength in that hapless country."

One sign of that eagerness, the general said, was competition between the Air Force and Navy over the bombing of North Vietnam.

"The punitive air strikes immediately following the Tonkin Gulf incident in late 1964," he wrote, "revealed the readiness of naval air forces to bomb North Vietnam. (It now appears that the Navy actually had attack plans ready even before the alleged incident took place!)"

The first air strikes against the North were ordered by President Johnson after charging that North Vietnamese gunboats had attacked U.S. naval bases in the area.

Shoup called the bombing effort "one of the most wasteful and expensive hoaxes ever to be put over on the American people." By early 1965, he said, the Air Force and Navy were caught up in bombing "contests" in the North, reporting "misleading data or propaganda to serve Air Force or Navy purposes."

Meanwhile, Shoup said, the Army and the Marines were waging a similar contest attempting to outdo one another in getting troops into Vietnam.

S. Vietnam Soon to Assume Greater Role, Westmoreland Claims

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland says South Vietnam, with U.S. help, has built up its armed strength "to a point where now it gradually assumes a greater portion of the fighting burden."

Westmoreland, former U.S. commander in Viet Nam who is now Army Chief of Staff, told a session of the Nevada Legislature on his 55th birthday Wednesday. "Behind the protective shield of military power the Vietnamese, with our help, have galvanized their collective will, stabilized their economy, mobilized their manpower and strengthened their military forces."

U.S. Seeking Mutual Withdrawals

Rogers also testified that "the climate for negotiations between the Soviet Union and the United States seems somewhat warmer than in the recent past."

The session was Rogers' first such confrontation with leading senators who have been urging that the United States start disengaging from the war. The group, headed by Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the committee, had a running battle with former Secretary of State Dean Rusk over Vietnam.

Rogers, in a lengthy prepared statement for the senators, backed the U.S. posture on Vietnam and also Nixon's decision to go ahead with a limited anti-ballistic missile (ABM) system.

On Vietnam, the new secretary of state said, "We believe the South Vietnamese, the United States, and our allies are offering a reasonable and honorable outcome."

"It is our fervent hope that the other side will soon put polemics aside and begin in good faith to negotiate an end to this tragic war."

On the ABM, Rogers said the potential foreign affairs impact was carefully considered before Nixon ordered a go-ahead on the Safeguard defense system and "We came to the conclusion that the decision would have no adverse effect on disarmament talks."

He voiced hope that U.S.-Soviet missile curb talks thus "can begin within the next few months."

Meanwhile, a State Department official said that, despite the reports of private negotiations to end the war, administration leaders foresee a long, frustrating path to peace.

Europe—The United States continues to support the North Atlantic Treaty

Organization. Relations with France are improving. The Nixon administration will seek also to improve relations with East European states.

Latin America—The United States will "place the highest priority on close and friendly relations with our Latin American friends."

Washington hopes also that the dispute with Peru over U.S. oil property seizure and fishing boat seizures will be worked out through negotiations.

Nigeria—The United States continues to support international efforts to end the Nigerian war. Meanwhile, it is exploring means of expanding relief shipments to both sides.

Communist China—The United States continues to hope for a reduction of tensions. However, Peking's policy on improving relations with its neighbors and the United States "will come slowly at best."

Decide Own Future
"We are not seeking a military victory, nor do we want military escalation," he said. "We believe the peace should give the South Vietnamese people the opportunity to determine their own future without external interference."

He said the United States is prepared to begin withdrawing forces simultaneously with a withdrawal of North Vietnamese forces.

Rogers also made these points in his global review:

Middle East—If the present situation of "suspended hostility" continues unabated "it could have most serious consequences." Efforts by U.N. Ambassador Gunnar Jarring and the Middle East rivals to negotiate a settlement since the 1967 war "have not made significant progress."

Europe—The United States continues to support the North Atlantic Treaty

its intensification of the war and for hindering progress at the Paris conference."

While this apparent rejection of the offer might be a screen to keep secret contacts secret, it seemed certain to set back the hopes aroused in recent days by the statements in Saigon and Washington.

Kiem's statement appeared to leave the door ajar. At no point in his prepared statement did he say specifically the front refused to talk privately.

Refuses to Talk
The implication is that the main obstacle to such talks is the fact that the United States refuses to talk with the Front.

"The Nixon administration, though defeated, pursues and intensifies its war of aggression in South Vietnam and obdurately clings to its Saigon puppet administration," Kiem said.

"It's arguments boil down to the following: Unless the puppet army and administration prove strong enough to cope with the patriotic forces in South Vietnam and maintain South Vietnam in the grip of U.S. neocolonialism, the United States will not think of withdrawing its troops."

"... This is the truth about U.S. planned violence, seeking to compel the South Vietnamese people to accept the rotten U.S. puppet regime."

Federal Offices Are Shuffled by Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidential regional offices dealing with urban problems

Nixon issued a directive setting up eight regional headquarters to be shared by five departments and agencies administering programs that serve disadvantaged areas.

This was one of three steps announced by the President in an effort to streamline field operations of the federal government and make it easier for state and local authorities to deal with the agencies.

Nixon said his ultimate goal is "uniform boundaries and field office locations for all social or economic programs requiring interagency or intergovernmental coordination."

His initial order applies to the departments of Labor, Housing and Urban Development, Health, Education and Welfare, the Small Business Administration and the Office of Economic Opportunity.

All these agencies will be required to set up regional headquarters—moving existing ones where necessary—in Boston, New York City, Philadelphia, Atlanta, Chicago, Dallas-Fort Worth, Denver and San Francisco.

"Such physical relocations as are required will be made over the next 18 months," Nixon said in a statement, "with special efforts to minimize disruptions to the programs, the employees and the communities involved."

Some mayors have complained that they have had to travel to as many as four cities to see the federal officials concerned with certain slum problems.

Besides establishing the uniform regional centers, Nixon ordered formation of regional councils in all eight of the new headquarters cities to act as a coordinating body on which each of the affected agencies will be represented.

"This system," he said, "offers an excellent means through which the various arms of the federal government can work closely together in defining programs, devising strategies to meet them, eliminating frictions and duplications and evaluating results."

Bid of One Notrump Is Difficult

Some impatient bridge players automatically concede all bids of one, except that they allow a score of only 30 points for a conceded contract of one notrump. Anything that all four players agree upon is legal, but good players are against automatic concessions. As a rule, one notrump is the most difficult of all contracts.

South should win the first trick with the ace of diamonds and should lead dummy's ten of clubs. East plays low, and South should overtake with the queen.

If West takes the ace of clubs, declarer can later overtake dummy's nine of clubs with the jack, continuing the suit to knock out the king. South will get in with the king of hearts to run the clubs, making three clubs, one diamond, two hearts, and one spade — not enough to defeat the contract.

Best Defense

West's best defense is to diamonds (having played the first club trick. South nine at the first trick) to the must then abandon the clubs. West continues with the since he hasn't enough entries, jack of diamonds, and East to develop the suit and then run, overtakes with the king to cash it. Since South is in his own last diamond, East next hand (thanks to the play of the queen of clubs), he can lead a low spade to try a finesse with dummy's ten.

East wins with the queen of spades and returns the four of shifts to a heart, and South wins with the king.

Only now can South afford to lead the nine of spades. West must play low, and South's nine holds the trick. This enables declarer to continue with another spade, and dummy wins a finesse with the jack. Declarer thus makes three spades, two hearts, one diamond and one club.

Daily Question

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes. You hold: S-Q 4, H-Q 10 8 3, D-K 9 8 4, C-K 6 3. What do you say?

Answer: Bid two diamonds, intending to show the heart support at your next turn. Your hand is too strong for a raise to two hearts at once, but not strong enough for an immediate jump to three hearts. The delayed raise shows the in-between strength of your hand.

NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM FOR EASTER

Los Angeles:—Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim and yet completely comfortable. If you're more than 15 pounds overweight or your waistline is larger than 32 inches, then this idea is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, smoother figure today, without diet or exercise.

Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of 4-oz. girdle constructed of science fibers. One startling innovation is the sheer nylon front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It's surrounded by a slimming action border. A featherstitched panel down each side of this girdle will contour your hips if they are a problem.

The girdle itself is of a "wonder" Lycra spandex blend. It's a new power net consisting of nylon, acetate and spandex. It is so comfortable, but has such slimming strength, it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation.

"Suddenly Slim," in both girdle and panty versions, is the peak achievement of the California designer-genius, Olga. They are available at H. C. Prange Company and other stores with fashion spirit.

Apple-Ton TOPS Honors Members

Mrs. T. L. Tilly was installed as leader of the Appleton-Ton TOPS Club at its annual recognition Saturday evening at the Forester Club. Installed as co-leader was Mrs. Walter Dreier; secretary, Mrs. Mary Pike; treasurer, Mrs. Donald Hanne-mann, and weight recorder, Mrs. Merel Alix.

Mrs. Dreier was honored as the top TOPS of the Apple-Ton Club for 1968. Joining in February, 1968, with a total weight of 248½ pounds, she reached the goal set by her doctor in September with a total weight loss of 100 pounds and was recipient of the Queens Trophy Saturday evening.

At the Wisconsin Recognition Day to be in Milwaukee this summer, Mrs. Dreier will be presented with the Esther Manz (founder of TOPS) Century Medallion for having a loss of 100 pounds or more and keeping it off.

Division Winners
Division winners were awarded corsages and gifts for their weight-loss efforts in 1968. (A person joining TOPS is put in a division determined by her beginning weight.) First place winner, division 5, was Mrs. Larry Grissom; division 4, Mrs. Martin Gauerke, and division 2, Mrs. William Daily.

Named pre-teen princess and first place winner, division 8, was Miss Kathy Rigden. Miss Pat Ziebell was honored as Teen Princess.

Mrs. Albert Selig, Mrs. George Grall and Mrs. Tilly, past club queens, were presented with tiaras for having maintained their queen weights. Charms were presented to 1968 officers and to members for the Yearly Contest (representing a weight loss of 20 pounds or more or having reached their weight loss goal.)

Goals Attained

Every TOPS member hopes to become a KOPS (Keep Off Pounds Sensibly.) When a member's goal, prescribed by her doctor, is reached, (TOPS does not attempt to say what a member should lose) that member then becomes a KIW (KOPS in Waiting.) This is a trial period to determine if the loss can be maintained. Upon completion of a three-month period in KIW, members are honored by the club with a KOPS Recognition. At the state convention, they graduate as KOPS to become KOPS of Long Standing.

Recognition of KOPS honored Mrs. Dreier, Mrs. James Bruyette, Mrs. James Strick, Mrs. William Gengler, Mrs. Hubert Lom and Mrs. Grissom.

C. T. Hartkopf Elected to Head Local WSU-O Alumni Chapter

MENASHA — C. Ted Hartkopf, Appleton, was elected president of the Fox Valley Alumni Chapter of Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh (WSU-O) at an informal dinner meeting of the group March 21 at the Hotel Menasha. Assisting Mr. Hartkopf, as secretary, will be Miss Amy Lundstrom, Appleton.

It was announced that Alumni Day will be May 17 at WSU-O. Mrs. Phil Nelson, director of WSU-O Alumni Affairs also discussed the newly organized University Day for Women conducted at WSU-O with the cooperation of the Division of Extended Services.

Founded in 1966 under the direction of Norm Tebo and Mrs. Harry Kimball, the chapter is one of nine in Wisconsin. The WSU-O Alumni Association boasts more than 13,000 members located in every state of the union.

Open to all alumni of the university, the association does not require payment of dues from its members.

Meetings are called annually and semi-annually to inform alumni of the progress and growth of the university and its services to association members.

Mental Health Award Will be Given in Calumet

POTTER — Calumet County Mental Health Association will provide a $200 award to a graduating senior in the county who will enter the mental health field. The decision was made Tuesday night at a board of directors meeting, according to the Rev. Gene Becker, president.

The grant will be given $100 a semester and will be subject to renewal.

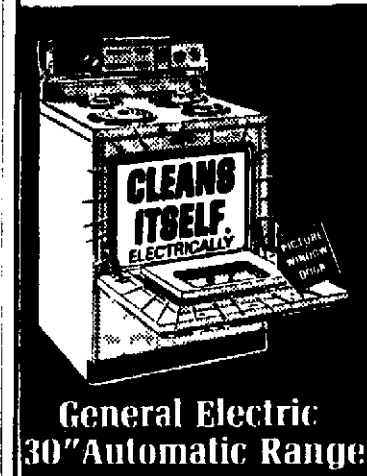

Guidelines for making the award will be prepared soon by Dean Wallace of Brillion High School faculty and Mrs. Gene Becker, treasurer. These will be published in April when applicants will be invited. Purpose of the grant is an incentive for students planning a career in mental health.

Keep Eyes Beautiful, Healthy

Here are suggestions for keeping your eyes beautiful and healthy. No amount of makeup can make dull, tired eyes look attractive. A basic essential for eye care is the one that most of us forget. That is, enough sleep and rest. A tired person has tired-looking eyes. Avoid rubbing eyes. Rubbing is an irritant. You can do permanent damage by scratching the cornea. Teenagers generally experience more eye irritation and fatigue than the rest of us. The reason is that they study more, stay up late and get insufficient rest. If you are a television fan, never watch programs in the dark. The light from the screen alone is not enough and you can strain your eyes. Keep at least one lamp in the room for additional light.

Traveling by Air With Children a Breeze

Traveling by air with children can be both a delight and a convenience. It is a delight because it is an adventure for the child, and parents are happy to see their children awaken and expand to a new experience. It is convenient because it is fast and because the airlines are well equipped and their cabin attendants well prepared to take care of the needs of children from point of departure, en route, and at destination. The speed of air travel has other dimensions where children are concerned. If your off-spring, despite your, and the airline's best efforts, are still demons, at least the trip — at 600 miles per hour — doesn't last too long.

Infants Best Travelers
Today's jetliners try hard to be winged nurseries. Ground and flight personnel are prepared to make a baby's flight as comfortable as his crib back home. In fact, infants appear to be among the best air travelers. They enjoy the gentle motion and subdued hum of the plane in flight — conditions made to order for snoozing. It is a good idea to tell the airline you will be traveling with a baby at the time you make your reservation. At that time, too, you should indicate if you will need a bassinet and the stewardess will have one waiting for you when you board the plane. She will also instruct you as to the best way to care for your child at certain times during the flight. For example, you will learn that during takeoff and landing you should hold your baby in your arms and place the seat belt around yourself only. Here are a few tips to serve as a checklist the next time you fly with your baby: Carry a utility bag made of plastic or other water-resistant materials large enough to hold bottles and jars of baby food for the number of feedings required on the trip. Milk is generally available on the plane. But if your baby requires a formula, prepare enough at home for the entire flight. Hostesses will gladly warm bottles, but they are not permitted to mix formulas. Bring along an extra bottle of milk or juice for takeoffs and landings. Adults are given chewing gum to adjust to change in air pressure. Babies find the same comfort in a few swallows from a bottle. Pack plenty of diapers, but if you run short, a stewardess will get you extras. In fact, many airlines equip their planes with a complete baby kit, consisting of powder, disposable diapers, bowl, spoon and baby food.

Tips For Older Children
For children who are no longer in the infant stage, there are generally playthings and children's magazines to keep them amused. Too, it's a good idea to bring along your child's favorite toy — something he can play with in his seat. Not only will the familiar object add to his sense of security, but will keep him by your side. A school-age child might bring along a book — possibly about the part of the United States or foreign country he will be visiting. Of course, the airlines have a varied assortment of magazines, many colorfully illustrated, which provide a source of interest to all but babes in arms. Apart from focusing his interest, it will make the trip more rewarding for him. Some of the larger carriers show movies on their longer flights. Your child can thus watch a full-length feature or, alternatively, can listen to as many as eight channels of stereo and hi-fi music. He'll have his own headset, which the hostess will show him how to use — an interesting new experience in itself. Special Services For Youngster If your child will be traveling alone, the airlines are well prepared to take care of him. Most airlines will accept a child without an accompanying adult from the age of five. It is a good idea to check on this when making reservations. At the airport, ask for the passenger agent of the airline on which your child will be flying. She will assist in check-in and ticketing activities, will make sure your child gets to the correct gate for boarding and is seated on the plane. The same service is provided at destination. And if you cannot arrange to have someone meet your child, simply inform the passenger service representative and arrangements will be made to set up proper transportation. And remember: Don't hesitate to ask for special service.

Your Problems

Shoplifters Repent, Pay for Stolen Items

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I read with amazement your suggestion that shoplifters mail to the store credit manager (anonymously, of course) cash to pay for at least part of the merchandise they pilfered. You must be kidding.

You don't believe the credit managers will actually turn over the money to the store, do you? Most people are dishonest and credit managers are only human. Cash, sent anonymously, is too great a temptation. So, why don't you wake up and smell the coffee? — Surprised at Your Stupidity

Dear Sur: Thanks for your vote of no confidence in the human race. The following letters might be of interest to you:

From Aberdeen, South Dakota: I've been a merchant for several years and cannot remember receiving any payments for merchandise that has been shoplifted. This past week I received two envelopes with money. One envelope contained a scrap of paper which read: "I.O.U." The other contained a note which said, "This is to pay for something I stole from your store. I am sorry." I'm sure these payments are the result of your recent column. — Merele Klein's Big Dollar Quincy, Illinois: Received today $1.25 as a direct result of your column. Thanks, Ann. — Carl Fain, Manager, Woolworth Store Youngstown, Ohio: Shortly after Christmas I received a $5 bill for a pair of scissors. The person signed the note "New Leaf," the same signature as the shoplifter in your column. — D. W. Smith of McKelvey's Franklin Park, Ill.: For the first time that anyone in this store can remember, we received payment for stolen merchandise. Two one-dollar bills came wrapped in your column. — W. T. Grant Co., Mannheim Rd.

Long Island, N.Y.: I am enclosing the note which accompanied payment for some personal items which were stolen from our store. This should make you feel good. — George K., Manager of Nassau 5 & 10

Wellsville, Ohio: Believe it or not, I was reading your column when a woman came in and asked for the manager. She handed me $7 and said, "I hope you won't turn me in, but I took $7 worth of merchandise and I want to pay for it. She promised 'never again' and we agreed to forget it." — C. R. Donaldson, Sr.

Kansas City: What a surprise when folding money fell out of an envelope — no name, no address. A note attached said, "Ann Landers says to pay for what I shoplifted. Here it is." — Katz Drug Co.

Minneapolis: I sent the Dayton Company a part-payment for cosmetics I took in November. I will send them the rest when I can. Thank you for helping me go straight. — J. G.

From Chicago: I hope the Goldblatt Company let you know I sent them $1 for the lipstick I swiped. — Ashamed and Cured

And there were many others — but the space is gone. Thank you all. (Copyright, 1969)

Out-of-State Student Study Promised by Committee of CCHE

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — With the specter of legislative reaction hanging over them, a committee of the State Coordinating Council for Higher Education (CCHE) Wednesday talked around the issue of out-of-state enrollments in Wisconsin universities.

In the face of repeated references to legislative relations surrounding the budget controversy, the plans and policies committee agreed to submit "a report on all aspects of out-of-state enrollment to the CCHE."

It also delayed approving a proposed doctoral program because of an individual law-maker's request.

The action followed 10 days of

JW Officials Are Quizzed on Ways to Boost Tuition

MADISON (AP) — Seeking a way to raise student tuition, the legislature's Joint Finance Committee quizzed University of Wisconsin officials for two hours Wednesday.

Wisconsin President Fred Harrison and Vice President Donald Percy were asked about factors used to find the cost per student of instruction—which is the basis of tuition.

Gov. Warren P. Knowles has requested a $400-a-year increase for nonresident students at Wisconsin and the state universities.

The Coordinating Council on Higher Education has recommended out-of-state students pay 100 per cent of their instructional costs.

Harrison said he prefers the governor's plan because it would mean a smaller tuition rate.

The committee took no action on tuition or the university budget.

Members agreed to tour the Wisconsin Medical School today under its dean, Peter Eichman, and to discuss a decline in the quality of medical education if a new facility is not built.

Legislators Seeking to Clarify Law on Office-Holding

KAUKAUNA — Assemblyman Williams Rogers, D-Kaukauna, announced Wednesday, he was introducing legislation "that will make it crystal clear that an employee of either municipal or county government could hold office in either governmental unit."

"Although some will argue that an employee of a county or municipality can now hold office, there are some who will argue that they cannot," said Rogers. "It would seem to me that if the law prevents a municipal or county employee from holding office in these situations, it makes them second class citizens," he continued.

"Many city attorneys will have differences of opinion on the present law. If there is a gray or questionable area here, it should be cleared up," concluded Rogers.

Runaway Boys Halted by Oklahoma Police

KAUKAUNA — Three local youths, one 16 and two 15, who ran away from home Monday afternoon, taking the family car, the 16-year-old, were picked up by police in Fairfax, Okla., Tuesday.

Kaukauna police were notified that parents of the boys will go to Oklahoma to pick up the youths.

$134 Spent by Candidates for Kaukauna Posts

KAUKAUNA — Candidates for city offices in Tuesday's election filled pre-election expense statements with the city clerk and reported spending a total of $134.99 to date, according to Karl E. Marzahl, clerk.

Richard Verhoeven, candidate for First ward alderman, reported expenses of $28.25 compared to $10 for his opponent, incumbent Robert Vondracek. Incumbent Richard Gerrits reported expenses of $24.95 in his bid for re-election as Second Ward alderman and his opponent, Edward Oliva, listed no expenses.

Russel Dix, incumbent Fourth ward alderman candidate, reported expenses of $24.55 and his opponent, Everett Bovee, listed expenses of $27.50. Mrs. Joan Wolf, candidate for the board of education, reported expenses of $19.74.

Candidates reporting no expenses were Ald. George Simon, 3rd, unopposed, and Ald. William Rogers, Fifth, unopposed. Incumbents Victor Haen and

Mandatory Penalty Plan Is Rejected

MADISON (AP) — A bill calling for mandatory penalties for persons convicted of committing crimes while armed with a dangerous weapon was rejected Wednesday by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The proposal, rejected 40-0, had been introduced by the Assembly State Affairs Committee following hearings throughout the state on the possible need for gun control legislation.

It passed overwhelmingly in the Assembly.

"Judges now have considerable leeway in the severity of sentences," said Sen. Fred Riser, D-Madison. Mandatory penalties might "deter convictions or tie the hands of the court."

Under the bill, a person convicted of committing a felony while armed would receive an additional two to 10 year prison sentence. He would receive 5 to Olin Dryer, school board candidate, also reported no expenses.

Driver Injured When Car Hits Parked Auto

Joseph W. Ball, 39, 221 E. 16th St., Kimberly, suffered injuries to his right shoulder and left leg in a three-car accident Tuesday night on Wisconsin Avenue.

Appleton police said he was eastbound on Wisconsin when his car struck a parked car owned by William J. Massonet, 25, 1102 W. Spencer St. The Massonet car was shoved into another parked auto owned by Robert Brower, 49, 1119 W. Wisconsin Ave.

15 years for a second conviction and 10 to 25 years for a third.

The committee unanimously endorsed a bill permitting police to "stop and frisk" suspects.

The bill will clarify, for police and citizens, how far officers can go in the temporary detention and search of a suspect prior to an arrest," said James Klauser, an attorney for the State Affairs Committee, one of many witnesses favoring the bill.

Under the bill, a person cannot be detained "longer than is reasonably necessary" for the officer to determine whether a crime has been committed.

$2.3 Million Restored To Budget by Senate

MADISON (AP) — Some $2.3 million cut from the current budget by the Assembly was restored Wednesday by the Senate. The revisions will go back to the Assembly.

The $2.3 million is part of $21 million in cuts made to find funds to pay a school aids deficit.

Senators also approved a $1.1 million bond authorization for construction and renovation at the University of Wisconsin Research Center, several state universities and the Department of Health and Social Services.

Major restorations included: $60,000 to Wisconsin for part-time teaching and research assistants in noninstructional positions; $325,000 to Wisconsin for student researchers hired for the current semester; $1 million to Wisconsin for supplies; $162,000 to the Board on Government Operations to pay overtime already worked by employees and $127,000 for five Milwaukee Inner Core projects.

The Senate rejected a proposed $1.1 million restoration of aid to the State Conservation Division.

Milk Support Price
Assemblymen concurred in a Senate resolution asking U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Clifford Hardin to raise the support price of milk to 90 per cent of parity.

The 85-12 vote followed a stormy debate centered on the congressional campaigns of two legislators.

Assemblyman David Obey, D-Wausau, who is running for the 7th District seat vacated by Melvin R. Laird, charged the resolution's sponsor, Sen. Walter J. Chilsen, D-Wausau, is using the measure as a "political football." Chilsen is Obey's opponent.

Obey then submitted an amendment asking for 100 per

Chain Reaction Mishap Damages 3 Vehicles

KAUKAUNA — Three cars were damaged, but no one injured, in a chain reaction accident on the Lawe Street bridge about 6:55 p.m. Tuesday, according to police.

Cars driven by Mrs. Edward Sasnowski, 140 Raught St., Margaret Miller, 317 E. 15th St., and Elizabeth Pendergast, 825 Park St., Little Chute, were traveling south on the bridge when the Miller auto struck the rear of the Sasnowski vehicle. The Pendergast auto then struck the rear of the Miller auto, pushing it forward into the Sasnowski auto for a second time. No damage estimate was made by police.

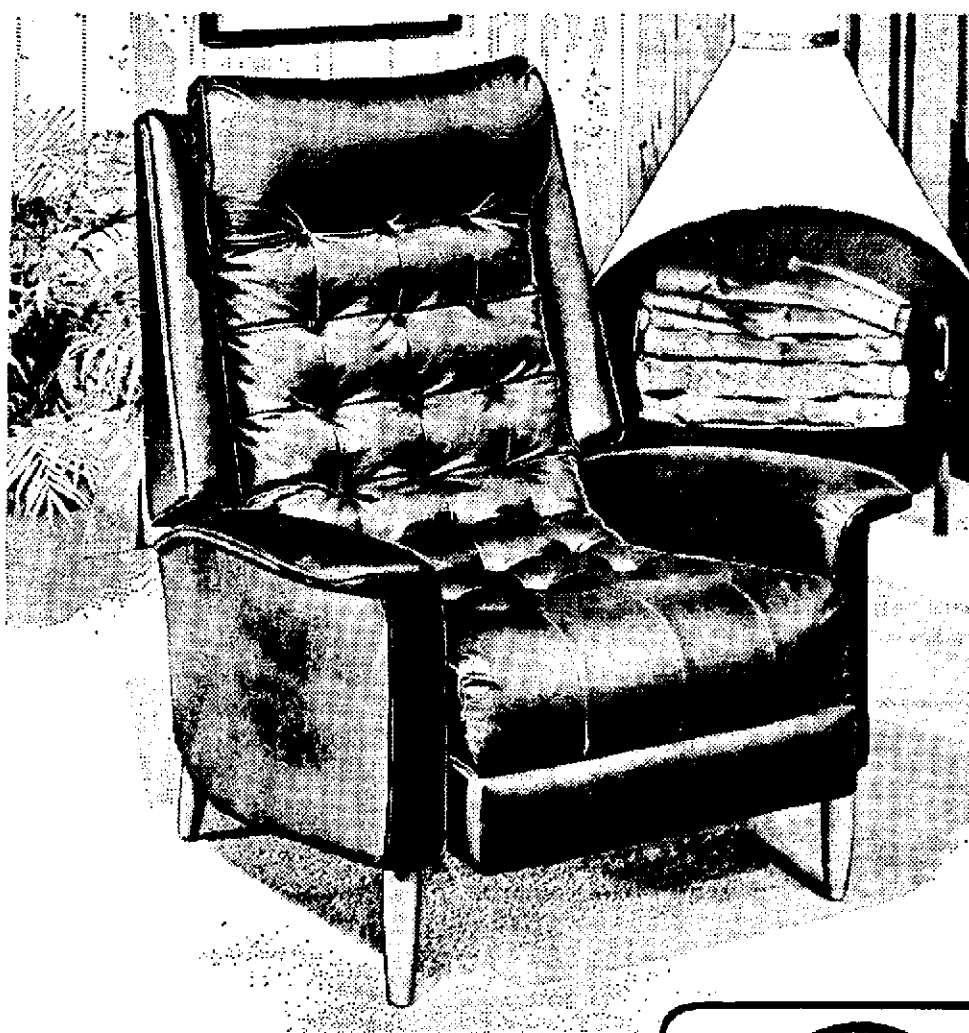

cent of parity, but it was voted down 50-49.

In other action, Speaker Harold Froehlich, R-Appleton, introduced a constitutional amendment allowing children to be excused during school hours for religious instruction.

Two Franklin Elementary School students, top photo, cautiously pack their egg in a foam rubber capsule to prepare it for a "soft," and hopefully successful, landing in the airplane drop Thursday afternoon that culminated a science study project. In the center photo, Appleton pilot James Downs drops the 25 capsule-covered eggs into a field as parents and students look on. In the bottom photo, Renee Hoerning proudly displays her unbroken "victory egg," which was packed in cellophane, cotton and foam rubber. The students students could use any packing they desired but their capsules could be no longer than a shoe box, and no parachute could be used. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Dropped From Plane Not Many Eggs Get Scrambled

Even Isaac Newton couldn't have performed a finer experiment than did a group of students at Franklin Junior High School Wednesday afternoon.

Using eggs, instead of Newton's famous apples, 33 intermediate 6 students put their knowledge of energies and forces to work to protect the 26 eggs. The eggs were dropped from an airplane from up to 2,000 feet into a field near N. Oneida Street in Grand Chute.

Four eggs broke, 21 were intact (and ready for boiling), and one was lost (but the odds are it was intact).

The reason 21 survived? Well, the students could tell you better than anyone else because they each used their own materials and methods to pack and protect the eggs. A few students worked together on the science class project.

However, Gary Lemery, their teacher, offered a few answers. He said the students, after studying the problems for overcoming forces, began inventing capsules for their eggs and the culmination of the science study.

"Some students set their eggs in gelatin, others in bread, or foam rubber, water, and one used a stuffed animal," he said. "Anything to provide a cushion," he added.

Lemery said the capsules each were different in construction and theory, but all were aimed at "simulating soft landings", an important aspect of the nation's space program.

Parents, other adults and 33 excited students gathered in the large field about 1:30 p.m.

Thursday as Appleton pilot James Downs buzzed over. Bombs away, and eggs came down, some slow, some fast, depending on the theory of the student constructor.

The students scrambled into the field to retrieve their capsules.

"The capsules were dropped at heights of 500 to 2,000 feet," Lemery said. "Some of the eggs were traveling about 125 miles per hour when they landed," he added.

He noted the dropping would not have been possible if Downs had not volunteered his plane and services. Downs was a skydiver, he said.

Lemery said the project was being planned for six weeks and did much to build enthusiasm for science, which tends to bore youngsters when taught only from a book.

Kaukauna Park Plan Go-Ahead To be Sought

Outagamie Board Committee Agrees On Fox River Site

The Outagamie County Board Park committee will seek the go-ahead to develop a plan for the 1000 Island Park site located on the southeastern edge of Kaukauna, the committee agreed this morning.

The park site, the second on a five-year priority list for county park development, is located on the Fox River.

Specifically, the park committee will ask the county board for authority to work with Charles Hervey, chief park planner of the Northeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission, on a development plan.

Plamann Park

Supv. Carl Runte, Kaukauna, who has pushed for development of the large site, moved for the action. The county's other total park facility is Plamann Park, located north of Appleton.

The park has been eyed for developing several types of outdoor recreation, including a wildlife sanctuary, as Plamann Park has. The Kaukauna City Council reportedly favors this type of development.

In other business, the park committee learned the well pumps are ready to fill the Plamann Park lake. The committee authorized Wisconsin Michigan Power Company to put in underground wiring as soon as possible so the pumps can be operated.

The committee was told it

Auto Slams Into Train, Three Injured

Three members of two Appleton families escaped with relatively minor injuries when the car in which they were riding slammed into the side of a Chicago and North Western Railway Co. locomotive about 12:15 a.m. today on Outagamie County Trunk A, just north of State 125.

Driver of the car, according to Outagamie County police, was Roy E. Wittwer, 36, 12 Bellair Court, who was not hurt.

His wife, Dolores, suffered face cuts and a left ankle injury. Robert Wittwer, 39, 712 W. Hawes Ave., suffered rib injuries, and his wife, Susan, sustained a leg injury. All three were taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital by Larry's Ambulance.

Crewmen on the freight train said two cars were northbound on County Trunk A. The first car made it across the tracks in front of the train but the Wittwer car struck the right front of the engine. Wittwer's 1969 auto was demolished.

Driver Evidently Has Heart Attack Before Accident

A 74-year-old Menasha man, who apparently suffered a heart attack just before his car struck a truck in Appleton Wednesday, was dead on arrival at Theda Clark Memorial Hospital, Neenah.

William H. Miller, 324 Winnebago Ave., was westbound on College Avenue, turning onto S. Pierce Avenue, when his car went out of control and struck a parked tow truck at Neuman's Service Station, 911 W. College Ave.

Members of the Appleton Fire Department rescue squad administered oxygen and Miller was taken by ambulance to the Neenah hospital. There was minor damage to the truck and Miller's car, according to Appleton police.

Miller's wife was with him at the time of the accident.

One of Six Victims of this grinding, head-on crash on Appleton's east side Wednesday afternoon awaits the arrival of an ambulance. Four vehicles were involved in the accident. Fire fighters were summoned to flush down leaking gasoline. (Post-Crescent Photo)

NLRB Contempt Attorney Ousted in Trial

OSHKOSH — Another dimension was added to the Fox Valley ready-mix industry dispute Wednesday afternoon when a company attorney was held in contempt of court at a National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) trial.

After repeated warnings to discontinue the pursuit of his "unexpressed theory" while questioning a witness, Atty. Russ R. Mueller, Milwaukee, arising out of a Dec. 11 incident counsel for two Oshkosh firms, was ousted from the case.

The action was taken by Trial Examiner Eugene F. Frey, Washington, D. C., who also had been repeatedly interrupted by Mueller.

The defendants in an unfair labor practice case being prosecuted by the NLRB are three Appleton unions and their agents — Teamsters Local 563, Operating Engineers Local 139 and Plumbers and Steamfitters Local 458.

Mueller was representing Inland Trucking Co., and Wesley Mielahn co-partners of the Oshkosh Ready-Mix Co., who originally filed charges of alleged illegal secondary boycotting arising out of a Dec. 11 incident in which the three unions picketed the State 47-Midway Road project in the Town of Menasha because materials were being used from strikebound Oshkosh Ready-Mix and Courtney & Plummer, Neenah.

Mueller is believed to be the first attorney in Wisconsin ever to be cited for contempt in the 34-year history of the NLRB.

Mueller, according to the NLRB regional director at Milwaukee, sent an emergency appeal last night to Washington asking the full National Labor Relations Board to reverse Frey's citation, which barred him from further participation in the case and left Mielahn without legal counsel.

Labor Law

While the case is being prosecuted by federal government attorneys, Mueller was representing the Oshkosh firms in the proceedings.

Earlier, an unsuccessful attempt had been made to have the charge against the union withdrawn and case dropped — an apparent strategy move on the part of Mueller.

Since its inception, the case has been a battle of labor law strategy involving attorneys for the union, government and Oshkosh firms. The decision may have a bearing on other actions pending before the NLRB in connection with the eight-month strike of the Teamsters and Operating engineers against the Fox Valley Contractor Material Suppliers Association.

Donald Wetzel, an official of Fond du Lac-Oshkosh Teamsters Local 126, was on the stand in the circuit court room on the third floor of the Winnebago County Courthouse, when lengthy exchanges between Frey and Mueller led to the contempt citation at 4:17 p.m. and sudden adjournment of the case.

Frey had cautioned Mueller several times during the course of the afternoon to quit interrupting witnesses and let them finish answering questions. Mueller further irritated the trial examiner by interrupting him.

On a long line of questioning of Wetzel as to when he knew Oshkosh Ready-Mix had obtained a new attorney, Frey told Mueller, "I think you are going far afield now."

The NLRB trial judge told Mueller he saw no reason to go into considerable detail and review the case all over again.

"I'm testing the man's credibility," Mueller told Frey.

"Well, if you will let the man (Wetzel) finish his sentence it is alright," Frey declared. "Don't you go cutting him off though."

"You don't have the right to cut a witness off and plaster his mouth shut when you think you got out of him what you want," Frey continued.

Mueller started to interrupt the trial examiner.

"Will you kindly keep quiet," Frey told the lawyer.

Wisconsin Avenue Crash Collision of Truck, 3 Cars Leaves 6 Injured

Six persons were injured, three of them seriously, in a grinding, four-vehicle accident on E. Wisconsin Avenue, near Ballard Road, about 5:20 p.m. Wednesday.

Taken to Appleton Memorial and St. Elizabeth Hospitals by Gold Cross and Larry's ambulance services were Gregory W. Smith, 17, 1414 N. Graceland Ave., with a neck fracture, a broken nose, and face cuts, and his passenger, Daniel Limpert, Jr., 17, 1425 E. Calumet St., who all but the truck were demolished.

Others injured and taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital by ambulance were Harriet A. Bekkers, 20, route 2, Kaukauna, who was traveling nearly side-by-side with a dislocated finger and side in the double eastbound lanes.

Witnesses reported the Smith car was traveling at a high rate of speed prior to the collision fracture, a possible jaw fracture with Rhoades' truck. Appleton fire fighters were summoned to head and face; and another flush down gasoline leaking passenger, Cheryl M. Van from the three wrecked cars. Straten, 23, route 2, Shiocton, which ended up in a heap in the who had cuts to the head and middle of Wisconsin Avenue.

Charges as a result of the accident are pending.

4 Years of Warnings Rundown Residence Might be Condemned

Appleton officials — after four years that Appleton would have years of warnings — have to make a more thorough inspection of properties in con- threatened an absentee property owner with condemnation of his junction with a citywide code unoccupied rundown residence enforcement program.

Inspection Ordered

On Oct. 16, 1968, the city council directed Magnette's de- council directed Magnette's de- council recently that he has been having problems inspecting the building owned by Frank Crowe, Des Moines, Iowa.

The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) notified city officials last

At the same time, Magnette disclosed that in March of 1965 Crowe was ordered to make necessary repairs and keep up the maintenance on the building.

As a result, Crowe was issued a building permit in July, 1966.

"Very little work has been accomplished and the permit has since expired," Magnette reported.

Complete Check

He said on March 21 of this year he was able to obtain a key and made a complete inspection of the residence.

"This office shall provide a detailed list of requirements to the owner and further direct him to make the necessary repairs immediately or to remove this building," Magnette said.

In his letter to Crowe, Magnette instructed the property owner to notify him within 30 days what he intends to do with the house.

The residence is one of several rundown properties listed for code enforcement in the city.

Statewide Referendum Questions . . . II State Asking to Legalize Bonded Debt

BY DON CASTONIA
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Voters will be asked Tuesday to make the state's $482 million bonded debt "legal."

According to the state Constitution, adopted in 1848, the state debt may not exceed $100,000. The sum may have been sufficient at that time but has long been considered inadequate to meet today's needs. (In contrast, the City of Appleton and the Appleton School district have a combined debt of more than $20 million and are still far from the legal limit.)

Direct Bonding

The constitutional amendment which voters will be asked to act upon will be to permit the state to do what is now being done through "dummy" building corporations.

If the referendum is passed, it would permit the state to directly issue bonds with a limit of 5 per cent of the total state equalized valuation would be set. Presently, this would set a bonded limit of about $1.3 billion. However, not more than three-fourths of one per cent of the limit — or about $195 million — could be issued in any one year without another statewide referendum.

The $482 million bonded debt of the dummy building corporations would be counted as part of the state debt if the referendum passes.

"Under the dummy corporation system, there is no limit on the amount of money that may be borrowed," said Assemblyman Paul Alfonsi, R-Minocqua, a sponsor of the resolution proposing the change.

"The constitutional amendment would not only set a realistic debt limit, but bring borrowing out in the open so the public will know how much money is being spent for bonding," Alfonsi added.

In addition to making the bonding debt more open, it would make the legislature directly responsible for each building project. This is not the case with the dummy corporation system.

Paid by Revenues

Dummy building corporations came into being in 1923 when the State Supreme Court ruled they were a legal means of getting around the constitutional debt limit. The first one was formed to construct buildings for the University of Wisconsin. Three others have since been created although plans are to combine the four into one corporation.

Two of the corporations, for the University of Wisconsin and the state university system, issue "self-amortizing" bonds for dormitories and student unions which are paid off with revenue from those buildings, and for classroom space which is "rented" to the department using the building.

The other two dummy corporations issue tax-supported bonds, which, in effect, means the state will guarantee their payment with tax funds.

Prior to 1965, self-amortizing bonds could literally be issued without the knowledge of either the State Building Commission or the state Legislature.

Conservative View

After 1965, the State Building Commission took control of the corporations but bonds

Teachers hired included Miss Bonnie Lee Foster, first grade; Miss Ellen Wildes, fourth grade; Michael Kaeske, fifth grade, and Gary Nelson, senior high school art teacher and cross country coach. All are graduates of Oshkosh State University.

Without Foot Race, He's Still a Winner

COLBERT, Okla. (AP) — Ollie Weger didn't get his foot race, but he turned out to be a winner after all.

Last week the 67-year-old Weger tied with incumbent W. W. Brockett, 68, in the election for a seat on the Colbert City Council. Each received 118 votes.

Weger proposed a foot race to decide the winner, but the Bryan County Election Board pointed out that the law says such situations must be settled with a lottery.

The election board met Monday, and pulled Ollie Weger's name out of a hat.

Health Office Assistant Proposed

KAUKAUNA — The health and recreation committee voted Tuesday night to recommend the hiring of Carlos Bice, 1501 Main Ave., as assistant in the health and recreation office at a starting salary of $5,000 per year, to be increased to $5,200 after a 2-month probationary period.

The committee failed to agree on whether to undertake a tree spraying program, expected to cost about $500, to combat the spread of Dutch Elm disease. A motion to begin the program deadlocked at 2-2, indicating the matter may be discussed by the council when a full compliment of aldermen are present.

The bid of M and R Fence builders of $1,895 to provide fencing and a backstop at the new softball diamond at the Doty Bayougeon Recreation area was accepted. Little Chute Public High School was granted permission to use the track at the recreation area for an April 17 track meet.

A letter was received from the Nurse's Examining Council of the Department of Health and Social Services for Wisconsin indicating Mrs. Mary Yingling, city nurse, was certified for all types of public health nursing after review of her credits and credentials had been completed.

Permission was granted Mrs. Yingling to attend a Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association conference at Milwaukee March 28.

Hospital Women Card Party to Aid Nurse Fund

KAUKAUNA — The Community Hospital Auxiliary will sponsor its third annual benefit card party at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in Holy Cross School cafeteria.

Proceeds from the affair are used for the nursing scholarship fund provided by the auxiliary. Currently two local girls are receiving nurses' training under the program and a third winner will be announced at the Kaukauna High School award's night program in June.

All types of games will be played with prizes awarded at each table. Lunch and refreshments will be served. A bazaar in conjunction with the party will include items such as home made bread, candy, canned goods, fancy work, notions and cards.

Mrs. George Hurst and Mrs. Harry Hurst are co-chairmen assisted by Mrs. William Landreman, Mrs. Jack Ashauer, Mrs. Howard Voe, Mrs. George Simon and Mrs. Robert Vondracek.

3 Town Offices Being Contested

KAUKAUNA — Three top offices in the Town of Kaukauna will be contested in Tuesday's election while three incumbents are running without opposition. Voting will be in the town hall from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Incumbent Chairman Floyd Van Vreede, a farmer, is being opposed by Gordon Newhouse, an employee of Thimnany Pulp and Paper Co. Incumbent Supv. Lloyd Vander Heiden is opposed by Wesley Newhouse. Both are farmers. Seeking the office of clerk are Mrs. James Van Gaurts, a housewife, and Fred Geurts, a farmer.

Running unopposed are Treasurer Alvin Lemke, Assessor Richard Vander Heiden and Constable Edward Kieffer. Township residents residing within the Kaukauna school district also will be voting on a school referendum question and candidates for the board of education.

Rural Appleton Driver Hurt; $3,500 Damage In Little Chute Mishap

LITTLE CHUTE — Harold Beyer, 49, route 2, Appleton, suffered multiple lacerations to his mouth and tongue when the car he was driving struck a parked auto about 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

According to police, Beyer was driving north on Madison Street when his car struck an auto owned by Robert Ballering, 1415 N. Viola St., Appleton, which was parked at 1122 N. Madison St. Police estimated damage to the two cars at $3,500.

Beyer was taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital by police.

Bankruptcy Petitions Are Filed by Three Residents of Valley

Audrey A. d. m. o. v. i. c. h., 1333 Plank Road, Menasha, a cook, filed a voluntary bankruptcy petition in U. S. District Court at Milwaukee.

Police Investigate Appleton High School Program Vandalism Spree Students 'Fabricating' Future Jobs

Appleton police are continuing investigation into a window-breaking vandalism spree on the north side early Wednesday.

Mrs. George Verkuilen, 2107 N. Owaissa St., reported at 1:30 a.m. that her bedroom window and four windows in an overhead garage door were broken. While police were conducting the investigation there, they found that several windows and lights in a parked car owned by Valerie Ballard had been smashed. The 1960 car was parked in her driveway at 2101 N. Owaissa Street.

A living room window, a door glass, and a bedroom window were smashed at the Edmund Braun home, 903 E. Byrd St. Braun called police at 1:30 a.m. after he heard the breaking glass and saw two boys running toward a car parked near his house.

A cigarette vending machine at Mary's A & W Drive-In was damaged, police discovered about 2:30 a.m. Wednesday.

James Houlihan, 1827 N. Clark St., reported that all the windows in his 1965 auto were smashed while the car was parked at his house.

Police found identical footprints at each of the five places where vandalism occurred.

A total of 25 students at Appleton East and West high schools are fabricating their future jobs.

This doesn't mean they are inventing them, but rather laying the framework — a structure which will allow them to enter the world of work basically prepared.

All are students in the metal fabrication project method course for senior boys who have successfully completed the junior class and whose vocational objective is the metals field. The program, started two

Second Youth Caught In Entry of Kimberly Junior High School

KIMBERLY — Village police apprehended a second 13-year old youth who admitted entering the Junior High School Sunday afternoon and taking various items from desks in the school.

All stolen items were recovered. The boy and his companion had tampered with a main door to prevent it from locking properly and had no trouble entering the building. He is to be referred to the department of public welfare by village police.

Universities Record Increase Half State Graduates Get Teaching Degrees

MADISON — The nine Wisconsin State Universities awarded degrees to a record 6,595 graduates in 1968, an increase of 15 per cent over the previous year, the WSU system office reports. More than half of the graduates were prepared for teaching careers.

An analysis of degrees granted in February, June and August of 1968 shows that the total included 781 advanced degrees, a 27 per cent increase over 1967.

The 5,814 graduates who received bachelor degrees included 3,291 certified to take teaching positions, an increase of 286 over 1967. Among these were 2,076 women and 1,215 men.

Bachelor degrees in fields other than teaching went to 1,935 men and 588 women. Men outnumbered women 563 to 218 among those receiving advanced degrees. Nearly half of the 781 advanced degrees were granted by Stout State University (198) and WSU-Superior (185).

Report Highlights

Other highlights of the graduation report published by the WSU system office include: Leading majors in which bachelor degrees were granted were 1,349 in elementary education, 698 in business (323 at Whitewater and 100 at Eau Claire), 397 in English 315 in industrial technology (275 at Stout and 40 at Platteville), 282 in sociology and social studies.

Wives Dislike Homes Run With Computers

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

Most wives aren't thrilled by the prospect of a future in which most of their household tasks will be done by a computer. They realize that a computer, if it breaks down, is one machine they can't fix with a hairpin.

Weight lifters are the most inverted of athletes, even more so than professional baseball pitchers.

You can bet that if a man has more than three kinds of medicine in his office desk drawer, he's already looking forward to retirement.

The older and richer a fellow gets, the more he likes to look back and speak wistfully of the deprivations of his childhood. He gets more real pleasure out of recalling them than he does enjoying his present wealth.

Don't you hate to eat in restaurants that have imperious hatcheck girls? The put you a bad mood even before the headwaiter can give you a seat too near the kitchen.

Office Tyrants
The biggest tyrants in the average office are those who are most henpecked at home.

Nothing has less personality than a breaded veal cutlet warmed over after sitting in the refrigerator for two days. Any husband served one should have legal grounds for divorce.

You never know how dumb a woman can be until you meet a smart one who likes to show off her intelligence.

I automatically trust a man who wears suspenders. Anyone that old-fashioned just couldn't be a modern successful crook.

One of the big differences between men and women is that two men can work in a kitchen together and emerge still friendly toward each other.

No one is welcomed more to his face and talked about more behind his back than a gossip. But at least isn't he less of a hypocrite than the rest of us?

An old-timer is a guy who can remember when he felt safe as long as he had a buck in his pocket.

Sound Advice
Since Bernard Baruch passed away, nobody else has come along who seems able to sit on a park bench and give us the sound advice we all need.

Who can look at pigeons conducting their courtships in spring without sighing inside about some girl he wooed and lost in his own youth?

One of the troubles with taking correspondence school courses is that you don't have much chance of being voted the guy in your class most likely to succeed.

It is hard to like a man with prejudices unless he happens to share our own.

The chore that secretaries dislike performing most is having to remember to buy the boss's wife flowers on her birthday. They always feel the flowers are going to the wrong girl.

The easiest way to enjoy the pleasures of solitude is to always tell the truth.

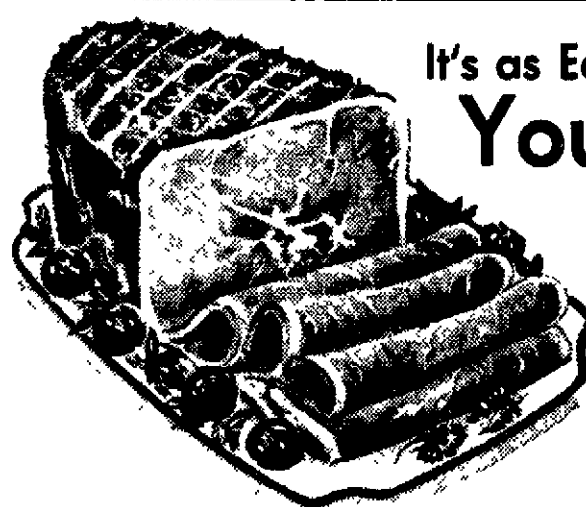

Whenever I see pictures of the kind of ultra-modern houses that architects design for themselves, I feel they were built to be dwelt in by inhabitants of Mars. I'd prefer to live in a nice log cabin.

Police dogs are becoming popular among fearful city folk who are afraid of muggers. Isn't it odd how the dogs always look more interesting than the people who lead them?

Hell hath no fury deeper than the feeling that sweeps through a crowded bus when a messenger boy with a large package starts bumping his way to the rear, cheerfully whistling a tune off-key.

Inflation is so rough now that about the only thing most of us can hope to save up for a rainy day is an umbrella.

Jew Plans to Publish King Hussein's Book

LONDON (AP) — A Jewish publisher says he has bought the British Commonwealth rights to King Hussein's account of the six-day Arab-Israeli war in 1967.

Publisher Peter Owen told newsmen he plans to invite the Jordanian king to launch the book in London next June, two years after the war in which Israeli forces captured a large chunk of Hussein's territory.

"As a Jew I was nervous at first about publishing the book," said Owen. "but I have read it carefully and I am convinced that Hussein's account is objective and honest."

Proposal Asks to Excuse Students To Learn Religion

MADISON (AP)—A resolution introduced in the Wisconsin Assembly Wednesday would amend the Constitution to allow students to leave school during regular hours for religious instruction.

The proposal, sponsored by Speaker Harold V. Froehlich, R-Appleton, must pass two legislatures before it can be submitted to voters.

Another proposal, introduced by Assemblyman Raymond Tobiasz, D-Milwaukee, would repeal the law which allows municipalities to tax automobiles as a source of revenue. The law permits a tax of $9.

The law was passed by the 1967 legislature.

It was noted at a recent meeting of the Tarr Task Force that no communities in the state were known to have imposed the tax.

Cuban Attorneys Will Practice for 'Society'

MIAMI (AP) — Private practice for Cuban lawyers has ended and attorneys will now practice "exclusively for society," according to a Havana Radio broadcast monitored in Miami recently.

Cuban prime minister Fidel Castro is a lawyer. He pleaded his own defense after his attack on a military garrison in Santiago in 1953 six years before he assumed power.

One Employee Always Part Of a Takeover

Conglomeration Made Easier by Firm's Official

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — In every takeover attempt of one corporation by another, the skids are greased by at least one disgruntled employee. To some he is a Judas; to others, himself included, he may be a saint. He is always present.

This is the view of a man who advises companies fearful of being absorbed in the present day rash of conglomerations, or the merging and molding of disparate enterprises into one larger company.

Dr. Eugene Jennings of Michigan State University, who has spent most of his adult life studying and advising management, writing about it and teaching it to students, offers this as one explanation of how mergers are accomplished.

"The Judas, if he is to be called that, is a terribly abused individual, at least in his own viewpoint. He has nothing to lose if his company is taken over and so he supports the moves of the aggressor company.

He might be a controller or an engineer in a company where controllers and engineers never have a shot at the presidency. He may be in what Jennings calls a nonpriority or terminal route.

Powerful Man

He is, nevertheless, an important and powerful man in the company. He knows the large stockholders and so can talk them into agreeing to the takeover. He also owns stocks himself and he has influence with the directors.

"In every instance," Jennings says, "there is one of these individuals. If he isn't immediately obvious to the aggressor company he soon will be, and the aggressor need do nothing in order to obtain his help.

"He will announce himself," Jennings has found. "He'll get on the phone and say: 'I'm the controller of XYZ. I think it would be a fine thing for you to take over this company for the following reasons. . . .'"

With this important contact established, the aggressor company then has a spokesman within the power structure, a man capable of arguing its case with management and with powerful stockholders.

Management Can Know

The pattern reappears, Jennings notes. Furthermore, with a bit of reflection it shouldn't be impossible for the management of a company being threatened to know who the individual will be.

Jennings advises firms that the best protection against takeover, however, is to maintain a high price-earnings ratio, meaning a high per share market valuation of its stock in relation to earnings.

"And the way to build and maintain a high price-earnings multiple is through wise and profitable asset management. If a company uses its assets and resources well, investors will flock to its stock and the price will rise.

"When a company is thus operating at its top potential, and this fact is recognized by strength in its stock price, a takeover is difficult. First, stockholders are happy. Second, the company is too expensive to be taken over.

Below Potential

One of the reasons that a record 4,400 mergers were counted in 1968 by W.T. Grimm & Co., of Chicago, is that many companies today are performing far below their potential. They are rather easy marks.

Because these companies are run by traditionalist management, they sometimes fail to understand innovation. And innovation is one of the tools for straining profits out of assets.

The aggressor company knows beforehand that it can stimulate sales and earnings of the weaker company and so it offers stockholders a price far above the existing market value. This is a bonus for tendering stock.

Clearing the way for the takeover is the somewhat disgruntled executive of the weaker company. Never able to rise higher under the existing setup, he uses his influence with stockholders and the board to bring about a merger.

For him there is nothing to be lost.

Industrial Park Deed Restrictions Revealed

Unknown to Appleton city officials, industrial park properties sold to firms and individuals have been covered by a uniform deed restriction since 1962, it was explained Tuesday.

City Atty. David Geenen and Public Works Director Frank Keuler supplied the information to the board of public works.

At the last city council meeting, Ald. William Errington (15th) said the city should make sure property it sells at cost should not be sold to speculators.

Errington admitted nothing has yet happened, but said he wants to have a reversionary clause tacked on to all municipal land sales.

Keuler said a deed restriction, which requires that property be called that one firm buying land in the Northeast Industrial Park made it known in advance it would lease part of its building for office or storage space.

Ald. John Ayers (12th) felt the deed restriction giving the city option to repurchase the property should apply to all land sold by the city.

"We just don't want to have anyone speculating after they buy city property at cost," added Ald. Alvin E. Tews (5th), council president.

The board referred the matter to the council's commerce-industrial development committee.

Slippery Roads Blamed for Two Village Mishaps

KIMBERLY — Slippery roads were listed as contributing factors in two accidents investigated by village police, neither resulting in injury.
Property damage was estimated at $350 in an accident on Washington Street and E. Kimberly Avenue about 7:20 p.m. Tuesday. According to police, an auto driven by Mrs. David Grunwaldt, 1008 Hennes Court, Kaukauna, slid through an arterial into the path of a car driven by Michael Roskom, 213 Irene St., Appleton, which also slid on slippery roads.
At 12:50 a. m. Wednesday a car driven by Charles Jansen, 40, 420 S. Elm St., skidded onto a terrace and struck two trees as the driver attempted to avoid a car going in the opposite direction on E. Third Street. Damage was estimated at $400.

Stolen W. DePere Car Found in Appleton

A car stolen in West De Pere was found abandoned in the 100 block of N. State Street, Wednesday afternoon.

Police, who said the car had been parked there for several days, determined, through a license check, that the auto is owned by Eleanor Konrath, West De Pere.

Gateway Cancels Its Subsidiary Air Taxi Service

LACROSSE — Gateway Transportation Co., Inc. has announced that operations of its subsidiary, Gateway Aviation Co., Inc., will end Friday.
John A. Murphy, president of Gateway, said the primary reasons for entering the air taxi business "have not been achieved."
Gateway flew routes between LaCrosse, Milwaukee and Chicago.
Preston Wilbourne, vice president and general manager of Air Wisconsin, Appleton-based third level airline, performed the ground services for Gateway at both Milwaukee and Chicago.
Air Wisconsin said they had no plans to acquire the aircraft used by Gateway. Gateway was using one DH-600, similar to two in service by Air Wisconsin, and one Twin Beechcraft-18.

Sherwood Honor Court Will Name Leading Scout

SHERWOOD — The outstanding Boy Scout in troop 62 will receive a trophy during Court of Honor ceremonies Monday at Harrison School.
A 6:30 p.m. family potluck dinner will precede the awards program. Demonstrations will be given in fire building, backpacking and the gun safety program which earned the troop first place award at the East District Boy Scout Expo.
Selection of the outstanding Scout was made by James Schmidt, scoutmaster, on the basis of the Scout oath and laws, advancement, attendance at activities and leadership. Scouting here is sponsored by the American Legion.

Smoke Damage to Kaukauna Residence

KAUKAUNA — Extensive smoke damage was reported to a home owned by Robert Whitman, 2112 Thelan Ave., about 9:50 a.m. Wednesday when a youngster placed three metal trivets on the burner of an electric stove and turned on the burner.
Mrs. Whitman was in the basement and did not realize paint from the trivets began smoking. Firemen remained at the scene about one-half hour and used the smoke ejector to clear the home. Firemen reported walls, furniture, drapes and carpeting will have to be cleaned as a result of smoke damage.

Wednesday afternoon. Police, who said the car had been parked there for several days, determined, through a license check, that the auto is owned by Eleanor Konrath, West De Pere.

Need Probed For Protection For Consumers

Twin City Chamber Conducting Survey On Possible Group

NEENAH-MENASHA — The Chamber of Commerce, through a consumer opinions and attitudes survey, is trying to find out if the Twin Cities area needs some form of consumer protection.

Chamber officials today sent out 500 questionnaires to a random sampling of Twin City shoppers asking for their attitudes on products, advertising and promotions, consumer credit, guarantees and repairs, prices and quality and general shopping information.

Preliminary Step

Charles Littlefield, chamber president, explained the survey was a preliminary step to see if a business consumer committee, as an arm of the Chamber, is needed.

"We don't know if we have a problem here," Littlefield explained. "We are trying to find out if we do."

Pending Legislation

John Konrad, chamber executive secretary, said "There's legislation pending now in the state and federal governments on consumer protection. We feel we have enough legislation. What we would like to do is police ourselves."

"A survey of this type gives shoppers an opportunity to air their gripes — if they have any," he added.

"We want to get the consumer's thinking on misleading advertising and pressure sales," Littlefield said. "and if we find a problem attempt to correct it."

Police Itself

"Through this, we think the business community can police itself," he continued. "without the need for strict federal and state controls."

The information gathered in the questionnaire will also be made available to local businessmen for a self-evaluation, Konrad and Littlefield explained.

Now all consumer complaints received by the Chamber are handled with it acting as an arbitrator in contacting both the consumer and business.

Arpin Backs Retention of Judicial Election System

NEENAH — Edmund P. Arpin, a candidate for the newly created second branch of Circuit Court, has come out strongly in favor of the present system of elected Wisconsin Judges rather than appointing them.

"As our courts become more involved with policy-making decisions affecting not only the parties in court, but touching on the lives of all of us, it becomes increasingly more important that the people have an active voice in the selection of their judges," he said.

He added, "It is a popular misconception that by appointing judges, all political considerations are removed."

16-Year-Old Referred To Juvenile Authorities For Smoking Hashish

NEENAH — A 16-year-old Appleton youth has been referred to Winnebago County juvenile authorities by Neenah police for possession of hashish. He was arrested Saturday at 516 N. Commercial St. when a policeman spotted him and two other youths in an automobile. The youth who has been referred to authorities was allegedly lighting a pipe with the drug in it, according to police.

Neenah Police Capt. Vern Wollerman said the investigation was completed this morning before the case was referred to juvenile authorities.

Trip to Washington, D.C.

Young Menashan Wins Handicap Contest

MENASHA — A 15-year-old Menasha youth has been named the first place winner of the Governor's Hire the Handicap Contest for writing an essay entitled, "What Every Employer Should Know About Handicapped Workers."

Mark Roemer, a junior at Oshkosh High School, has received an invitation from President Richard Nixon to attend a meeting of the President's Committee on the Employment of the Handicapped May 1-2.

As winner of the state contest, Roemer will receive $200 in savings bond plus $200 in cash from the AFL-CIO to cover expenses for his trip to Washington.

Mark, who has a severe visual disability, will also attend a special program April 14 in Madison with Gov. Warren Knowles in attendance.

The youth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Roemer, 232 Kaukauna St., Menasha. His essay, in complete form, is as follows:

What should every employer know about handicapped workers? When a handicapped person applies for a job (for instance, a deaf person), the employer, if interviewing the person, should not immediately deduce which jobs in his business the person's handicap would prevent him from doing (such as holding the position of a telephone operator). Rather, he should concentrate on what the applicant's disability does not bar him from (in this case the deaf person might turn out to be a marvelous accountant). The employers should be aware of the person's attitude toward working. If the will to work is there, the person can frequently be adapted, with possibly some special equipment, to many jobs. If the negative attitude toward work is present, however, there is usually not much that can be done, even with the newest and best adaptational devices.

As I, myself, am a handicapped student and will need a job in the future to support myself, and perhaps a family, I will not want to be turned away from employment offices as "helpless," as the visually-handicapped segment of society was considered not too long ago. I would like my prospective employer to know about the special devices which could help me to adapt to my particular position, instead of having him deduce, "because you are blind, you cannot possibly perform any of the jobs in my company." I naturally hope that the employer will be aware of my good qualities, and not merely dwell on my limitations. For example, I am very punctual.

The only occasions on which I have shown up late for a class were caused by transportation inconsistencies and not by any loitering on my part. I strive to be efficient and prepared daily with my schoolwork. I do not find it difficult to maintain a test average of 99 in mathematics, my favorite subject. This is the subject I believe I shall need most for the business field I plan to enter. But most important of all, I believe I have the will to work. I realize that in order to earn a living I will have to perform some type of work exceptionally well.

In other related fields of disability, deaf people could be employed in machine assembly plants or other factories where the noise level might be abnormally high. A deaf girl might become an excellent transcription typist. A person who has had all of his limbs amputated might be a boon to the world of science, or have an extremely good head for business because of his high mental abilities.

There is much manpower in the handicapped section of our population, and all employers should investigate the benefits to be had by hiring disabled workers. A handicapped person is merely a new kind of specialist — a man who has become proficient in a field which requires the use of his unimpaired abilities. If employers look at handicapped people in this optimistic perspective, their corporations will both progress and prosper.

Attorney Held In Contempt At Labor Trial

of Wetzel and got back on the subject of when Gordon Gill, a Fox Cities attorney, represented Oshkosh Ready-Mix in contract negotiations.

But Frey again advised Mueller it was time for him to halt the line of questioning, asking the Milwaukee attorney what his purpose was.

Mueller explained it related to an "unexpressed theory" which he was attempting to develop for the record.

"I'm sorry about that," Frey replied, advising Mueller he would not be permitted to "ramble all week or all year on some unexpressed theory."

Shifts Questions

Mueller then shifted questioning of Wetzel to the activities of Teamsters Council 39, made up of about 20 locals in the state.

After Mueller asked a series of detailed questions, periodically interrupting the witness, Frey again admonished the attorney.

"And I want you to stop smirking and laughing," Frey told Mueller, slouched down in his chair most of the afternoon.

Mueller told Frey he knew what answers he wanted to get out of the witness and felt he was proceeding properly.

"I want you to stop arguing with me," Frey replied, "You had better cut this out or I'll bar you from the hearing. You are not getting facts that deal with the issue here . . . so go on with something else."

Extreme Leeway

Frey said Mueller had been given "extreme leeway."

After Wetzel concluded his testimony, Schlieve took the stand and later produced a map showing locations of an estimated 13 to 14 ready mix firms in the area.

While Frey was advising Schlieve and Teamsters Attorney Gerry Miller, Milwaukee, to better identify the exhibit and its meaning — Mueller started to offer a suggestion while the trial examiner was conferring with others.

"Well, I'll be . . ." Frey exclaimed.

"Mr. Mueller, you are in contempt."

Mueller made a hurried remark, prompting Frey to declare he had not finished.

Attorney Barred

"You are barred from further participation in this hearing and the reporter (court) is ordered not to take down anything further that you have to say," Frey told Mueller.

Frey then conferred with union and government attorneys and Melahn, advising the latter the contempt action did not affect him or his case. He advised Melahn to get another attorney.

This morning Atty. Walter Davis, Milwaukee, appeared for Melahn and asked Frey to could still be issued without legislative approval.

Assembly Speaker Harold Froehlich, R-Appleton, said the constitutional amendment is an effort to put a limit on the amount of borrowing. This is why, he said, the $482 million of dummy corporation reconsider his contempt citation and allow Mueller to return to the case.

Frey advised he would reconsider his action based on two conditions which would apply to Mueller.

"One is that when I am talking, he will keep his mouth shut," Frey said.

The other was that Mueller would improve his courtroom demeanor. Frey claimed the attorney had slouched in his seat and shown indifference, often failing to stand when addressing the trial examiner.

Frey recessed the case and set April 15 for resuming proceedings.

On Tuesday, Frey had admonished Schlieve for making "agonizing facial expressions" while testimony was being taken.

He advised Schlieve to act properly and to refrain from "play acting" and making "facial expressions" in the hearing room.

The incidents took place while Schlieve was sitting behind his attorney.

bonds will be counted toward the state's debt limit if the constitutional amendment is approved. "Frankly," he said, "it is a conservative point of view."

The Assembly leader said the Legislature had been attempting for several years to gain control over dummy corporation bonding from the State Building Commission but consistently had been blocked by former State Sen. Jerris Leonard who was chairman of the commission.

Plans are for the building commission to continue to function in planning building needs, arranging contracts and taking care of preparatory details. The dummy corporations would continue to exist until the present bonds are retired but they could not issue any new bonds.

While the amendment has bipartisan support in both the Assembly and the Senate, some state officials in the capital expense division of the Department of Administration, feel the dummy corporation method has merits.

One official said the interest rate on the last bond sale was only a fraction of a per cent higher than regular municipal bonds. While this cost the state a "modest amount" more in interest, he contended state bonds competing in the municipal bond market would tend to push interest rates up for cities and counties, off-would take 40 to 50 days under ideal weather conditions to fill the lake.

4 Million Gallons

The lake reportedly will hold about four million gallons of water, and the pumping capacity will be about 42,000 gallons per 24-hour period.

The committee began preliminary work on a schedule that must be completed to put the man-made lake at Plamann Park in order.

Committee members agreed the county should do more to publicize its attractions to tourists.

setting any saving the state would realize over present dummy corporation bonding.

He also felt the dummy corporations were perhaps more conservative than the Legislature would be. He said he could conceive of "pork barrel" items entering a legislative bond issue in order to ensure passage of a bond for a needed project. "The present system is not perfect," he said, "but it is good."

NLRB Trial of 3 Appleton Unions Recessed to April 15

OSHKOSH — After two days of testimony, a National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) trial involving three Appleton unions as defendants was recessed this morning until April 15.

Charges, and an amended complaint, were filed against the unions by Oshkosh Ready Mix Co., which accused the unions of illegal picketing of a road project this past winter in the Town of Menasha.

Defendants in the action include: Teamsters Local 563, and Robert Schlieve and Jeff Curtin; Operating Engineers Local 139, and Donald Shaw; and Plumbers and Steamfitters Local 458, and Roland Chodoir.

Government attorneys are prosecuting the case against the unions, along with legal counsel for Oshkosh Ready Mix.

The unions have denied the latest complaint that picketing of the Highway 47-Midway Road project caused employees of Oshkosh Ready Mix and two others to quit work because of picket lines.

In presenting its case, the government is contending the unions threatened some employees with loss of union membership if they handled materials of the strikebound Oshkosh Ready Mix and Courtney & Plummer, Neenah.

It has also been alleged that pickets threatened some of the Oshkosh Ready Mix workers with bodily harm.

Local 563 has been on strike against the Fox Valley Contractor Material Suppliers Association, while Oshkosh-Fond du Lac Local 126 is involved in a dispute with Oshkosh Ready Mix.

While Oshkosh Ready Mix is not a member of the association, the unions have attempted to press their claim that the firm and Courtney & Plummer are jointly operated through common ownership.

Testimony of company officials earlier in the week refuted the union's claim.

(A previous decision of an NLRB trial examiner in a case involving the association, Courtney & Plummer and Teamsters and Operating Engineers held the firms were not jointly owned and operated under the definition of the Labor Act. The union is appealing.

Trial Judge Eugene F. Frey ruled against a Teamsters' counsel request earlier in the proceedings this week to again take testimony from witnesses who testified earlier on the first parts of the complaint before it was amended.

Stipulations were entered instead and the case proceeded, but bogged down considerably Wednesday after Frey and the attorney for Oshkosh Ready Mix engaged in a continuing series of disagreements.

Family Cottage Is Still the Backbone

Resort Business in State of Change

Post-Crescent News Service

MADISON — The changing face of Wisconsin's resort business was in evidence at the 1969 Touristry seminar Wednesday at the University of Wisconsin.

Only a handful of the 85 persons who attended were resort operators. Most were real estate men, contractors and bankers.

The gathering and the topics discussed indicated that, while the family-owned group of lake cottages is still the backbone of Wisconsin tourism, the times are changing. The state has lost 600 cottage type resorts in the last few years, one speaker said.

Speakers stressed unity, long-range planning, professional counsel in resort developments, finance problems, and the lack of research which hampers many tourism developments.

John Steinmann, a Montello architect, called for a statewide association of tourism related businesses. If such concerns invested one per cent of their annual gross income in a tourism association, the group would have funds to provide backing for the top-flight, long-range resort projects.

Wisconsin's estimated 1968 tourism business totaled $1.5 billion, Steinmann said. One per cent of that would allow $15 million for development.

Carefully planned long-range development is an antidote to traditional resort growth which Steinmann described as haphazard, imitative and poorly financed.

No single resort can hope to offer enough attractions to appeal to all vacationers, he pointed out. "But most counties, and certainly the whole state, have the potential.

"People go where the people are—where the action is," he said. He also chided resorters for their fear of competition—that a new resort will be bad for existing businesses.

Steinmann pointed to the success of Lake Geneva's Playboy Club, not only for the business it has attracted to itself, but also for the revenue it has drawn to existing enterprises.

Resorts can no longer be one season developments, he said. He also pointed to misuses of natural beauty sites by cheap or uncontrolled development.

The resort of Tomorrow,

Steinmann said, may be a lie, he said, but operators must realize that "a teen-age dictator may park his car when he starts his sojourn and never touch it until he leaves for home. Helicopters may whisk him from one site to another. He may pick out lodging from resorts all over the state and take part in a variety of activities during his vacation.

Gloomy Picture

Robert Greaves, Milwaukee landscape architect, painted a gloomy picture of tourism. There is little financial backing, little planning and virtually no data on which to base investment decisions, he said.

Greaves cautioned those interested in tourism development to make sure they had professional advice and help before investing. The future of resorts he said, lies in providing a community flavor for recreational activities.

There also is a need, he said, for massive public relations for tourism. "I can't see a resort industry," he said. Tourism is a huge complex of people making two bits here or there. It is hard to put in a package.

Resorts must appeal to families, he said, but operators must realize that "a teen-age dictator may park his car when he starts his sojourn and never touch it until he leaves for home. Helicopters may whisk him from one site to another. He may pick out lodging from resorts all over the state and take part in a variety of activities during his vacation.

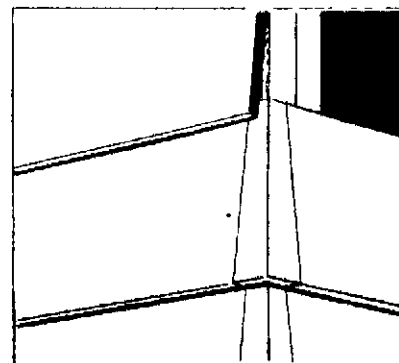

Robert C. Reschke, Chicago building consultant, stressed the development of vacation and leisure homes as the wave of the future in tourism. About one-fifth of today's new homes are vacation or second dwellings.

Data Needed

There is little data available, Reschke said, on the effect leisure housing has on communities. Such material is needed before large scale investment for development can be expected. Private communities are now growing as escape areas from big cities, he said.

Larry Montney, UW extension recreation specialist, spoke of the influence of mobile housing on state tourism. A few years ago Wisconsin had 1,700 licenses for overnight housing. The number is now down to 600 licenses—but the number of sleeping rooms has remained constant. This shows a trend toward fewer, but larger resorts, in addition to the growth of mobile recreation housing.

Celts, Warriors Win Playoff Tilts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS who were hurt by a three for 21 from the field shooting performance by Hal Greer.

The Boston Celtics are alive and well in the National Basketball Association after all. And, by the way, so are the San Francisco Warriors.

Both teams, bothered by key injuries most of the regular season, looked dead after disappointing finishes in the standings. But nothing revitalizes a team like the playoffs, and the Celtics and Warriors were alive and winging Wednesday night.

Boston surprised Philadelphia 114-100 behind Bill Russell in the opener of their best-of-seven Eastern Division semifinal, while the Warriors stunned Los Angeles 99-94 in their Western semi opener. And both victories came on the road.

The other semis begin tonight when the New York Knicks travel to Baltimore in the East and San Diego plays at Atlanta in the West.

Indiana Wins

In the American Basketball Association, Indiana beat Los Angeles 134-123 and Oakland topped Houston 131-124 Wednesday night in regular season play.

Russell and the rest of Boston's aging stars ran off a 16-5 string for a 60-40 halftime lead, and the 76ers never got closer than points again.

Big Bill, looking the way he did when Boston was carrying away NBA titles annually, scored only two points, but blocked 13 shots, grabbed 14 rebounds and assisted on eight baskets.

College Stars On Rosters in Cage Tourney

Class A Meet Set This Weekend by Menasha Group

MENASHA — Collegiate stars of the present and past are included on the rosters of the 11 teams entered in the St. John Athletic Association Class A Basketball Tournament.

The meet will begin with two games Friday night. Five are ticketed for Saturday with the semi-finals Sunday afternoon and the third place and championship games at night.

Wayne Stewart, 6-7 Lakeland College star, and several of his Lakeland teammates, are included on the roster of Andy's Library of Oshkosh, the defending champion. Stewart was chosen the most valuable player in last year's tourney.

From UW Team

John Schell and Chuck Nagel of this year's University of Wisconsin squad are slated to compete for McGovern's of Sun Prairie while Dan and Tom Anderson, both 6-7, from Marquette and De Paul, respectively, are on the Menomonee Falls Badgers roster as is Bruce White, ex-Ripon College performer.

The Tosh's Bar of Oshkosh team includes Ron Hayek, Jim Jaeger, Dale Race, Bill Schwartz and Gary Van Cuyk, all of Oshkosh State University, while Tom Gossens and Ron Brault, formerly of St. Norbert College, and Bud Muntner, College University, play with the Green Bay Reliance Printers team.

The opening game at 6.45 p.m. Friday will match Reliance against Bob Long Pizza Hut of Appleton. Johnnie's Inn, Appleton, will face Tosh's at 8 p.m.

Airlines Meet Opens

Family First, Golf Second to Littler

By WILL GRIMSLEY Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Gene Littler is back on the golf tour today after a month's idleness but it isn't the $40,000 first prize that has lured him from the home comforts of La Jolla, Calif.

"I thought I should get a couple of tournaments under my belt before the Masters," the mild-mannered, 38-year-old stylist explained. "Sure, I like to win money but there are other things more important. I don't let it rule my life."

Littler, who with $52,428 was the year's leading money winner until overtaken by Miller Barber last week, is one of the favorites in the $200,000 National Airlines Open, starting today over the country club of Miami.

The favorites' list was reduced by the withdrawal of Lee Trevino, the U.S. Open cham-

Champion who accidentally got his left thumb jammed in a door, but the 155-man field still ranks as one of the toughest in years.

Of all the affluent pros, who strut around in their expensive slacks and fleecy sweaters, Littler is the most inconspicuous and perhaps the most underrated.

ed, although he has won 21 tournaments and is reputed to have the soundest swing in the business. This year he won at Phoenix and finished second at San Diego, collecting $37,500 in two weeks.

"I suppose I could have made a bigger name for myself, won more championships and more money," the Californian said.

"I just never needed that much money or that much fame. I think a man owes something to his family. So I try to win as much money as I need and then I take off to be with my wife and two children."

"People say I didn't have the desire," Littler said. "If they meant I wouldn't let golf completely saturate my life, they are correct. I like golf. I like to be a captive of the game."

Rita Mikkelsen slammed a 229 game and a 579 series to lead the Lucky Bowling League at Sabre Lanes Monday night.

Athletic Group Sets Annual Old-Timer Tilt at Little Chute

LITTLE CHUTE — The St. John Athletic Association will sponsor its annual Old-Timers' basketball game Friday night at the St. John High School gym.

In a preliminary game at 6:30 p.m., basketball stars from the St. John classes of 1957-61 will meet stars from the 1962-68 graduates.

In the 7:30 p.m. clash, oldtimers from the athletic association will tangle with the coaches and teachers from the St. John faculty.

Some of the oldtimers who have agreed to come out of retirement for the annual muscle-loosening contest include Rog "Butter" Vander Wyl, Gene Dercks, Jerry "Spec" Hartjes, "Beanie" Bongers, Bruce Schommer, Carl Pecters, Bill Hammen, Jim Hartjes, Jim Harp, Dick Wyngaard, Jerry school

Bobby Murcer has come marching home again and the New York Yankees are shouting hurrah, hurrah.

Murcer is the same kid who was getting the raves two years ago in spring training when the New York Yankees had him ticketed to fill their shortstop void. But the 20-year-old infielder wound up playing soldier for the U.S. Army instead for the next two years.

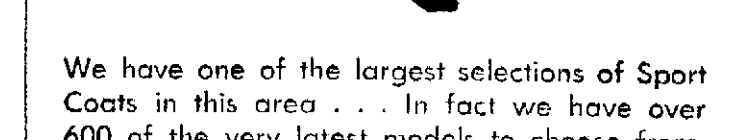

Now he is back and nothing has changed, except his position. Murcer now is playing third base, but the cheers still remain, particularly after he rapped his 21st and 22nd hits of the spring Wednesday in the Yankees 7-2 exhibition victory over Detroit.

Rod Berenson powered St. Louis with a pair of goals—his 34th and 35th of the season—as the Blues bunched all five goals in the second period on 19 shots. Ted Hampson tallied twice for Oakland in the third period, boosting his season's output to 26 goals.

Local Control Vital for Vocational Schools

This newspaper's Madison correspondent recently reported, on the basis of belated regrets from some of the leaders of the legislature, that the state law-making body "goofed" when it impulsively submitted to a referendum vote on April 1 the question of transferring the entire vocational school and technical institute system to state financing and control.

The blunder, as some of the legislators recognized too late, is in the possibility, perhaps the probability, that in this period of irritating levels of property taxation, many rank and file citizens will be tempted to vote themselves some relief by replying affirmatively to the question.

But as they ponder such a choice, they ought to remember that there is involved here not only the issue of funding, but the vital issue of control.

Do the people of Wisconsin want somebody in Madison to fix the budgets for the schools, their curricula, their locations, the size and compensation of their faculties, and to choose their directors? Do they want somebody in the distant state capitol to decide the vocational training needs of the many varying regions of the state, or do they believe that local officials responsible to local citizens, can make such decisions more accurately and fruitfully?

Over the course of half a century, Wisconsin has built one of the finest vocational school systems in the country, by the nearly universal judgment of qualified experts in the field, under a system of local management and direction and notably with the friendly and effective collaboration of labor and management representatives. That system is now being enlarged and improved. Soon the program will make its services available to all interested pupils in the state, wherever they live, and will be financed by all the people of the state, wherever they live.

The issue here is fairly comparable to the operation and management of the high school programs of Wisconsin. They are costly. They are financed largely by property taxation. But would Wisconsin voters support a transfer of those schools to the management of the state government for all of that?

The vocational school maximum levy is two mills. Added to the high rates that already prevail in many taxing districts, that is undoubtedly an unwelcome burden to those residents who had not been liable for the vocational school tax before the reorganization and enlargement of the vocational school districts.

In fact, that circumstance is at the heart of the current referendum. It was promoted in the main by legislators from northern areas of the state which never before offered their high school graduates opportunity for post-high school technical study. If the new VTE system were transferred to state financing, the more prosperous districts like our own here in the Fox River Valley would help to finance the schools in the less prosperous sections of the state.

The proposal to transfer them to the financing and control of the state could not have come at a more improbable time. It would cost the state at least $70 millions a year to operate the schools, even before the enlargement of facilities and enrollments that are planned, and $100 millions at the least to acquire the local plant and facilities. With a state budget deficit of $400 millions impending, it is obvious that only a confiscatory level of state taxation would effectuate the change.

The only course, as we see it, is to vote "no" in the vocational school advisory referendum.

Credibility Gap on Missiles

In his inauguration speech, President Nixon emphasized that this should be a period of negotiation rather than the confrontation that has characterized American-Russian relations in the past few decades. But the arguments over the ABM seem to negate his point of view.

It is possible — even likely — that the hard line taken by Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird about the alleged build-up of Soviet forces for a "first strike" and his insistence that deployment of what President Nixon called the Safeguard system around our own missile silos is in the national security as a ploy toward getting the Russians to negotiate. This assessment may be quite accurate. Certainly the Russians don't want to invest the billions necessary for the type of arms race that would grow from the continual building up of strike and defensive powers. They may be more willing to talk if they think the United States is going ahead with a system which will force them to do the same.

President Nixon's deliberate, almost casual, moves toward a meeting with the Russians tend to bear out this point of view. Diplomats in Washington are quoted by some newsmen as saying that the Nixon Administration must take a long hard look at over-all security problems before it can start moving more quickly toward a conference with the Soviet Union. However important such a review may be practically, it may also serve to be a convenient stall aimed at worrying the men in the Kremlin.

But the testimony of Mr. Laird before two congressional committees raises the danger that another credibility gap may be developing. Scientific opinion about the ABM system differs considerably. But there seem to be serious doubts about the reliability of the Minutemen missiles and whether they are worth defending at all. Mr. Laird's testimony that our intelligence now finds the development of the Soviet SS-

9 definitely for first strike possibility is in direct conflict with testimony by a former assistant secretary of defense a few months ago that the SS-9 was for a second strike. If the Soviet Union is actually building missiles to destroy the United States rather than to deter war and its own destruction this is a considerably different philosophy of Russian aims than we have heard in the last few years and the efforts to reach a detente. It not only once more brings up the Communist threat to conquer the world; it infers that the Russians are mad, for no one but a madman would start a nuclear war.

There is further confusion about against whom the ABM system is to defend. President Johnson and Secretary McNamara insisted it was against an irrational attack by the Chinese. The new administration infers it is to deter a Russian attack. And we must express bewilderment over Secretary Laird's opinion that by 1972 our Polaris missile carrying submarines will be outmoded. The reasons for this are classified so the ordinary American can't find out why and maybe this is important for military security. But there has been a considerable amount of testimony, as well that the ABM system will be outmoded even by the time it is deployed.

Senator J. W. Fulbright has charged that Secretary Laird is using the "technique of fear" to get the ABM system approved. So far we can't decide whether he is trying to scare the Russians, the Chinese or members of Congress the most. If the technique gets the Soviet Union to consider serious talks on disarmament, it will have been a big success. But like the missile gap that wasn't there, it could have repercussions. And if it leads to an ever-increasing build-up of armaments on both sides, it could be the most costly mistake in whatever is left of American history.

More Girls in Sports

The New York State Education Department has agreed to permit girls in some of the public schools to participate in some school sports that formerly were restricted to the boys. The decision came after charges of discrimination had been made.

It has not yet been announced which sports will be chosen but in all probability they will include tennis, golf, swimming, bowling, riflery and other such non-contact sports. In some other parts of the country, girls have been permitted to compete at the college level in such activities.

But the New York announcement pointed out that such experiments in the past have not worked out because "it is not yet socially acceptable for a girl to defeat a boy in athletic competition." This may be true at the high school level. But there are now several young women competing against men on the race tracks — and winning. And more than one wife can clobber her husband on the links or the bowling alley without it becoming a family scandal.

Some social scientists have insisted that the American tendency to emphasize physical strength as a masculine virtue has been responsible for aggression, psychological disturbances and even homosexuality. Maybe it wouldn't hurt the boys at all to be beaten once in a while by the girls — if the girls can be persuaded that their own femininity isn't at stake.

Looking Backward

Story on Women's Suffrage

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Post for April 8, 1869.

In the British Australian colony of Victoria, women universally assumed the right to vote some four years ago, having found the law had, probably inadvertently, been so framed as to permit them. It works admirably according to all reports.

In Sweden, chiefly through the exertions of the late Fredrika Bremer, an indirect right of voting was, in 1862, granted to all women possessing specified property qualifications.

By the Italian Code, a widow or wife separated from her husband, who pays taxes, is allowed to vote through such child or other relative, as she may designate.

In Holland, widows and single women possessed of property, are entitled to vote on all questions of taxation, etc., likely to affect its value.

In 1867, Moravia granted the franchise to all widows to pay taxes.

In Hungary, up to 1848, widows and single women who are landed proprietors, possessed the right to vote. They were deprived of it by the revolutionary government and they are petitioning in large numbers for the restoration of this right.

In Austria, women can vote as nobles, in their corporate capacity as nuns, and as taxpayers. In some cases, however, they vote by proxy.

In Canada, as in several of our own states, women are allowed to vote for and serve as school trustees.

A Word Edgewise

BY JOHN P. ROCHE

It is quite conceivable to me that by the end of 1969 there will be one less nuclear power in the world. I don't know who holds the insurance on the Red Chinese nuclear factories in Sinkiang (perhaps Lloyd's of London?), but I would suggest the policies be cancelled. A basic tenet of Bolshevik military doctrine is pre-emption. Back in the 1930's Leon Trotsky bitterly criticized Joseph Stalin for not launching a preventive war on Nazi Germany before the latter had built up its military strength; later he supported the invasion of Finland to provide in-depth defense for Leningrad. Last August we witnessed in Prague the most recent evidence of the doctrine "strike first, explain later."

Fortunately American security, is shared on equal terms by men and women alike.

25 YEARS AGO
Thursday, March 23, 1944.

United States fighter planes totaling 1,500 in number took part in a massive attack on German air bases.

Prominent Appleton civic leader, Gustave Keller, died that day at 76. Active in civic, fraternal and political affairs for more than a half-century, Mr. Keller was alderman and 9th Ward supervisor at the time of his death. He had served the old 3rd Ward from 1904 until 1910 as alderman; held offices in several national organizations and was one of the organizers and an early president of the Wisconsin State Jewelers Association. He was noted throughout the state for his ability as a speaker. Pope Pius II had made him a Knight of St. Gregory in recognition for his outstanding service in Catholic affairs.

First place forensic winners in the Eastern Division of the Little Nine Conference were Richard Mauthe, Kimberly, in oratory; Betty Lou Patch, Kimberly, extemporaneous reading; Myrna Behnke, Brillion, dramatic declamatory; John Horn, Brillion, extemporaneous speaking, and Jeanette Horn, Brillion, humorous declamatory.

10 YEARS AGO
Thursday, March 26, 1959.

William R. Giese was elected exalted ruler of Neenah-Menasha Lodge 678, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks. Giese also was Menasha's city attorney.

Vernon "Lefty" Gomez, all-time New York Yankee pitching great, was to be the featured speaker at the second annual banquet of the Fox Cities Foxes.

Champs of the 8th grade basketball league in Appleton were members of the Roosevelt team. They were John Nohbaart, Dave DeCock, Mike Woelher, Paul Cunningham, Jerry Alvin, Bill Karrow, Dave Vogt, Dave Goehler, Ray Mayne, Phil Gross, Gary Mills, Dick Bendle, Bruce Doerfler, Dick Schroeder, Dave Doerfler, Chuck Hayatt and Butch Hankewitz. Student manager was Terry Hostetler.

ond-strike capacity eliminates pre-emption as an instrument of Soviet policy vis a vis the United States — the U.S.S.R. is not run by mad men. However, then the Soviet version of the Joint Chiefs of Staff look at Red China, they are presented with a different and quite cheering perspective. First of all, Peking is caught in what I call the "Singapore bind": the British had prepared to defend Singapore from a seaborne invasion so all the big guns faced the ocean. The Japanese, uncooperatively, came by land. Similarly, when the Red Chinese set up their nuclear installations, they went to great pains to put them as far from Taiwan and Okinawa as possible. They put them out in Chinese Turkestan right next door to their ideological comrades, the Russians. It is quite a trip from a U. S. base on Okinawa, but the Soviet forces in Alma-Ata could fly down and be back for supper.

POOR AIR FORCE

Second, while Peking has an enormous army, it has a fourth-rate air force and a very low level of mechanization, mostly obsolete Soviet equipment. Soviet military sources reveal no great aversion to a "land war in Asia" and given the state of their forces it is likely that they would dispose of the Chinese much as the Germans in 1914 slaughtered and routed the huge Czarist armies massed against them.

We often forget that the Americans, South Koreans, and their U. N. allies in Korea virtually obliterated three Red Chinese field armies. American total casualties were 142,000 (34,000 dead), while a special report to the U. N. Secretary General on August 7, 1953 estimated enemy casualties (excluding civilians) as between one and a half and two million.

According to the authoritative Institute for Strategic Studies in London, the Soviets are not taking any chances. Guarding the Manchurian border and the exposed maritime salient (Vladivostok) are no fewer than 15 crack infantry divisions plus four armored divisions. Furthermore, they have medium-range missiles in Mongolia and uncontested aerial supremacy. All that is lacking is a good excuse to send up the balloon. Even a bad excuse would suffice.

Right now, Peking, driven by demonic frustrations, seems well on its way to providing Moscow with a hunting license. The Red Chinese army has long since been purged of "revisionist dogs" — a "revisionist dog" being an officer who suggests that a copy of Mao's thoughts is no equivalent of an anti-tank rocket. Peking has apparently decided to take the initiative in border clashes and ominously — these trivial fire-fights have been played up in the Soviet press. (The Russians had some savage battles with the Japanese in this same area back in the 30s, but they never received any press coverage in Moscow.)

In suspect, in short, that there is a lot of activity in the Soviet Pentagon, with officers pouring over large-scale maps of Manchuria — and Sinkiang. I wonder where the Soviet airborne army is posted, and whether it is sandboxing a strike on the nuclear factories. One thing we can be sure of: we shall learn about it after it happens. The Russians play for keeps and are not in the habit of telegraphing their punches.

Finally, the heating up of the Sino-Soviet dispute gives us every reason to hold firm in the Vietnamese negotiations in Paris. If it blows up, we have an entirely new ball game in Vietnam, for the Soviets have an ironclad rule against two-front wars and would sell Hanoi out in ten minutes to keep the United States benevolently neutral. Occasionally time is the only thing on the shelf worth buying. Let's buy some.

Wisconsin Report

Population of State Continues to Grow Younger Each Year

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Notes from the cuff of a statehouse reporter: The educational "establishment" of Wisconsin will be up in arms about a bill by Sen. Milo Knutson of La Crosse and Sen. Chester Dempsey of Hartland that would have the effect of freezing local school taxes at their 1969 levels — unless the community in a general election expressly approves additions. They would also apportion the territory within a school district into precincts of equal population, for purposes of school board representation.

The population of the state continues to grow younger.

The final compilation of Wisconsin vital statistics for 1967 shows a median age for about 4.20 million inhabitants of the state of 27 years. The others that carry substantial traffic.

While many state agencies are devoting staff and money to promoting an affirmative vote on the advisory ORAP-200 referendum which would direct the legislature to borrow up to $200 million for water pollution control and recreation lands, beneficiary agencies have been curiously silent on the referendum that would ratify the full faith and credit bonding amendment to the constitution and abolish the dummy borrowing corporations.

The latter, if adopted, would return control of the building and borrowing program to the legislature and establish biennial limits for bonding. There is ground for believing that the educational, welfare and other institution officials prefer the present system of dealing with a comparatively small Building Commission, which constitutes itself as a corporation for the purpose of borrowing without any legal limit on the total of its debt.

Politicians are pondering the consequences of the newly effective constitutional amendment that will take effect in 1970 giving state elective officers four-year terms.

Unless the amendment is repealed some day, which is unlikely, it means that never again will there be state office and presidential elections in the same year. Never again will there be coat-tail riding. Among the results will probably be a more attentive electorate with regard to state issues in state office election years, and, possibly, more effective state party organizations in terms of numbers of workers and discipline.

John A. Lawton, the widely known counsel for a variety of public employee unions in the state, has added a big Wisconsin Education Association to his string of clients for legislative lobbying purposes.

Patricia Abraham, the bright young analyst for the Republican State Senate Caucus, will probably leave that assignment soon. She was hired two years ago by former Sen. Jerris Leonard when he was Senate GOP leader and will probably go to Washington to join the staff of her former employer who is now head of the civil rights division of the U. S. Department of Justice.

Wyngaard

1960 census showed a median age of 29.4 years.

The largest age category in the state, the study shows, is the five to nine - year group, which numbers 492,000.

The motorcycle boom in the state appears to be slowing.

Although the number of the machines licensed by the state more than doubled during the last three years, officials feel that the peak will soon be reached. They are predicting a gain in total numbers of only 5,000 during the next year, for example, to about 85,000 in total.

If compensation to the owners is provided in any legislation designed to remove billboards from major scenic highways — as some state and national legislators feel may be necessary to pass control legislation — it will be extremely expensive.

The Department of Transportation has advised the legislature that it would cost at least $17 million to remove such signs from the Interstate and primary highway systems of the state in this manner, without regard to secondary state roads, county trunks and

Strictly Personal

Thoughts at Large Occupy Harris Today

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

What you learn with just the mind is quickly forgotten; what you learn when you are also emotionally involved remains imprinted in the nervous system; and the first task of education is involvement, not mere learning.

It's historically interesting (and alarming) that while such a concept as "human rights" was originally advanced by the masses and opposed by the upper classes, today in our society the idea of "human rights" is accepted by the better educated and relatively wealthy elements in the community, while opposed or ignored by the mass of people who are increasingly alienated in an industrial society.

I've just started a newly-published biography of a famous American who was a school dropout, preferring hunting and fishing to doing his chores, married at 18 with no fixed income, moved in with his in-laws, and was 30 before he found his place in life — Patrick Henry, the great hero of the American Revolution.

Wisdom does not consist so much in knowing what to do, as in knowing what not to do when you are ignorant; the chief fault of the unwise is driving toward conclusions from insufficient premises.

The limitations of modern "market surveys" were ironically pointed out by Charles Brower, head of the BBD&O advertising agency, when he commented: "If Columbus had applied modern survey methods to his proposed voyage, the market test would have told him in advance that the world was flat; depth interviews with expert seamen would have revealed the hungry monsters lurking at the ocean's end; motivational studies among his crew would have shown they were interested only in money; Ferdinand and Isabella would have cancelled their appropriation; America would never have been discovered, and all of us would be Indians."

It's my stubborn anti-medical belief that before the century is out, medical science will discover that the so-called "functionless" appendix in man has a function after all, perhaps of a protective sort.

The big word these days is "communication" — but most people can't communicate between their own conscious and unconscious selves, so how can they possibly convey an authentic message to some stranger?

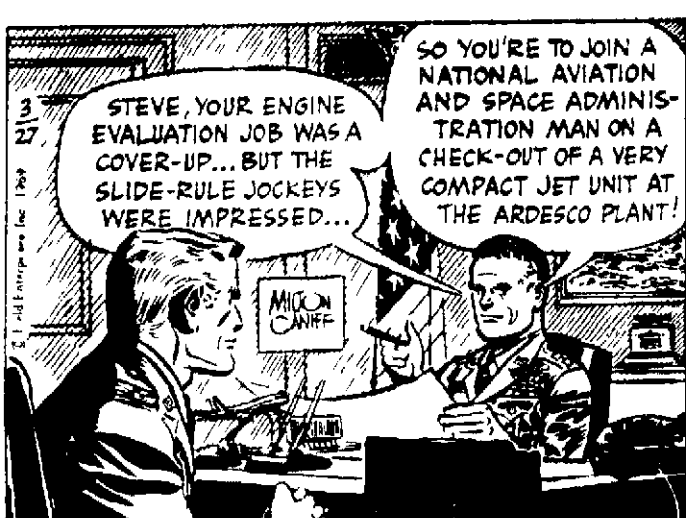

Our population explosion, among other things, is also losing the literacy race: while many more people go to school than ever before, the total number of illiterates in the world is increasing daily.

Few single words paint a picture of a specific personality as vividly as "whippersnapper."

If you belong to a club that needs membership badges, you can make them quickly with foil and cardboard.

Look around the house for a raised design that could serve as the club's emblem. A fancy some types of chocolate candies. Place a piece of the foil on the raised design and press your hand against it as in figure 2, forcing the foil into each indentation.

Carefully lift the foil off and place it on the cardboard that has been cut to the desired shape. Being careful to avoid destroying the impression in the foil, press the excess foil around to the back of the cardboard. Attach a small safety pin as in figure 3 using glue and transparent tape.

If you have some modeling clay there is a better method. First cover the cardboard with a coat of clay one sixteenth of an inch thick. Wrap the foil around the cardboard and clay. Press the entire badge against the pattern to be reproduced. The advantage is that when the design has been reproduced it will last longer because it is backed by the clay which will help it hold its shape.

Mass Arrests 'Avoided' to Halt Violence

Madison Chief Gives Testimony On Tactics at UW

MADISON (AP) — More than 100 students could have been arrested during disruptions on the Madison campus in February instead of 44, University of Wisconsin Police Chief Ralph Hanson said Wednesday.

"But we have to weigh the alternatives," Hanson told the legislative committee probing the disturbance. "There would have been the risk of provoking violence, and the prevention of violence was our No. 1 objective."

Madison Police Chief Wilbur Emery told the committee police agreed in advance to avoid "wholesale arrests."

"The fellows were taunted and jibed but that was part of the students' tactics," he said. "To goad officers into overt action on their part."

Police Understand Situation

He said he thought the police were "not weak but intelligent enough to understand the situation."

The arrest of one student in a tense situation could have triggered a "riot" by 400 or 500, Hanson said.

Hanson identified the Black Students Alliance, the Students for a Democratic Society and the Wisconsin Draft Resistance Union as organizations active in the protest.

"What surprised me," he added, "was the very large number of dormitory students who participated—people who in my judgment never carried a sign before in their lives."

He estimated as many as 5,000 students took part in some of the rallies in support of 13 demands by UW Negro students, including a demand for an autonomous black studies department.

Hanson said the black students were split into two groups, moderates and militants, and that the moderates did a good job of controlling the groups. "I give them great credit," he said.

Division of Students

Emery testified the division of students was present in the SDS as well as black students.

"The recommended destruction came from individuals within the groups," he said. "At this moment, I can't point specifically to two factions in the WDRU, but I can in the black students group and SDS."

"In open meetings we were able to monitor certain elements advocating violence," he said. The demonstrations were well organized and leaders used walkie-talkies to communicate.

Emery said police officers from Wausau to Racine were called in to handle the problem, and that to date the cost of their service totals $120,000. He estimated the cost of Madison police at $50,000.

"And I intend to submit a bill to the university by the end of the week," he added. "I'm sure they'll pay it if they can."

Emery told the committee he favors a bill to make the university police force a part of the Madison force because it would be economical and efficient.

"We could eliminate a duplication of efforts, record keeping, reporting and communicating," he said. "And it would eliminate calling upon the administration to make decisions concerning law enforcement which sometimes hampers the efficiency of police."

He said he could not suggest new laws to curb campus disorders.

Carry Out the Law

"I think we have the laws," he explained. "What we need are people to stand up and see they're carried out."

Emery said he is "disturbed" by the lack of enforcement of drug laws by campus officials. "The Rathskellar is the most active single place we know where drug trafficking is going on," he said.

The university administration indicated it does not want to be active in drug control. Emery said, "and as a result we have deviated from the policy of not going on campus except when invited."

Emery was asked if he thought a single organization were behind the campus disruptions. "I can't help but notice that what's an incident on our campus today is an incident on a campus in another area tomorrow—or was last week," he said. But he said he had no specific proof.

Hanson was asked to return for further questioning tonight.

U.S. 'Ready' to Leave If Pull-Out Is Mutual

Enemy Says Offers Are 'Deceitful Trick'

PARIS (AP) — North Viet Nam and the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front today was U.S. refusal to talk directly strongly denounced the United to the NLF as a separate political entity. Both also indicated seeking private talks on a Viet Nam settlement, but failed to slam the door finally on the proposal.

The Viet Cong's representative, Tran Bui Kiem, called the offer from Saigon for private talks a maneuver ordered by President Nixon to cover a "policy of intensifying the war."

North Vietnam's Ambassador Xuan Thuy, speaking at the 10th full-scale session of the peace talks here, said the offers of private conversations by Nixon and President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam were "a deceitful trick to calm public opinion."

The formal statements had the appearance of rejection but neither said it would not talk. "Of late," said Thuy, "in the face of the demand of world and American opinion that the new U.S. administration adopt a new policy for a peaceful settlement of the Vietnam problem, President Nixon and some responsible members of the U.S. administration have made vague statements about some progress having been made at the conference, about private meetings and so forth, in an attempt to calm down public opinion."

For the same reason on March 25, 1969, Nguyen Van Thieu, representing the Saigon administration, the warlike and Fascist administration paid by the United States, declared his readiness to conduct private talks with the NLF. At the same time he opposed the withdrawal of U.S. forces from South Vietnam, refused the establishment of a coalition government and demanded the dissolution of the front.

This, he said, on "orders of the Nixon administration," showed the Americans and South Vietnamese were trying to hinder the talks here.

The vigor of this attack, however, did not preclude a possibility, bruited about in the United States, of current direct contacts elsewhere between Hanoi and Washington.

The front's Kiem accused the Nixon administration of "obduracy and hypocrisy."

If the United States "really wants to settle the Vietnam problem, it must hold direct talks with the NLF," Kiem said. The United States has refused to talk directly with the front as a separate political entity.

Kiem said President Nguyen Van Thieu offered to hold private discussions to "cope with public opinion in the United States and throughout the world, which indignantly condemns the United States and for

Military Called Hungry for War

WASHINGTON (AP) — A war-hungry military shot through with interservice rivalry is pictured by former Marine Commandant David M. Shoup as encouraging the Johnson administration to widen the Vietnam war in 1964.

The general, who retired from the Joint Chiefs of Staff just before the events he describes in the current Atlantic Monthly, said "an aggressive military" persuaded the civilian leaders to drop their longstanding opposition to a land war in Asia.

Shoup, a frequent critic of the U.S. role in Vietnam, contends the military brass wanted to test new equipment and young troops and to put hypothetical problems to work in the battlefield.

Adm. David L. McDonald, retired chief of naval operations who served briefly with Shoup and remained on the Joint Chiefs during the period described, said he thought no purpose would be served by commenting on the former Marine chief's article.

"I wouldn't do any good,"

Rogers Says Agreement Being Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers told Congress today that the United States is seeking an agreement with North Vietnam "on mutual withdrawal of forces" from South Vietnam as a major step toward scaling down and ending the war in southeast Asia.

In his first comprehensive foreign policy statement, defining U.S. aims and purposes over the world, Rogers also said of the Vietnam conflict:

"We are not seeking a military victory, nor do we want military escalation."

Rogers made the statement in testimony to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

He listed first among specific efforts to bring the war to a negotiated end the attempt to reach an accord on removing troops from the South, saying "In support of this policy of peace, we are seeking to achieve agreement with North Vietnam on mutual withdrawal of forces."

Eisenhower Grows Weak

Doctors Say Former President Isn't Responding to Treatment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower "continues to grow weaker," his doctors said today.

A morning medical bulletin from Walter Reed Army Hospital reported the five-star general is "sleeping for longer periods" but when awake is lucid enough to converse with members of his immediate family.

His physicians said late Wednesday his condition was deteriorating and he was not responding to treatment for the severe heart congestion threatening his life.

Their latest report, read to newsmen by Brig. Gen. Frederick J. Hughes Jr., hospital commanding general, said evidences of Eisenhower's potentially fatal congestive heart failure "continue unchanged."

Meanwhile Mamie Eisenhower "remains close" to the general's bedside and is "a constant source of support and encouragement both to the general and others present," it added.

The doctors' reference Wednesday to his failure to respond to treatment "is considered an unfavorable prognostic sign," the bulletin said.

Eisenhower, the doctors said, remains in critical condition and there had been a resumption of the deterioration of his heart's ability to function properly.

Tuesday, the doctors had reported success in arresting the deterioration which was hindering the ability of Eisenhower's

Prepared to Begin "We are prepared," he added, "to begin withdrawal of our forces simultaneously" with those of North Vietnam."

His statement strongly indicated that President Nixon has decided, for the time being at least, against a one-sided withdrawal of U.S. troops, which Nixon himself had discussed as a possibility only a few weeks ago.

After the Communists started offensive operations early this month Nixon said U.S. troop withdrawal couldn't be considered in such circumstances.

Rogers' emphasis on the troop issue was also taken to mean that it is actively being negotiated now.

There have been persistent reports in Congress and elsewhere that secret discussions are underway with the Vietnamese Communists. While administration officials deny this they do not deny there are "contacts" with Communist negotiators in Paris and indirectly through the Soviet government and those could well cover the troop issue.

Warmer Climate Rogers also testified that "the climate for negotiations between the Soviet Union and the United States seems somewhat warmer than in the recent past."

The session was Rogers' first such confrontation with leading senators who have been urging that the United States start disengaging from the war. The group, headed by Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the committee, had a running battle with former Secretary of State Dean Rusk over Vietnam.

Rogers, in a lengthy prepared statement for the senators, backed the U.S. posture on Vietnam and also Nixon's decision to go ahead with a limited anti-ballistic missile (ABM) system.

On Vietnam, the new secretary of state said, "We believe the South Vietnamese, the United States, and our allies are offering a reasonable and honorable outcome."

On the ABM, Rogers said the potential foreign affairs impact

Bombing Is Heavier Than Ever

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
SAIGON (AP) — A year after President Johnson's order limiting the bombing of North Vietnam, the air war outside South Vietnam is as lethal as ever but almost totally hidden by official secrecy.

The target now is the patchwork of camouflaged roads known as the Ho Chi Minh trail, twisting down through the tribal mountain country of supposedly neutral Laos.

That has been the steady shift since Johnson began pulling back the bombers to get peace talks moving in Paris—restricting the bombing to below the 20th parallel in his March 31 order and ending it completely over North Vietnam Nov. 1.

Neither order mentioned Laos. The effect, however, was to concentrate more and more planes in attacks on the Ho Chi Minh trail, the last remaining area where bombing could get at the major enemy supply line.

As the warplanes concentrated, so did the increasingly sophisticated enemy defense network. Mobile, radar-controlled 52mm anti-aircraft guns now accompany major supply movements down the trail. Even heavier guns are at so-called chokepoints. Lighter 37mm guns are all over the place.

U. S. Rejects Idea Ransom Freed Pueblo

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has denied the United States paid North Korea a ransom for the return of the USS Pueblo's 82 crewmen.

The Rev. Paul D. Lindstrom of Chicago, chairman of the Rev. member the Pueblo Committee, made the ransom report Wednesday.

It was denied several hours later by a State Department spokesman and other officials speaking to newsmen under rules forbidding direct quotation.

The officials also said they do not consider the Pueblo incident closed and added they want the intelligence ship returned.

North Korea captured the ship in January 1968 and freed its crew last December after lengthy negotiations. It kept the ship.

Not Jungle Raids "These aren't just jungle raids any more," one flier reported. "There are no 'soft spots.' It's just as bad as it was up north."

Officials refuse to give figures but the lowest responsible estimate of planes lost in the past five months is almost 100 Air Force planes, mostly F105 Thunderchiefs. Navy losses are not known but are very much lower since the Air Force is drawing about 85 per cent of the missions. One knowledgeable officer reported the loss rate has now settled down to about four planes weekly.

The number of pilots lost is similarly classified. An analysis of Pentagon statistics indicates about 45 pilots missing in action in Laos since Nov. 1.

Some sources in Vientiane, a capital of rumors and mysterious people loosely labeled Communist, non-Communist and neutralist, say as many as 100 pilots may be in jungle prison camps of the Pathet Lao, the Laotian version of the Viet Cong. These include pilots downed over several years.

None of these loss figures can be verified from official sources. Neither will officers in Saigon give any firm estimate of enemy losses.

"Country X" It is worth an officer's job—and perhaps his career—to be quoted about the campaign in Laos. In private, staff officers and pilots make wry jokes about the war in "Country X."

In public, spokesmen give a standard reply to all queries. "At the request of the royal Laotian government, we fly some reconnaissance missions over Laotian territory. These are escorted by armed aircraft with instructions to return fire if fired upon."

This is the official explanation of an air campaign on some days involving the warplanes of three aircraft carriers, perhaps 200 Air Force fighter-bombers in Thailand, assorted reconnaissance and electronic flights, plus a half dozen or more raids by B52 Stratofortresses, essentially the same force, without the B52s, used in North Vietnam.

In the late 1950s and early 1960s the fiction of armed reconnaissance flights grew with the political troubles of Laos. While attempting to prop up the outwardly neutralist regime in Vientiane, the United States began aiding the Laotian air force and furnishing pilots for bombing missions against the Pathet Lao. With the acquiescence of the Laotian government this has grown into the current bombing campaign.

Too Much Housework By Husband Irks Wife

LONDON (AP) — After 13 years of marriage, Doreen Baker said she couldn't go on living with a man who did all the cooking, cleaning and shopping.

She tried Wednesday to get a divorce from 58-year-old Frederick Baker, charging him with refusing to allow her "the status of a normal housewife." That was cruelly, she claimed.

Her lawyer told Judge Stanley Rees that Mrs. Baker, 41, was allowed only once in her married life to go shopping on her own. When she returned home, her husband examined all her purchases and found these three mistakes—

1. She had bought a shopping bag for 4 cents although there was a good one at home she could have used.
2. She had bought a brand of flour that cost 5 cents more than the kind Baker always bought.
3. She had gone to the butcher shop "on the wrong day and had consequently bought unsatisfactory meat."

"What probably made it all the harder for her to bear was that he was correct on all three points," the judge commented.

But he turned down Mrs. Baker's request for a divorce, ruling that although her husband may have been "irritating and tactless" he was never cruel. The judge added that Baker had written to his wife, telling her if she came home he would share the housework with her.

Israeli Air Strikes Security Council Meets on Mideast

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council convened in urgent session today to consider the situation stemming from Israeli air strikes on Jordan territory.

Jordan asked for the meeting late Wednesday. Israel put in a similar request for a meeting just before the 15-nation council convened.

Jordanian Ambassador Muhammad H. El-Farra charged that Israeli planes raided near the town of Salt Wednesday and killed 18 civilians and wounded 25.

Yosef Tekoah, the Israeli ambassador, said in his letter to the council that Jordan had supported, aided and encouraged armed attacks and infiltration by terrorist groups on Israeli territory.

He also accused Jordan also of firing across U.N. cease-fire lines "and in particular the wanton shelling of Israel villages."

Contradicts Judiciary Vote No More Police Power Wanted

BY BILL KNUTSON
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MARINETTE — While the State Assembly's judiciary committee was voting 6-2 in Madison Tuesday to grant state traffic patrolmen the powers of a sheriff, the director of the state patrol was telling Wisconsin sheriffs here that his agency does not want increased police powers.

L. V. Versnick, appearing at a meeting of the executive board of the Wisconsin Sheriffs and Deputy Sheriffs Association stated, "We want to stay in the traffic field. That's where we belong."

The head of the state patrol added, "We have no aspiration of ever getting a state police organization. It's not in the good interest of Wisconsin."

Sheriff's Powers
A bill introduced this month by Assemblyman Frank Nikolay (D-Abbottsville) and endorsed by the assembly judiciary committee, Tuesday, would give the state patrol general sheriff's powers which would permit them to investigate some types of criminal matters.

Under present state law, state patrolmen have sheriff's powers only in enforcing the motor vehicle code and motor transportation laws.

Voting against the recommendation for passage in Madison Tuesday were Assemblymen Jack Steinhilber (R-Oshkosh) and William LaFave (R-Reshtigo). LaFave is a former state patrolman.

Discussion at the sheriffs' meeting on the proposed increase in state patrol authority was brief, and the entire executive board was in strong accord with Versnick's policy statement.

Excellent Job
The state patrol chief later told The Post-Crescent he felt the sheriffs' departments "are doing an excellent job in the field of criminal investigations."

He said that with the serious problems on Wisconsin highways, he wanted the state patrol to remain entirely within the area of traffic law enforcement and accident control.

State patrol effectiveness would be "diluted" if the men would have to take on criminal investigations, Versnick said.

New London Facility Construction of New School Is on Schedule

NEW LONDON — Work on deal since the funds were obtained for the new elementary school is progressing on district will be getting a very schedule according to the latest good building for the fund report by Supt. H. James expended.

A communication from the board of education to city officials service clubs and various district residents has been issued at various times during the project to keep the public informed on the progress of the building.

The latest report shows that most of the outside masonry work has been completed, most of the building enclosed and much of the heating, ventilating and wiring work completed.

Ramsdell said the next large project will be pouring floors in the building. Approximately 32,000 square feet of concrete flooring is planned in the building and will be poured at about 1,000 feet per day. After the floors are poured, construction can begin on interior walls.

Much of the equipment for the building has been ordered. Usable equipment from the Dale and McKinley schools will be used in the new building.

Ramsdell said, "It is interesting to note that building costs have increased greatly since contracts were signed for construction of this project. Interest rates also have gone up a great

He feared that with added given powers of criminal investigations, the department's accident control program, which he termed of vital significance today, would be "crippled."

Versnick said just such problems arose in other states where the state patrol was involved "in barking dog complaints and family squabbles," which he said are part of the overall criminal investigation area.

Stay in Field
He said the state patrol should continue to maintain responsibility for accident prevention and traffic enforcement, and should not start becoming

Dislocated Hip
Francis A. Czajnecki, 31, 209 S. State St., another driver, was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital with a dislocated right hip and multiple cuts and bruises.

All of the injured were reported to be in fair condition today.

Ashley Rhoades, 51, Green Bay, who was driving a panel truck owned by Ray's Tire Co. of Appleton, escaped injury.

Appleton police, who said that all but the truck were demolished, reported Smith was west-bound on Wisconsin when his car struck the panel truck, then continued another 190 feet west and struck the eastbound Bekkers and Czajnecki autos, which were traveling nearly side-by-side in the double eastbound lanes.

Witnesses reported the Smith car was traveling at a high rate of speed prior to the collision with Rhoades' truck. Appleton fire fighters were summoned to flush down gasoline leaking from the three wrecked cars, which ended up in a heap in the middle of Wisconsin Avenue.

Charges as a result of the accident are pending.

Seymour Honors Late Benefactor, Renames City Public Library

SEYMOUR — The library here will be renamed in honor of the late Harvey Muehl.

The request, presented Monday by the library board, was approved by the city council.

Muehl had been a benefactor of the library for many years.

ment would not only set a realistic debt limit, but bring borrowing out in the open so the public will know how much money is being spent for bonding," Alfonsi added.

In addition to making the bonding debt more open, it would make the legislature directly responsible for each building project. This is not the case with the dummy corporation system.

Paid by Revenues
Dummy building corporations came into being in 1923 when the State Supreme Court ruled they were a legal means of getting around the constitutional debt limit. The first one was formed to construct buildings for the University of Wisconsin. Three others have since been created although plans are to combine the four into one corporation.

Destiny of Seymour's Old City Hall Remains in Doubt

Merchants, Council Eye Alternatives

SEYMOUR — The fate of the old city hall, a two-story brick building on Main Street, remains in doubt after northside businessmen made proposals to the city council Monday in regard to its future.

Some of the businessmen and some council members felt the building should be removed and the site made into a municipal parking lot, while the opposing faction proposed the building be left standing and sold as a business location and the city obtain off-street parking away from Main Street.

Since the city government moved into its new location about two years ago, the building has been used for storage and the Village Stompers Auto Club used the old police and fire stations for a short period as a meeting room and workshop.

Initial Request
William Miller, owner of Miller's Department Store, directly across Main Street from the old building, made the initial request. He asked the council to remove the old building and convert the site into a municipal parking lot.

It was noted that the business district is divided by the Green Bay and Western Railroad tracks. A total of 23 Main Street firms are on the south side and 21 on the north. The south side has two off-street lots and there is one on the north side.

However, Richard Kahnt, owner of Kahnt's Department Store, recommended the building be left intact and sold as a business location. He said he favored additional off-street parking on the north side, but favored sites off Main Street.

Heating System
Ald. Malcolm Veitch claimed the building would be useful for certain types of businesses. He said the primary fault was in the building's heating system. He suggested updating the system to meet requirements and making an effort to sell the building intact. Veitch said, "If you would quit trying to convince the public the building is

Clintonville Teachers Report

Practical English Outlined

CLINTONVILLE — The practical English course being taught at the senior high school for students who have consistently experienced difficulties in the subject was evaluated for the board of education Tuesday night by the English teachers.

Reporting on the program were Joan Paulson, Mrs. Robert Billings, and Dennis Bessette. High school English has been divided into three courses — college preparatory, general, and practical, they pointed out.

Last summer a group of English teachers met for two weeks and worked out an English program which it felt was best suited to all students. Its aim was to cut down on drop-outs and build a program that stressed materials with which students could succeed and build an image of themselves.

Bessette told the results of last summer's work; Mrs. Billings reported on adolescent literature which tries to implement work on the student's own grade level; and Miss Paulson evaluated the program.

Study Grant
They proposed a six week's study grant to re-evaluate the pilot project in practical English and to develop a general English curriculum to be implemented by the following individuals: Mrs. Billings, library supervisor; Bessette, Miss Jean Ferguson, Mrs. Lucille Henderson, Mrs. Sigrid Shaw and Miss Paulson, along with any new members who might be added to the English staff. Committee members were Mrs. Billings, Miss Paulson, Mrs. Shaw and Bessette.

Following the report, Director Harland Kirchner said he felt the group should be encouraged to write a project of its own and see if there was any way to get federal aid in such a program. He complimented the committee on the fine work that is being done in the practical English course at the senior high school.

A thank you letter was read from a Girl Scout troop for the use of the school facilities for meetings.

Mrs. G. R. McCauley, clerk, indicated she planned to attend a school board conference tonight at Stevens Point.

Draft Status
A report was given on notices from draft boards, stating that three local teachers have been placed in 2A, one in 1A, and five other men have not received their classifications.

Dr. Harry Caskey, committee chairman, reported that a large number of applications have been received for the position of superintendent of schools here and the committee will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday to start considering the applications.

A notice of the superintendent vacancy has been included in the March newsletter of the Wisconsin Association of School District Administrators. Supt. K. O. Rawson plans to retire this summer.

Mrs. McCauley and Mrs. John Williamson gave a brief report on the talk given by Dr. Lee P. Dreyfus, president of Wisconsin State University, Stevens Point, at the CESA 8 dinner meeting March 17. His talk was a projection of what will happen to education in the next century.

Bus Bids
Bids were received from three body companies, Ward, Superior and Bluebird, for two bus bodies, one for a 48 passenger and the other for a 66 passenger. The committee was asked to examine the bids and make a recommendation to the board.

Bids on two chassis were opened Wednesday.

The board approved recommendations of Supt. Rawson to contract for 1969-70 from CESA No. 8 for the services of a speech correctionist and a psychologist. The hiring of a remedial reading teacher, either from CESA or directly by the board of education, was discussed and held over for further study and recommendation.

Following adjournment, the board held an executive session on personnel.

Wilmer Watches Wolf Ice Vanish

FREMONT — "Wilmer the Wolf Watcher" recorded the ice break-up at 8:42.02 today in the contest sponsored here by the Wolf River American Legion.

Earliest ice-out date was March 9 in 1966 and the latest was April 8 in 1965.

The Chamber of Commerce Pike-o-Rama starts Friday on the river.

Revised Plan Being Studied

Priests' Pension Proposed

GREEN BAY — A proposal which would help raise money for the priests' retirement fund and would cost about 46 cents per person in the Green Bay Diocese is presently being studied by the board of directors of the Leo Benevolent Association.

Since January of this year, the monthly retirement pension checks for priests has been $400. This is double the figure it was prior to January.

At present, each parish pays a set amount per priest and in many cases the proposal would not make any noticeable difference. In other cases, especially in small parishes, it is felt that the 46 cents per person would be a reduction from the present payment.

Coupled with that sum would be the mandatory annual payments of $100 to be paid by an individual priest who is a member of the benevolent association; the $520 annual payment by priests outside parish work, such as in hospitals, and an out-of-the-pocket sum of military chaplains or state employees.

There are 17 priests in the diocese presently receiving pensions. According to a new ruling, a priest is eligible for retirement at the age of 65. Mandatory retirement age is set at 70. Full implementation of the September, 1968 decision will be January, 1970.

The Leo Benevolent Association was started in 1879. Its purpose is to provide retirement income and income insurance during periods of disability.

Under the guidance of the now-defunct Priests' Association, a committee was established to study the entire retirement plan. Up to about 10 years ago it was about $100 a month. Under the late bishop, the Most Rev. Stanislaus Bona, the retirement benefits were raised to $200. This was raised to the $400 figure in 1968.

Board of Directors
The board of directors includes the Most Rev. Aloysius Wycislo, bishop, president; the Rev. Norbert Vande Loo, Ocon, vice president; the Rev. Richard Gilsdorf, Oseida, secretary; the Rev. Robert Vandenberg, Green Bay, treasurer.

Newly-created positions on the board are filled by the Rev. Francis McKeough, Oshkosh, who will represent the retirees, and Robert Petitjean, a Green Bay attorney, who will serve in a consultative role.

Such committees as the one in charge of the retirement program are no longer new and follow the edicts of Vatican II, which had stated that parish priests should have more involvement in the operation of the diocese.

Only recently the establishment of a personnel board to make recommendations to the bishop, for the appointment and transfer of priests in the diocese was initiated by the Priests' Senate.

The senate itself is an outgrowth of the former Priests' Association. The distinguishing factor between the two is that the senate is a group partly appointed by the bishop and partly elected by the priests. The association is an independent organization begun by the priests themselves.

Five priests, all appointed by the bishop, will constitute the personnel board of the Senate of Green Bay. Four will be appointed from a list of eight priests selected as candidates by the diocesan priests and the fifth will be named by the bishop himself.

A special city council session is set for 7 p.m. Monday to further discuss recreation building financing and possible purchase of voting machines.

Other Action
In other action Tuesday, the council:

—Agreed with park and recreation commissioners that the summer recreation director post could be separated from that of swimming pool supervisor.

—Authorized Campbell to get estimates on tree trimming figured on $13.50 per hour for a two-man crew and $17.50 per hour for a three-man crew.

—Approved a police and fire committee recommendation for purchase of a $180 hydrant-Y and a $380 saw, as requested by Fire Chief Oscar Beilke Sr.

—Heard a report from finance committee chairman Clarence Pigeon regarding liability and fire insurance coverage on the Historical Society's museum.

Burns Tips Kittens For League Lead At New London

NEW LONDON — Allen Burns recorded a 235-223-627 to pace Burns Little Kittens to a three game sweep over Wee Four and the Saturday Night Couples League lead at Golden Hour Lanes.

The sweep gave the Kits a 18-6 record while Wee Four dropped to a 16-8 slate. Wiener's Four is a close third with 15-9 and Besaw's is another game back with 14-10.

Wayne Sawall topped 582 pins for Wiener's Four and Barb Bruton turned in a 193.

Manske's Bar and Larsen's Bar will bowl off for the Good Fellowship League championship at 7 p.m. Sunday at Golden Hour Lanes.

Larsen's Bar took the second half title with a 26-16 record despite dropping three games to Hintzke's Well Drilling Monday. Manske's, first place finisher in the first half, took second with a 24-18 record.

Business Group Fetes Five Men At Shiocton

SHIOCTON — Fire retired businessmen were honored here at a recent Businessmen's League Appreciation dinner.

Kenneth Andrews, Allen Gunderson, William Kroeger, Frank Morgan and Raymond Muska-vitch were each awarded desk sets.

Andrews retired in 1966 from Sielaff-Andrews Inc., where he did plumbing, electrical work and selling.

Gunderson retired in 1966 as owner of Allan G. Hardware Store. Kroeger, owner of Kroeger Market and Locker Plant, retired in 1968. Frank Morgan retired in 1968 as owner of Morgan's Bar. Muska-vitch, the first chief of police here and a school bus driver, retired in 1967.

Gunderson, who is vacationing in Florida, was the only honored guest not present.

High School Will Present Concert

WAUPACA — A concert of sacred choral music will be presented at 8 p.m. Tuesday by the high school mixed chorus in the First Methodist Church.

The Holy Week concert will feature church music which spans a period of 400 years.

Sharing the program will be a newly organized group of 28 voices called the Chamber Singers. They will present three numbers.

The chorus is under the direction of Gerald Knoepfel.

A brass choir of 11 instrumentalists from the high school band will present three numbers typical of the early brass church music. This group will be directed by Ted Schunese.

Dale Schroeder will sing a baritone solo, "O God, Have Mercy" from the Mendelssohn oratorio "St. Paul."

The mixed chorus will close the concert with a contemporary composition entitled, "Jubilate Deo" which will feature the chorus, three trumpets, three trombones, percussion instruments and pipe organ.

Aleine Miller will present organ music prior to the concert.

Gardeners Plan Bluebird Trails

CLINTONVILLE — Bluebird houses made by Joseph Paul were distributed at the meeting of the Flower and Garden Club here Monday night at the senior high school, as the start of establishing Bluebird trails in this area.

Mrs. Russell Welter, president, outlined complete plans for the club's 20th birthday celebration April 30 at the senior high school. Mrs. Raymond Kuhn, Hortonville, will present a program on "Driftwood."

Mrs. Donald Christensen gave a synopsis of the house wren and also told about the marsh and winter wrens.

Jack Kunath, state conservation warden, was the guest speaker. He showed two films, one on wild flowers and the other entitled, "We Share This Land." He urged club members to be conscious of conservation practices. He explained "ORAP-200," project which will be voted on April 1. The project is an outdoor resources action plan to accelerate water pollution control and outdoor recreation programs, according to the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources.

Heidersheid Rink Wins Meister Event

Clintonville Curlers Come From Behind For Championship

CLINTONVILLE — The John Heidersheid rink has won the Meister event championship at the Clintonville Curling club.

The Meister event is the regular Monday through Thursday league curling which is in progress throughout the year; and at the end of the year, there is a play-off among the leaders of each evening's curling.

In earlier competition, Heidersheid's rink and that skipped by Woody Smith had each won two and lost one in the Meister event play-down. The one game in the play-down that Heidersheid's rink lost was that to the Smith rink, creating a tie, which pitted Smith against Heidersheid to determine the final championship of the Meister event.

Lead Lost

In Tuesday's curling, the rink skipped by Smith was leading 10 to 4 after six ends. Heidersheid laid five in the seventh, to trail 10 and nine, then came back in the eighth with two, taking a 11-10 lead. He laid three in the ninth and coming home had a 14-10 margin. The Smith rink in the tenth end had five stones but they were cleared, one at a time, by the Heidersheid curlers.

Curling with Heidersheid were Joe Kuester, Jim Schwentner and Dr. D. R. Ockerlander; and with Smith, John Kafka, Norman Erickson and Ed Breitrick.

Woman Forfeits Bond On Shoplifting Charge

NEW LONDON — Mrs. Jeanette V. Kleigin, 47, route 3, forfeited $58 in Municipal Justice Court Tuesday on a city police charge of unlawful removal of property.

Palm Sunday Confirmation Day at Clintonville Church

CLINTONVILLE — Beginning with Palm Sunday and climaxing on Easter Sunday, Christ Congregational Church will make its Holy Week experience one of self-examination and renewal.

On Palm Sunday, the choir with Miss Doris Abrahamson directing, will sing "Hosannah!" Duane Cismoski, organist, will use Stainer's "Fling Open the Gates" as the prelude and "The Holy City" by Adams as the offertory. The sermon, "The Risky Road to Safety," will continue the Lenten series, "Our Faith and Our Feeling," interpreting Jesus' daring decision of Holy Week and relating it to the choices of our own day.

Maundy Thursday will be observed with the sacrament of holy communion and the ceremony of the Tenebrae at 8 p.m. The deacons with Claude Chandler, chairman, assisting by other laymen, will participate in the symbolic extinguishing of lights, a custom going back to the 4th century.

On Good Friday, Christ Congregational Church will be the host for the united service of Bethany Evangelical Free, the Congregational, and United Methodist churches.

From 1 to 3 p.m., the worship theme will be "Groups Around the Cross." The Rev. Mrs. Arthur J. Snow, minister of the Congregational Church, will speak on "The Crowd," the Rev. Ward Bonnell, minister of Bethany Church, will present "The Religious Leaders," and the Rev. Daniel H. Stahmer, D.D., minister of the Methodist Church, will speak on "The Soldiers."

The two hour worship will be divided into three periods, 1 to 1:40 p.m., 1:45 to 2:15 p.m., and 2:20 to 2:50 period, there will be reading from the Scripture, a message by one of the ministers, and a vocal solo Duane Cismoski will be the organist. The message through music will be presented on Easter with

"Easter Fantasy on Palestrina" by Lorenz and "O Divine Redeemer" by Gounod on the organ, and "The World Itself Keeps Easter Day," sung by the choir. The sermon will be "Easter — An Experience for You!"

Sole Singers Will Appear At Brillion

Folk Group to Give Performance at St. Mary Hall

BRILLION — The "Sole Singers" a combination folk dance and song troupe comprised of 50 teen-agers from public schools in Appleton, Kaukauna and Kimberly and Xavier and St. John's. Little Chute will perform at 7:30 p.m. Sunday at St. Mary hall here.

Tickets can be purchased from high school members of the parish or at the door Sunday.

Organized originally by the Rev. Thomas Downs, Combined Locks, to entertain in hospitals and institutions, the group has performed throughout the state at hootenannies, concerts, parades and church services.

Father Downs directs the group and his sister, Mrs. John Rosz, is in charge of choreography.

"We're trying to help Americans really be Americans," Father Downs wrote on the group's recent first album, "The Sole Singers Are Coming Your Way."

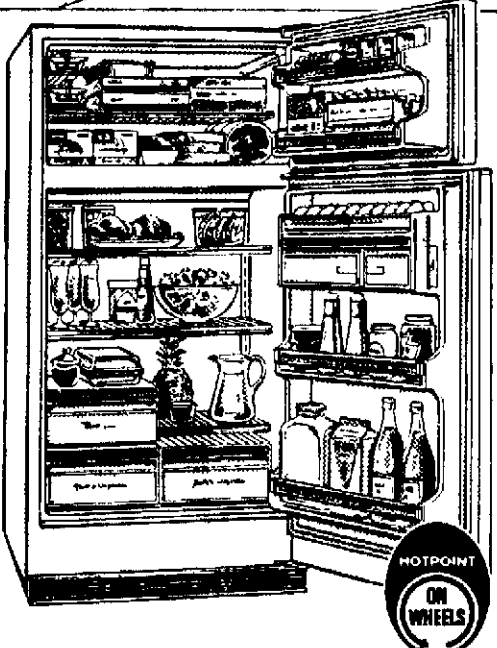

The group's secret is "creativity" and the album is a testimony to what teen-agers, given the opportunity and direction, can do to inspire Americans according to Father Downs.

People's Forum
Proposes Incentive
Pay for Congressmen

Editor, The Post-Crescent:
In nearly every town square in Holland there is a statue to the little boy that is supposed to have saved the Country by putting his thumb in a hole in the dike. Whether this was true or a myth is not important. It represents a symbolical truth to the Dutch that in times of an emergency, they all are to help to the best of their ability. In other words, you don't drill holes in the life boats when the ship is sinking.
The unconscionable act of the Congress of raising their salaries nearly 42 per cent has enraged the citizens of this country. The very people that got us into this inflation mess are now bailing themselves out. They give us a 10 per cent surtax, but they increase their own pay by 42 per cent. Like the song says, "Nice Work If You Can Get It!" I, for one, will never vote for any official involved in this steal.
The democratic system, while one of the best systems in the world in theory, does not work on the federal level because of one glaring weakness. To get elected you have to get votes, and the easiest way is to buy votes with the taxpayers' money. One candidate will offer a 20 per cent increase in Social Security, and the next will offer 50 per cent increase. Neither tells you where the money is coming from. Every special interest group is promised concessions for its vote. The result is that the budget goes up and up with no end in sight.
The money you have saved in bank accounts, insurance, bonds, mortgages, etc., will be worthless in a few years, and the "Big Depression" will represent a picnic compared to what will happen unless we can turn this situation around. To give you some small idea how serious this is, it is estimated that the federal government now owes three trillion dollars in fixed obligations. Social Security is nearly 500 billion in the red all by itself.
My solution would be for the Congress to get a $30,000 salary as before. The budget would be limited to 25 per cent of the Gross National Production or 200 billion, whichever was lower. Congress would get an extra 10 per cent if they kept within the budget and 5 per cent for each billion they spent less than the budget. If they saved 5 billion dollars, they would get 10 per cent plus 25 per cent over their base pay. Each year the base of the budget would be increased 5 billion dollars or to 25 per cent of the Gross National Production of the year before, whichever was less. One - half of the money saved would be returned to the states for welfare and educational needs.
The beauty of this idea would be that Congress would have to balance the needs of the nation against the need to strengthen the dollar. There would be a governor to the machine we call the Federal Government. Let us pray it is not too late to apply it!

worthless, it would sell. I believe some business places in town are in worse shape," he said.

Veitch said he felt a parking lot on the site would lower the value of the area.

However, Ald. Albert Doepker, who owns a bakery on the north side, claimed all businesses in the larger metropolitan areas have ample parking for customers. He then questioned Earl Gosse, public works director, on the number of Main Street parking stalls on the north side. Gosse estimated between 50 and 60.

Vacant Buildings

Doepker countered Veitch's proposal noting that there are vacant buildings along Main Street that are available for new business. He said the city's prime job is to protect the existing businesses. He noted that the city had previously been offered $3,500 for the site. The city has placed a $6,000 price tag on the location.

Ald. Joseph Tremi recommended the building be razed and converted to parking. He claimed renovating the building to meet safety specifications would be too costly. He suggested a one-way entrance off Main Street with the exit on Depot Street at the rear of the Standard Service Station.

24 Parking Stalls

It had previously been noted that a parking lot on the site would have 24 stalls and could be constructed for about $5,000.

City Atty. Mike Burns suggested zoning laws be examined before a decision is made.

In other action William Maass, representing the Jaycees, paid the city $104 for use of the grader and city crew at the fairgrounds during preparation of the annual snowmobile rally. He also paid $20 for standby services of the rescue squad during the rally.

Man Fined After One-Car Mishap

WAUPACA — Kenneth M. De Santis, 22, Route 2, Weyauwega, was fined $63.25 in Waupaca's Municipal Justice Court Tuesday, for failing to have his automobile under control.

De Santis was involved in an accident on March 9 on Waupaca's Skidded Trunk X. His car, reportedly, skidded 100 feet across the center line, hit a snow bank and landed in a field, pinning him under the car. The driver received minor injuries and damage to his car was more than $100.

Ice Goes Out on Embarrass River

EMBARRASS — The ice went out at 8:32 p.m. Monday in the Embarrass River in the annual ice-out contest.

The event is sponsored by the Embarrass River Conservation Club. Last year, the ice went out on March 19.

President Harlow Fischer said that this was the first time in nine years that the ice went out at night.

Confirmation Set for 7 at Potter Church

POTTER — The Rev. Gene Becker will administer the rite of confirmation to seven candidates during the 9:30 a.m. service Palm Sunday at Trinity Lutheran Church.

They will receive first communion as a class during the 9:30 a.m. Easter service.

Family Cottage Is Still the Backbone

Resort Business in State of Change

Post-Crescent News Service

MADISON — The changing face of Wisconsin's resort business was in evidence at the 1968 Tourist seminar Wednesday at the University of Wisconsin.

Only a handful of the 85 persons who attended were resort operators. Most were real estate men, contractors and bankers.

The gathering and the topics discussed indicated that, while the family-owned group of lake cottages is still the backbone of Wisconsin tourism, the times are changing. The state has lost 600 cottage type resorts in the last few years, one speaker said.

Speakers stressed utility, long-range planning, professional counsel in resort developments, finance problems, and the lack of research which hampers many tourism developments.

John Steinmann, a Montello architect, called for a statewide association of tourism related businesses. If such concerns invested one per cent of their annual gross income in a tourism association, the group would have funds to provide backing for the top-flight, long-range resort projects.

Wisconsin's estimated 1968 tourism business totaled $1.5 billion, Steinmann said. One per cent of that would allow $15 million for development.

Carefully planned long-range development is an antidote to traditional resort growth which Steinmann described as haphazard, imitative and poorly financed.

No single resort can hope to offer enough attractions to appeal to all vacationers, he pointed out. "But most counties, and certainly the whole state, have the potential.

"People go where the people are—where the action is," he said. He also chided resorters for their fear of competition—that a new resort will be bad for existing business.

Steinmann pointed to the success of Lake Geneva's Playboy Club, not only for the business it has attracted to itself, but also for the revenue it has drawn to existing enterprises.

Resorts can no longer be one season developments, he said. He also pointed to misuses of natural beauty sites by cheap or uncontrolled development.

The resort of Tomorrow,

Steinmann said, may be a complex of facilities a vacationer may park his car when he starts his sojourn and never touch it until he leaves for home. Helicopters may whisk him from one site to another. He may pick out lodging from resorts all over the state and take part in a variety of activities during his vacation.

Gloomy Picture

Robert Greaves, Milwaukee landscape architect, painted a gloomy picture of tourism. There is little financial backing, little planning and virtually no data on which to base investment decisions, he said.

Greaves cautioned those interested in tourism development to make sure they had professional advice and help before investing. The future of resorts, he said, lies in providing a community flavor for recreational activities.

There also is a need, he said, for massive public relations efforts in tourism. "I can't see a resort industry," he said. Tourism is a huge complex of people making two bits here or there. It is hard to put in a package.

lies, he said, but operators must realize that "a teen-age dictatorship" often controls where family vacations are spent.

Robert C. Reschke, Chicago building consultant, stressed the development of vacation and leisure homes as the wave of the future in tourism. About one-fifth of today's new homes are vacation or second dwellings.

Data Needed

There is little data available, Reschke said, on the effect leisure housing has on communities. Such material is needed before large scale investment for development can be expected.

Private communities are now growing as escape areas from big cities, he said. Larry Montney, UW extension recreation specialist, spoke of the influence of mobile housing on state tourism. A few years ago Wisconsin had 1,700 licenses for overnight housing. The number is now down to 600 licenses—but the number of sleeping rooms has remained constant. This shows a trend toward fewer, but larger resorts in addition to the growth of mobile recreation housing.

Central Wisconsin Conference with a 10-2 record and has an over-all record under Bennett of 36-8 for the two-year period.

Bennett said his plans are indefinite at this time.

Lutheran Laymen's League Spring Rally Set at Symco Church

SYMCO — St. Mark Lutheran Church will host the Zone III Lutheran Laymen's League spring rally April 13. Registration will be from 1 to 1:30 p.m. with the rally following until 4:30 p.m.

The Rev. Dale Hansen will give a talk and show slides on Buten Hoff, Wausau, 8 a.m.; his recent trip to the Holy Land, fourth, Ralph Nystrom, Embarrass; fifth, Herb Malitz of Illinois, and sixth, Jerry Schwede, Clintonville.

Announcement was also made that the club's sucker fishing contest is underway. Fishermen are asked to register their catches at the Village Inn, Embarrass.

Winners in Ice Out Contest Announced By Embarrass Club

EMBARRASS — Winners in the annual ice-out contest sponsored by the Embarrass River Conservation Club were announced Tuesday night. The ice went out at 8:32 p.m. Monday.

Cash prizes of $10, $5, $4, $3, $2 and $1 for first through sixth places, respectively, were awarded. The winners were Mrs. Carlton Erdman, Clintonville, first, with a guess of 2:30 p.m. Monday; second, Leonard Hesse, Shawano, 1:48 p.m.; third, give a talk and show slides on Buten Hoff, Wausau, 8 a.m.; his recent trip to the Holy Land, fourth, Ralph Nystrom, Embarrass; fifth, Herb Malitz of Illinois, and sixth, Jerry Schwede, Clintonville.

Announcement was also made that the club's sucker fishing contest is underway. Fishermen are asked to register their catches at the Village Inn, Embarrass.

More Than 150 Guests and members of the Business Education Club, Fox Valley Technical Institute, saw outgoing officers honored at the club's second annual honors dinner. Welcoming the speaker, Robert Thom, right, vice principal of Neenah High School, are Ervin

Van Handel, Kaukauna, chairman of the planning committee, and Kathleen Boushels, Oshkosh, master of ceremonies. The club, which recently won a top place in a state contest, will be represented at the national business club convention, March 31, in Kansas City.

State Requested to Legalize Bonded Debt

could still be issued without legislative approval.

Assembly Speaker Harold Froelich, R-Appleton, said the constitutional amendment is an effort to put a limit on the amount of borrowing. This is why, he said, the $482 million of dummy corporation bonds will be counted toward the state's debt limit if the constitutional amendment is approved. "Frankly," he said, "it is a conservative point of view."

The Assembly leader said the Legislature had been attempting for several years to gain control over dummy corporation bonding from the State Building Commission but consistently had been blocked by former State Sen. Jerris Leonard who was chairman of the commission.

Plans are for the building commission to continue to function in planning building needs, arranging contracts and taking care of preparatory details. The dummy corporations would continue to exist until the present bonds are retired but they could not issue any new bonds.

While the amendment has bipartisan support in both the Assembly and the Senate, some state officials in the capital expense division of the Department of Administration, feel the dummy corporation method has merits.

One official said the interest rate on the last bond sale was only a fraction of a per cent higher than regular municipal bonds. While this cost the state a "modest amount" more in interest, he contended state bonds competing in the municipal bond market would tend to push interest rates up for cities and counties, offsetting any saving the state would realize over present dummy corporation bonding.

Wrestling Coach Slated at Banquet

AMHERST — George Martin, University of Wisconsin wrestling coach, will be speaker here at the annual athletic banquet.

Dick Bennett, Marion Basketball Coach, Quits Job as Teacher

MARION — Dick Bennett, head basketball coach and elementary physical education instructor here for the past two years, has resigned.

Bennett coached and taught at West Bend and Mineral Point before coming to Marion.

He guided the Mustangs to the sectional basketball finals last year and ended the season this year with a 16-4 record. The team finished second in the

Motorist Fined In Waupaca Court For Recklessness

WAUPACA — Raymond W. Komatz, 39, 1116 N. Water St., New London, was fined $200 and costs after pleading guilty Wednesday in Municipal Justice Court of passing on a yellow line and reckless driving.

Komatz was followed by a county policeman on the night of March 8, on U. S. 45 near Bear Creek. He lost control of his car which spun into the opposite lane of traffic and landed in a ditch.

Hearing Set on Theft Charges

WAUPACA — A preliminary hearing has been set for April 3 for Maurice Nelson, president of Farmwell Co., Manawa, to answer charge of theft.

Action was started on March 21 by Arlyn G. Johnson, part owner of Johnson Kart Mfg. Co. and Star Slide Corp. He charged that Nelson transferred six fiberglass molds which belongs to the Star Slide Company of Chicago, without the owner's permission.

Nelson was released on a property bond in the amount of $10,000.

Murcer's 21st, 22nd Hits Of Spring Pace Yankee Win

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Bobby Murcer has come marching home again and the New York Yankees are shouting hurrah, hurrah.

Murcer is the same kid who was getting the raves two years ago in spring training when the New York Yankees had him ticketed to fill their shortstop void. But the 20-year-old infielder wound up playing soldier for the U.S. Army instead for the next two years.

Now he is back and nothing has changed, except his position. Murcer now is playing third base, but the cheers still remain, particularly after he rapped his 21st and 22nd hits of the spring Wednesday in the Yankees 7-2 exhibition victory over Detroit.

Several other rookies also had hot hands as Larry Hise slugged two three-run homers and Ron Stone rapped a homer, two doubles and a single in Philadelphia's 11-1 rout of Houston.

Two Solo Homers
Wayne Garrett slugged two solo homers for the New York Mets in a 6-3 decision over Cincinnati, and Rudy May hurled seven shutout innings as California blasted Oakland 9-3.

In other games, Minnesota edged Los Angeles 4-3, the Chicago White Sox nipped Pittsburgh 2-1, St. Louis tripped Boston 2-1, Baltimore beat Washington 3-2, the Chicago Cubs blasted Cleveland 10-0 and San Francisco outslugged Seattle 7-5.

Rain canceled Kansas City's game against Atlanta and Montreal's contest with the Yankees B team.

In the two years Murcer was gone, the Yankees tried several shortstop before settling on Tom Tresh, but Murcer hasn't let that bother him. He has all but taken the third base job from incumbent Bob Cox after slugging his fourth spring homer and a double against the Tigers.

Too Young Then
"It's a lot different now than when I was here in 1966," said Murcer now 22. "Maybe I was too young then and couldn't believe I was here. Now I feel like a vet."

"I've never had any worries about my hitting. That's always been the best part of my game."

Another rookie, pitcher Bill Burbach, pitched the first six innings and allowed just one hit for the Yanks.

Chris Short allowed one run and five hits in six innings for the Phillies. Hise leads the Philies with three homers and 14 runs batted in while Stone is moving along with a .488 average.

Garrett, trying for a utility spot on the Mets' roster, backed up the six-inning shutout pitching of Jim McAndrew. Alex Johnson's three-run homer in the eighth accounted for Cincinnati's runs.

May, a 24-year-old southpaw who the Angels got for Bo Belinsky in 1964, virtually clinched a spot in the rotation while teammate Vic Davalillo drove in four runs.

2-Run Single
Ted Uhlaender capped a three-run ninth inning with a two-run single for Minnesota's victory, and the White Sox scored twice in the first inning on two hits, a passed ball and a walk.

St. Louis won on run-scoring doubles by Vada Pinson and Tim McCarver in the fourth inning, and Baltimore scored twice in the eighth on rookie Bobby Floyd's single and an error to overcome Frank Howard's first spring homer for the Senators.

Ken Holtzman, backed by 16 hits and a six-run fourth inning against Sam McDowell, yielded only three hits in seven innings for the Cubs. Juan Marichal picked up San Francisco's victory, although he allowed five hits and four runs in seven innings.

2 College Clubs
Post Victories
In AAU Tourney

Macon, Ga. (AP) — College kids catch on quickly, so it's no surprise to see Stephen F. Austin and West Virginia State barging into the ranks of the contenders for the National AAU Basketball Tournament title.

The two free-wheeling college clubs put on dazzling shows in the first round and won roles as dark-horse challengers for the championship by their efforts.

Stephen F. Austin overcame a slow start and thrashed Burger Chef of Indianapolis 106-82 with sophomore Harvey Huffstetter pumping in 25 points.

West Virginia State rode the 35-point shooting of Dewayne Freeman to a 97-76 conquest of the Turf Club of Merced, Calif.

Those whippings highlighted Wednesday's six-game marathon which cut the field to eight for today's quarter-finals.

Walker Bowls 656

Olaf Witte Cracks 679 Series to Lead Fox Valley Circuit

Olaf Witte blasted a 246 game and 670 series in the Fox Valley Classic League at Lakewood Lanes, Neenah, Wednesday night to highlight men's bowling in the Fox Cities area.

Dave Buksyk was runnerup with games of 229 and 244 for a 637 series and Willie Henke had a 227 line and 631 total.

In the Kimberly Classic League at Jerry's Lanes last night, Dick "Pro" Walker led the way with a 656 series which included games of 236 and 230. Bob Burmeister had a league-leading 255 singleton and finished with a 639 while Joe Van Cuyk rapped 620.

Leading the Merchants League at the 41 Bowl was Duke Krabbe with a 255 line and Tom Hibbard with a 645 series. John Boree smacked a 242 line and 615 total while Al Grest counted 605. Bud Everts cracked a 246 singleton.

Larson Hits 642
Wally Roblee's 246 game and Don Larson's 642 series topped the Fraternal League at Hahn's Lanes last night. Larson had a 244 singleton with the high set and Roblee finished with 633.

Bob Currie topped the Veterans League at the 41 Bowl Wednesday hitting a 225 game and 642 series while John Schwarz had lines of 234 and 232 for a 613. Tom Fisher rolled 593 and Ray Huelsbeck 557.

Jerry Zeimer had a 229 game and "Red" Vande Logt slammed 636 to lead the Fox Valley Men's League at Sabre Lanes last night. Zeimer finished with 584 while Earl Lipske had 580, Bob Armstrong 564 and Bob Hannemann 563.

Lloyd Herwig hit a 610 series to pace the American Legion League at the Little Chute Recreation Lanes last night.

Bob Kunz pounded a 246 game and 584 series while Clarence Huth hit 589 to lead the Industrial League at Hahn's Wednesday.

Toronto Puts Damper on Bid By Canadiens

Maple Leafs Rally
To Win, Bruins
Still Have Chance

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Just as the Montreal Canadiens were getting ready to celebrate, the Toronto Maple Leafs threw a damper ... and six goals ... on the party.

The Canadiens, needing a victory to clinch the National Hockey League's East Division championship, hopped into a 3-0 lead in the first 13 minutes of play Wednesday night and then watched Toronto steal the celebration with a rally that produced six goals and a 6-4 victory.

The Montreal loss kept Boston's chances alive for catching the Canadiens. The second-place Bruins must sweep their three remaining games—including two against Montreal—to wipe out the four-point Canadiens' lead.

Elsewhere Wednesday night, Chicago whipped New York 6-4, Pittsburgh rapped Los Angeles 8-4 and St. Louis turned back Oakland 5-3.

3rd Period
Floyd Smith and Mike Walton scored the third-period goals that snapped a 4-4 tie and carried the Maple Leafs past Montreal. Early goals by Henri Richard, Ralph Backstrom and John Ferguson had built a 3-0 Canadiens' edge.

Then Ron Ellis, Norm Ullman and Dave Keon tied it for the Leafs. Jacques Lemaire of Montreal and Jim Dorey of Toronto swapped goals 18 seconds apart in the final minute of the second period to preserve the tie. Then Smith and Walton broke it.

The victory moved the fourth-place Leafs six points ahead of Detroit and virtually eliminated the Red Wings from a playoff berth. Toronto is just three points back of New York, which was beaten by Chicago.

Ken Wharram's three goals led the Black Hawks and Bobby Hull upped his single season goal scoring record to 56 with one tally. Jean Ratelle hit twice for the Rangers.

Buried in Cellar
Pittsburgh, buried in the West Division cellar, won its fourth straight with eight different players scoring against Los Angeles. Rookies Doug Barrie and Ron Snell had two of the Penguin goals. Gary Croteau and Ed Joyal had two apiece for the Kings.

Red Berenson powered St. Louis with a pair of goals—his 34th and 35th of the season—as the Blues bunched all five goals in the second period on 19 shots. Ted Hampson tallied twice for Oakland in the third period, boosting his season's output to 26 goals.

Brule Season Opens Saturday

Winter's Grip Loosens Slowly

By JIM HARP

Post-Crescent Outdoor Editor

Winter's grip on Wisconsin waters is loosening slowly, but anglers who watch the rule book and the calendar more closely than the ice know that some special seasons open within the next few days.

Saturday is opening day for trout and salmon, except lake trout and splake, in a number of streams flowing into Lake Superior, including the famous Brule in Douglas County. The special season runs through May 9, and the regular state-

Madison Meet Looms ABC's Best Ever

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — With an expected surplus of $75,000, the 1969 American Bowling Congress tournament should be the most successful in the meet's 66-year history, Executive Secretary Frank K. Baker said Wednesday night.

The previous high was $64,000 for the 1955 tournament at Fort Wayne, Ind.

Baker told the board of directors the large entry of 6,258 teams, fourth largest in history, the big local entry of more than 700 teams and a fine advance ticket sale were reasons for the surplus.

Chuck Pezzano of Clifton, N.J., was the only bowler to dent the standings Wednesday. He rolled a 637 for fifth in the classic, or professional singles bracket and totaled 1,837 for fourth in the classic all-events.

wide trout season opens May 10. The daily bag limit is five fish, of which only two may be rainbows or salmon. The minimum size is 13 inches except on the Montreal River, where fish of seven inches or larger may be kept.

Rivers Open

Rivers opening include: Ashland County—Bad upstream to Copper Falls Potato upstream to Guernsey Falls, White upstream to White River dam; Bayfield County—Cranberry upstream to the Lenawee Road; Fish and Fish Creek upstream to Pine Creek. Flag upstream to the Little Flag River, Iron upstream to the Orienta dam, Sioux upstream to "Big Rock Falls"; Siskiwitt upstream to the second bridge; Douglas County—Brule upstream to U.S. Highway 2; Iron County—Graveyard Creek upstream to U.S. Highway 2; Montreal from its mouth upstream to Superior Falls dam, Oronto Creek upstream to its source and Parker Creek upstream to its source.

Also opening Saturday is the season on walleye, sauger and northern pike in all waters of Kenosha, Racine and Waukesha counties. For walleye and sauger, there is no size limit and a bag limit of five in aggregate. For northern pike, the bag limit is two in Kenosha and Racine counties and five in Waukesha County. A 22-inch size limit applies in Kenosha and Racine counties; there is no size limit in Waukesha County.

Fish Off Bridges
Anglers must have a 1969 fishing license in their possession. The 1968 licenses expired Dec. 31. Fishing regulations pamphlets should be consulted for details.

In the Fox Cities area, anglers have been dividing their time between fishing off bridges where there is some open water to traveling to Lake Michigan for a try at trout fishing.

Results have been spotty in both cases with some catches of walleyed pike reported from bridges at Oshkosh, Berlin, Eureka and Winneconne. Action has been slow upriver at Fremont and New London. Most spring anglers are patiently waiting for more ice to go out of the river.

The trout action at Green Bay has ranged from slow to fantastic. Last Sunday, action at Kewaunee was practically at a standstill as even dip-netters were not taking any suckers. However, on Monday, a party of three fishermen took seven rainbows at Door County's Moonlight Bay. The seven fish weighed a total of 55 pounds.

U. S. Hockey Team Has Just 2 Chances Left in Tourney

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Time is running out for the U.S. amateur ice hockey team—and the minor injuries are piling up. The Americans have now played eight of their 10 scheduled matches in the world championships here and have lost all of them.

The United States and Finland are struggling to evade last place in the standings. The bottom team automatically drops into group B in 1970.

Shortstop Unsettled

Champion Tigers Have Spring Woes

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Al Pat Dobson and John Hiller Kaline's hot spring, Mickey Stanley's arm trouble and Tom Smith has been having a Matchick's so-so play at shortstop have left unsolved a few of the Detroit Tigers' problems. Kaline, playing as though determined to escape the role of a relief pitcher, has a $95,000 part time player, has been lacing all pitching in Florida. At the age of 34, Kaline resents any suggestion that he can not be in the lineup every day.

Manager Mayo Smith had expected to see more of Stanley at shortstop during the spring games, but a strained arm has delayed the plan. Stanley has been in center field most of the spring.

Matchick, having trouble at the bat in the exhibitions, has not been impressive at shortstop. He still is in the battle for the job along with Dick Tracewski.

Bill Freeham's broken nose also has provided some problems for the Tigers this spring. The All-Star catcher was put out of action for at least two weeks when his nose was shattered during batting practice. Although Freeham is due to be ready for the opener he will have missed valuable work.

Set Most Positions
Except for shortstop, this is a set ball club. Norm Cash on first, Dick McAuliffe at second, Don Wert at third are fixtures. Willie Horton is in left hit 183 Kim Newlin also had 183 with Stanley in center unless he goes to short. In that case Jim Northrup will move to center. Kaline just has to be the right fielder.

Ron Woods, a rookie from Toledo, may win an extra outfield job although Wayne Redmond, a Montgomery farm grad, has been hitting the ball with power. Dave Campbell, another Toledo product, may fit in as a general handy man in the infield.

The pitching rotation already split, has been established with Den-nis McLain, the 31-game winner, and Mickey Lolich, the World Series hero. Earl Wilson and Joe Sparrma working in order.

Pat Grootmont of the bantam girls had a 164 game and 157 line. Mary D. Schmidt is director of the Hahn's junior program.

YOU CAN'T HELP HIM UNLESS YOU KNOW WHAT IT'S ALL ABOUT!

The menace of drugs and narcotics has become so widespread that no community, no family can say "it doesn't affect us."

Unless you know the facts about marijuana, goof balls, the "hard drugs" and all the rest, you can't even discuss the subject intelligently with those who most need to know.

Many young people are better informed than their elders about all these things. It's part of their scene. They won't even listen if you don't know the facts, man.

The facts appear in the series by AP Science Writer Alton Blakeslee.

In expanded form they are included in the booklet, "What You Should Know About Drugs and Narcotics" that we are offering at $1. It is something you can keep for reference, and is quite suitable also for reading by teenagers. You should order your copy now.

76ers, Lakers Defeated Celts, Warriors Win Playoff Tilts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Boston Celtics are alive and well in the National Basketball Association after all. And, by the way, so are the San Francisco Warriors.
Both teams, bothered by key injuries most of the regular season, looked dead after disappointing finishes in the standings. But nothing revitalizes a team like the playoffs, and the Celtics and Warriors were alive and winging Wednesday night.
Boston surprised Philadelphia 114-100 behind Bill Russell in the opener of their best-of-seven Eastern Division semifinal, while the Warriors stunned Los Angeles 99-94 in their Western semi opener. And both victories came on the road.
The other semis begin tonight when the New York Knicks travel to Baltimore in the East and San Diego plays at Atlanta in the West.

Indiana Wins
In the American Basketball Association, Indiana beat Los Angeles 134-123 and Oakland topped Houston 131-124 Wednesday night in regular season play.
Russell and the rest of Boston's aging stars ran off a 16-5 string for a 60-40 halftime lead and the 76ers never got closer than points again.
Big Bill, looking the way he did when Boston was carrying away NBA titles annually, scored only two points, but blocked 13 shots, grabbed 14 rebounds and assisted on eight baskets.
Offsets Will
John Havlicek led the Celts with 35 points while Billy Cunningham had 27 for the 76ers.
Joe Sanderfoot Tops Senior Loop
KIMBERLY — Joe Sanderfoot blasted a 258 game and 608 series, including handicap to lead the recent action in the Kimberly-Little Chute Senior Citizens League at Jerry's Lanes, Kimberly.
Gino Frassetto was close behind with a 218 game and 605 and 159.

Airlines Meet Opens

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Gene Littler is back on the golf tour today after a month's idleness but it isn't the $40,000 first prize that has lured him from the home comforts of La Jolla, Calif.
"I thought I should get a couple of tournaments under my belt before the Masters," the mild-mannered, 38-year-old stylist explained. "Sure, I like to win money but there are other things more important. I don't let it rule my life."
Littler, who with $52,428 was the year's leading money winner until overtaken by Miller Barber last week, is one of the favorites in the $200,000 National Airlines Open, starting today over the country club of Miami.
The favorites' list was reduced by the withdrawal of Lee Trevino, the U.S. Open champion who accidentally got his left thumb jammed in a door, but the 155-man field still ranks as one of the toughest in years.
Casper, Palmer, Nicklaus includes Bill Casper, the 1968 leading money winner, Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player, Julius Boros, Bob Goalby and Sam Snead.
Of all the affluent pros, who strut around in their expensive slacks and fleecy sweaters, Littler is the most inconspicuous and perhaps the most underrated.

Family First, Golf Second to Littler

Rita Mikkelsen slams 579 Set
Rita Mikkelsen slammed a 229 game and a 579 series to lead the Lucky Bowling League at Sabre Lanes Monday night.
"People say I didn't have the desire," Littler said. "If they meant I wouldn't let golf completely saturate my life, they're correct. I like golf. I like to win as much money as I need, and then I take off to be with my wife and two children."
"I just never needed that much money or that much fame. I think a man owes something to his family. So I try to."

Athletic Group Sets Annual Old-Timer Tilt at Little Chute

LITTLE CHUTE — The St. John Athletic Association will sponsor its annual Old-Timers basketball game Friday night at the St. John High School gym.
In a preliminary game at 6:30 p.m., basketball stars from the St. John classes of 1957-61 will meet stars from the 1962-68 graduates.
In the 7:30 p.m. clash, old timers from the athletic association will tangle with the coaches and teachers from the St. John faculty.

Donna Tischauser Raps 574

Donna Tischauser used games of 200 and 193 to help her to a 574 series and honors in the Women's Classic League at 41 Bowl Wednesday night.
Joan Snyder was close back with 565, including a pair of 201 singletons, and Shirley "Butch" Helser followed with 200-561.
More high counts were rolled by Bea Albrecht, 199-197-555; Marion Lappen, 203-555; Beverly Behrent, 201-195-552; and "Fritzie" Meyers, 208-539.
Joan Jensen socked lines of 207 and 193 on route to 569 for laurels in the Donut League at Sabre Lanes.
The Four For Fun League at Hahn's Lanes saw Carol Rosz set the pace with a 554 threesome.

College Stars On Rosters in Cage Tourney

Class A Meet Set This Weekend by Menasha Group
MENASHA — Collegiate stars of the present and past are included on the rosters of the 11 teams entered in the St. John Athletic Association Class A Basketball Tournament.
The meet will begin with two games Friday night. Five are ticketed for Saturday with the semi-finals Sunday afternoon and the third place and championship games at night.
Wayne Stewart, 6-7 Lakeland College star, and several of his Lakeland teammates, are included on the roster of Andy's Library of Oshkosh, the defending champion. Stewart was chosen the most valuable player in last year's tourney.
From UW Team
John Schell and Chuck Nagel of this year's University of Wisconsin squad are slated to compete for McGovern's of Sun Prairie while Dan and Tom Anderson, both 6-7, from Marquette and De Paul, respectively, are on the Menomonee Falls Badgers roster as is Bruce White, ex-Ripon College performer.
The Tosh's Bar of Oshkosh team includes Ron Hayek, Jim Jaeger, Dale Race, Bill Schwartz and Gary Van Cuyk, all of Oshkosh State University, while Tom Gossens and Ron Brault, formerly of St. Norbert College, and Bud Muntner, Colgate University, play with the Green Bay Reliance Printers team.
The opening game at 6:45 p.m. Friday will match Reliance against Bob Long Pizza Hut of Appleton. Johnnie's Inn, Appleton, will face Tosh's at 8 p.m.
Games Saturday are the Mooners, Milwaukee, vs. Menasha Macs at 1:30, Andy's Library vs. Blue Light, Racine, at 2:45, McGovern's, Sun Prairie, vs. Menomonee Falls Badgers at 4 p.m., Trader's, Menasha, vs. The John's Tosh's winner at 6:45 and the Andy's Blue Light winner vs. Mooners-Macs winner at 8 p.m.

Your Money's Worth Many Inequities in Social Security Law

BY SYLVIA PORTER

"My wife is almost 20 years younger than I, so I am allowed to receive only the Social Security retirement benefit payable to myself at age 65. Since it is impossible for a family to live on a little more than $100 a month, I am condemned to go on working until I am 85, paying Social Security taxes, and foregoing any Social Security benefits until I am well past the end of my life expectancy."

Porter

This is just one of my private collection of letters pinpointing inequities in our Social Security System. Many of them beg for action by the new congress in the months ahead; some, I am sure, you will recognize at once as hitting you or a relative. To help prepare the way for corrective action, I'll share with you in today's and tomorrow's column my list of top Social Security injustices, real and apparent.

Inequity: A very wealthy woman who has worked under Social Security (many do) can have a retirement income of $200,000-plus a year in dividends and still not lose a cent in Social Security benefits. But the chambermaid in this woman's posh hotel continuing to scrub floors after she reaches retirement age, starts losing $1 in benefits for every $2 she earns over $1,680 in a year, and $1 for $1 in earnings over the $2,880 level.

Incentive Involved

Official Explanation: The aim of Social Security benefits always has been to make up for lost earnings due to retirement, not to make up for a low income level. Income of any amount apart from earnings always has been encouraged. To limit incentives to save would be to discourage the building of vitally needed supplementary retirement income.

Inequity: A $100,000-a-year business executive can retire early with a fat company pension, go into business as a part-time consultant, earn $50,000 or more a year by working only in some months and still collect substantial Social Security benefits. But a taxi driver on the executive's corner who continues working past age 65 on a part-time basis, starts losing Social Security benefits when his yearly income passes the $1,680 level.

Official Explanation: This inequity arises from the fact that, by law, a retiree with earnings of over $1,680 per year forfeits benefits only in the months in which he earns more than $140. Thus, a part-time consultant may do a single project during the year, charge a big sum for it — and lose Social Security benefits only in the month in which he happens to be paid. This seems to me a grossly unbalanced situation.

Inequity: The older worker retiring today may receive monthly benefits totaling many times the amount of taxes he has paid into the system. His benefits will be comparatively much "richer" than those which today's young workers can expect to collect on retirement.

Low Wage Levels

Official Explanation: For some, even today's minimum $55 a month retirement benefit adds up to more than their total tax contributions — some because they are in job categories covered only recently, some because their benefits are based on the low wage levels of the past. But if the older people were paid benefits related to their contributions, their benefits would amount to only $10 or $15 a month. The principle of paying full rate benefits to those already on in years is the same as that in private pension plans.

Inequity: The child of a worker who has died, become disabled or retired may receive Social Security children's benefits until the age of 22 if he is a full-time student in an accredited school. But the unemployed youngster who does not go to college or vocational school may receive benefits only to age 18.

Official Explanation: If the benefits were stopped at age 18, many youngsters could not remain in school. The 1965 amendment continuing benefits to age 22 was passed to provide a continuing income for youngsters who want to complete their education before going to work full time. But there would be no point to paying benefits to a kid hanging around a street corner.

Inequity: The $4,000 a year worker pays 4.8 per cent of his pay in Social Security taxes; the $40,000 a year man pays .9 per cent.

Official explanation: This is an unconscionable burden on lowest-income workers. A form of income tax credit would correct it.

Tomorrow: More inequities in Social Security.

Another Gaudy Hotel for 'Strip'

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A new casino-hotel planned for the gaudy Las Vegas Strip will be shaped like a riverboat, with a wedding chapel in the pilot house.

The 800-room Holiday Queen Hotel will be built by Holiday Inn of America Inc. on the last major parcel of land in this gambling oasis not owned by industrialist Howard Hughes, the firm said recently.

The riverboat shaped structure, surrounded by a moat, will have 300 slot machines and 14 game tables in its casino. The pilot house wedding chapel will be high on the third deck. Construction starts July 1.

Agnew's Son Enters 'Ugliest Man' Contest

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew began his political career as president of his PTA.

His son, Randy, may some day say he began his by being elected the ugliest man at the University of Maryland.

Randy Agnew, 22, is one of 36 men entered in the annual ugly man on campus contest, operated as a charity fund raiser by the Maryland Chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, a national service fraternity.

Navy Criticized For Rush Order At Higher Costs

Airplane Parts Are Still Delivered Late, Congressman Claims

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy paid three times more to get cannon parts on a rush basis than it already was paying another supplier and—a congressman says—still got them late.

Rep. Fred Rooney, D-Pa., said an investigator for the Government Accounting Office called the rush contract "a classical case of procurement bungling," although a GAO report did not find the award illegal or made in bad faith.

The GAO, in a report demanded by Rooney, said the cost to taxpayers for the rush job was $194,260, of which $120,000 went for speed alone.

The GAO said it could find no evidence that the Navy contacted the lower-cost supplier to see if the airplane parts could be obtained quickly at the lesser price.

One-Third the Price

The ultimate delivery schedule for the emergency contract proved to be later than that of the routine contract at one-third the price, Rooney said.

As a result of findings, Rooney said, the GAO has begun an investigation of $5-billion worth of annual emergency procurements by the Defense Department.

GAO's investigation will focus particular attention on those rush orders which involve non-competitive negotiated contracts with so-called sole-source producers, the congressman said.

Noting that GAO did not find the contract illegal, Rooney said to have done so "would have been a paper victory at best and would have served no useful purpose for the public good nor the national interest."

Breachblock Locks

Rooney said that by the time GAO had concluded its probe of the emergency contract to York, Pa., Division of American Machine & Foundry Co., for 2,000 breachblock locks, the Navy had accepted delivery and already subjected many of them to combat service in Southeast Asia.

"It is enough to say the Navy needlessly wasted about $120,000 when it awarded the emergency procurement contract to York AMF last May," Rooney said.

"This incredible information places this Navy Department procurement on a par with a Keystone Cops comedy."

The target of Rooney's criticism was an award to York AMF for the 2,000 parts to 20-

'Both Sirhans' Sick, Psychiatrist Says

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A psychiatrist says there is a usual Sirhan Bishara Sirhan and a dissociated Sirhan. They are both sick.

The usual Sirhan, he said, was quite harmless—one of hundreds of thousands of paranoid schizophrenics in the United States. The dissociated one killed Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

The distinction was drawn at Sirhan's murder trial Wednesday by Dr. Bernard L. Diamond, a University of California psychiatrist who has been instrumental in developing the defense of diminished responsibility. That concept, Sirhan's lawyers hope, will persuade the jury to return a lesser verdict than first-degree murder and thus spare Sirhan from the gas chamber.

Paranoid schizophrenics are no danger to anyone but themselves, Diamond said. In Sirhan's case, Diamond maintained under stiff and sometimes acrimonious cross-examination, "it was a combination of dissociative state superimposed over the paranoid schizophrenic state that caused him to kill Sen. Kennedy."

A dissociative state as defined by the psychiatrist is a trance. Sirhan, sitting tielless and coatless at the defense table—perhaps the only man comfortable in the small, hot courtroom—appeared unconcerned while Diamond said in a dozen different ways that he is nearly mad. But Sirhan reacted sharply when co-prosecutor David N. Fitts suggested he is a liar.

At one point Sirhan slapped his hand down on the table and cursed. Another time court officials moved to his side and quietly told him to simmer down.

"Don't Quibble"

But it was the sparring match between Fitts and Diamond—occasionally with defense attorneys and even Judge Herbert V. Walker joining in—that characterized the cross-examination of the defense's star psychiatric witness.

"You know what I'm talking about, don't quibble with me!" Fitts exploded once. Another time, he said, "Doctor, you're dodging me."

Diamond, who rarely faced Fitts while answering but looked at the jury with a confident smile, told the co-prosecutor variously: "Don't put words in my mouth . . . I don't answer that, it's irrelevant . . . I cannot allow you to distort what I say . . . I disapprove of hypothetical questions and I refuse to answer any."

A number of times Judge Walker directed him to answer; at other times the judge told him to confine the answer to the question.

Diamond had called Sirhan an unknown assassin, programmed like a computer through self-hypnosis to kill Kennedy. He said Sirhan was in a dissociative state—in a trance and in the grips of amnesia—when he wrote death threats against the senator in his diary and when he killed him.

'Mother Berry' Is Dead at Age 114

HELENA, Mont. (AP) — Elizabeth Williams Berry of Helena, known as Mother Berry, was found dead Wednesday at her home. She was 114.

She was born in Melbourne, Australia, June 21, 1854. She was the widow of James D. Berry, a veterinarian whom she married Dec. 12, 1903, in Washington.

Child Actor Escapes Injury in Home Fire

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Child actor Darby Hinton, 11, who appears in the "Daniel Boone" television series, fled from his Bel-Air home Wednesday night as flames roared through the rambling one-story house.

Darby, his brother Warren, 14, and a neighborhood girl escaped injury but firemen estimated damage at $100,000. The interior was heavily charred.

Firemen say the blaze may have been started by an electrical short.

Tennessee Court Ruling Could Hurt Ray's Case

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — in his bid to gain a new trial and James Earl Ray, who wants to overturn his 99-year sentence. The court, in an opinion by Justice Allison B. Humphreys dealing with a burglary conviction, ruled that a convicted criminal cannot seek to invalidate a prison sentence on grounds he was misadvised by his attorney to plead guilty.

Jerry Ray, James' brother, said last week Ray would ask for a new trial on grounds he was "pressured" by his former attorney, Percy Foreman, into entering a guilty plea. Foreman has denied he put pressure on Ray.

In another development, the Tennessee Supreme Court handed down a decision which could become a major hurdle for Ray.

Wilson Heads for Nigeria in Attempt to Get Bombing Halt

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson flew to Lagos today to seek a bombing halt as a step toward ending the civil war between Nigeria and secessionist Biafra.

The British leader also planned to present proposals for extending mercy facilities to alleviate civilian starvation and suffering on both sides of the firing line.

Sources close to the government said Wilson was prepared to agree to one exception—bombing of Biafra's lone airstrip near the village of Uli. Although the landing strip is used by planes bringing relief supplies, it also receives planes bringing arms by night, and Wilson therefore would find it hard to object to continued bombing there.

Mediation Impossible

Wilson said in a radio interview before his departure that he did not think mediation was possible at present. If it were, he added, it would have to be carried out by Africans through the Organization for African Unity.

Wilson said his principal objective is to gather information and to express British anxieties about conditions in besieged Biafra.

The prime minister's schedule has not been announced, but he is expected to meet the Nigerian chief of state, Maj. Gen. Yakubu Gowon, for three hours Friday and to visit Port Harcourt and Calabar on Saturday. Both were recaptured from the Biafrans some time ago.

A meeting with Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, head of the Organization for African Unity, has been set for Monday in Addis Ababa.

Although Britain is the chief arms supplier for the Nigerian army, Wilson has left the door open for a visit to Biafra. Biafran spokesmen at first rejected the idea, saying it would be like permitting an enemy to act as a mediator. But a senior Biafran official said Tuesday: "If it is confirmed that British Prime Minister Harold Wilson wants to visit Biafra, he will be received." The statement followed a day-long Cabinet meeting discussing Wilson's trip to Lagos.

Controversy at Home

The prime minister's trip comes amid intensifying clamor for his Labor government to cut off arms sales to the young African partner in the Commonwealth.

Despite frequent policy reappraisals, the government so far has refused to stop the arms flow because it would leave the field open to Moscow, a willing supplier. It also would jeopardize the $4 billion worth of British investments in Nigeria.

The Gowon government already leans heavily on Soviet ready hands and, and Wilson is convinced that if Moscow gets credit for a Nigerian victory, the Soviet navy could be rewarded with a report on Nigeria's Atlantic coast.

After hitting a 1968 high of 985.21 on Dec. 3, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials fell to a low of 899.80 on Feb. 25. Since then, the average has climbed, but it remains far from the 1968 high. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

Inflation Main Cause of Feeble Market

NEW YORK (AP) — A world for the brokerage firm of uncertainty—about inflation, Paine, Webber, Jackson & Co.—business growth, Vietnam and the Middle East—has weighed heavily on the stock market in recent months.

Since early December the market has been going down with only brief interruptions for feeble rallies.

After hitting its 1968 high of 985.21 on Dec. 3 the widely watched Dow Jones average of 30 industrials fell to a low of 899.80 on Feb. 25—a loss of about 8.6 per cent. Since then in banks' prime lending rate this barometer has moved up, which have brought it to a closing at 923.30 Wednesday, record 7½ per cent.

With economic and political problems all around them, many investors have retired temporarily to the sidelines or have sought other types of investment such as real estate.

"The principal reason for the stock market decline is because of President Nixon's proposal we have been unable to curtail our galloping inflation," says charge for another year. His ac-kers said its effect had been counted.

The Dow Jones industrial average's gain of 6.22 points Wednesday was attributed mainly to rising hopes of progress in Vietnam peace talks. In mid-February, when government fiscal officials expressed the opinion that the surcharge would have to be extended, the market fell sharply due to this and other factors. The industrial average's loss in the week beginning Feb. 17 was 35.30 points.

"The main underlying factor in depressing the market and one which still very much persists is the concern as to when brakes in the economic system will take hold," says Richard

At the same time, however, the restraints on money have made investors less optimistic about the outlook for corporate profits and thereby lessened their appetite for stocks.

The market has failed in most recent instances to advance in reaction to what usually would be considered good business developments. This, according to economists, is because of apprehension that continued business growth at the recent rate might bring on government controls of prices and wages.

So good business news has become, in a sense, bad news for the market.

Craft Heads for Mars In Photography Mission

CAPE KENNEDY Fla. (AP) Similar pictures of Earth would — Mariner 7 was poised for pick out many dams and launching toward Mars today to photograph the mysterious red planet's south polar regions. It is the second part of a two-spacecraft study which could tell whether Mars may support life.

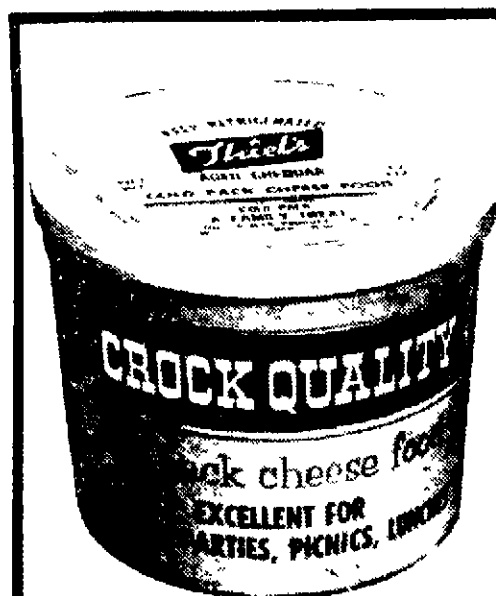

Perched atop a powerful Atlas-Centaur rocket, the 901-pound craft was due for blast-off at 4:35 p.m. EST.

After a 193-million-mile voyage, Mariner 7 is expected to pass 2,000 miles above the Martian south pole Aug. 5.

It will follow a twin craft, Mariner 6, launched Feb. 24 and now on course for a July 31 fly-by at the same altitude over the equatorial regions of Mars.

Officials said photos from both Mariners may show objects as small as 900 feet across.
